

BURGLARS CAUGHT WORKING ON SAFE

Engaged in Running Fight With Deputy Sheriff and Employe of Store.

TAKEN IN BOARDING HOUSE.

When Called on to Surrender They Began Firing Their Revolvers.

Searchlight, Nev., Jan. 8.— Caught in the act of blowing open the safe of the Brown, Geaney company's store at 2:30 yesterday morning, William Mc-Vey, Thomas Nolan and William Kellogg, the latter two miners from Goldfield, engaged in a running pistol fight with Deputy Otto Bodie and John Casault, employe of the store.

Bodie noticed that the light was not burning as usual over the safe, and went to Conant's house, informing him of the discovery. Bodie repaired to the store, and from a side window discovered burglars working on the safe. They called the men to surrender, but answer they began firing their revolvers, and many shots were exchanged in a running fight. Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Howe and Deputy William Howell, the men were traced to a room in the Star lodging-house. The others forced open the door of the room and found all three prisoners, fully dressed, pretending drunkenness. A search of the room revealed a complete outfit of burglars pistol, cold chisels and a bottle of nitro glycerine.

When caught the robbers had already blown open the outer door of the safe and secured $500, and were preparing to blow open the door of the strong box, which contained over $5,000. At daylight Mrs. C. Crowley noticed many men searching for money, supposed to have been thrown away. She looked back of her wood pile and found $445 in bills and a Colt's revolver, which she immediately turned over to the officers. The owners are afraid to open the strong box, as a charge of nitro glycerine has been placed inside of the broken dial, and until this has been removed no attempt will be made to open the doors. The prisoners were arranged before Justice Vogel, and will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

CHAIRMAN FOWLER'S CURRENCY REFORM BILL

Washington, Jan. 8.—The sub-committee of the house committee on banking and currency, to which was intrusted the framing of a bill to increase the elasticity of the currency, reached a conclusion today and will report favorably to the full committee a bill drawn in the main by Chairman Fowler of the committee.

The bill will be introduced by Mr.
Fowler and referred to his committee, where it will form the working basis for the framing of a bill of possibly the same scope and tenor.

The bill provides for the complete retirement of all present outstanding national bank bond-secured currency, and authorizes in lieu thereof a currency based upon general assets of the banks, to be worked out in this way:

The comptroller of the currency will designate throughout the country certain redemption cities, so that there shall be a redemption city within at least 24 hours' reach of each national bank. The national banks will indicate to the comptroller of the currency to what redemption city they wish to be joined. The comptroller will then select a time and place within each redemption district for the organizing of that district in the following manner:

Each national bank in that district, regardless of its capital stock will meet at a time and place designated and elect a board of managers to consist of seven members. The seven will elect a chairman who will become a deputy comptroller of the currency and assume control of his redemption district, except that he shall not have charge of the enforcement of the criminal statutes.

Each national bank is authorized to present to the secretary of the treasury national bank notes and lawful money in lieu of other national bank bond-secured outstanding notes. Then if the bank's application therefor is indorsed by the board of managers of the redemption district to which it belongs, the bank will receive guaranteed credit notes to the amount of its capital stock. These notes will be subject to a tax of 2 per cent per annum. Each bank will be required to deposit as a guaranty with the treasurer of the United States 5 per cent of its average deposits for the preceding 12 months, and 5 per cent of the credit notes which it takes out. The revenue thus obtained is to create and support a national guaranty fund of $500,000,000 for the guaranty of both the deposits and the outstanding bank notes of every national bank. Eighty per cent of this fund is to be invested in United States bonds drawing 2 per cent interest, while the remaining 20 per cent is to be deposited in banks of the various redemption cities for the purpose of redeeming the guaranteed credit notes of the banks of the various redemption districts.

When the national guaranty fund reaches $25,000,000, which would be almost simultaneous with the birth of the new law, the government is required to return to the banks the United States bonds which the government now holds security for federal deposits, the object being to enable the banks to get control of the bonds so that the government can invest the 80 per cent of the guaranty fund in 2 per cent bonds and regain control.

DERR BROTHERS RECEIVER.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—A dispatch to the Inter-Ocean from St. Louis, Mo., says: Celsus Oren of this city, was yesterday appointed receiver by federal Judge Dyer in the matter of the involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against Derr Brothers, who have two five and ten cent stores here, and one in Louisville. A second involuntary petition was filed to cover a five and ten cent store in Cincinnati, which is operated by Derr Brothers in conjunction with J. F. Eichler. The petition was signed by George Borgfield & company, L. Schlesinger & company and Selchow & Tighe, all of New York, who say they have claims aggregating $5,500.

THOUSAND WORDS A MINUTE.

Electricians at Last Have Overcome "Static" Force, and Invention Is Said to be a Success.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—When Admiral Evans signalled to the captains of the battleships of his fleet to shape their course southward, he spoke to them with his own voice, or rather with the voice of his immediate subordinate. The "signal code," that locker full of flags of various designs, was used only to give visual emphasis to the oral orders of the commander of America's greatest fleet. Every vessel is equipped with an aerial telephone outfit, that newest wonder in the development of electrical science. It is probable that during the entire journey of the fleet in its course from Hampton Roads to the Golden Gate there will be no period when the great vessels will be more than 20 miles away from the flagship of "Fighting Bob." That means that he will be at all times in telephonic communication with each and every commanding officer--unless the new wireless telephony is as yet practically untried, wireless telephony is in constant use and has passed far beyond the experimental stage. It is the common belief that Marconi, the Italo-Briton, was the first to demonstrate that messages may be flashed through the air without the use of wires and that the first experiments in this direction were made less than ten years ago. But old-time telegraphers recall the fact that 40 years ago a dentist of the city of Washington succeeded in doing the very thing for which Marconi has received all the credit. This dentist was Dr.
Loomis, and the Congressional Globe for the Forty-third Congress contains the record of a discussion of an act to incorporate the Loomis Aerial Telegraph company which authorized the corporation to produce electricity from the air for telegraphic light, heat and power purposes. The company was duly incorporated, but it appears that the money received from the sale of its shares was used for other purposes and the development of the Loomis invention.

Yet while the trend of electrical development seems to be in the direction of wireless transmission, there are at the same time electricians of note who are aiming at the improvements in wire service, one of the principal reasons being the inability to send "wireless" messages of a confidential character without the use of a code.

1,000 WORDS A MINUTE.

There is now on exhibition in this city a novel device for rapid automatic telegraphy that is attracting wide attention among scientists, public men and others, who have witnessed its operation. It is called the Tele-post, and by its use 1,000 words a minute can be sent a distance of 500 miles. There have been several devices for sending messages automatically, but there was one defeating agency with which the electricians could not cope; they could not control the "static" charge of a telegraph wire. This force continually baffled inventors and in spite of occasional brilliant performances their general average was not above that of the old hand-sending method.

"STATIC" FORCE OVERCOME.

Mr. Patrick Delany, an electrical engineer of distinction and former telegraph operator, had watched with interest the experiments along these lines and finally, as a result of his investigation, he discovered that the heretofore hostile "static" force could not only be overcome but that it could be utilized. His discovery solved the problem of rapid telegraphy by mak-

WILL REDUCE COST.

Popular interest in the telepost is not so likely to center about its technical side as it will in the reduced cost of telegraphy it will effect. With the system in successful operation--the initial service between New York and Buffalo may begin within a few months--one can send a letter of 50 words to any point for 25 cents. Such telegrams will be known as "teleposts" and they will differ from a "telegram," sent by the same system, in that the "telepost" will be delivered at the city postoffice, whereas the "telegram," containing 25 words and sent, also, for 25 cents, will be delivered by messenger.

Aside from the low cost of the service the circumstance that the rate will be the same between all points, without regard to distance, gives it an added value of importance. In other words, for 25 cents a 50-word letter can be sent from New York to Buffalo and the cost would be the same as between Buffalo and Troy, or between Troy and Albany. If it be desired to send a letter of 100 words the cost would be 5 cents for each additional 10 words or 50 cents for the entire letter.

NEW YORK TO SALT LAKE.

It is claimed for the telepost that with the system in active operation it's low tariff will bring it in sharp competition with the mails. An ordinary business letter can be compressed within the limits of 50 words and when it can be telegraphed, say from New York to Salt Lake City, or to Spokane, for 25 cents, there will be little profit in using the mails where a saving of only 23 cents in price would be effected as against a saving of three days in transit.

FOR NEWSPAPERS.

Outside of the large business houses the next greatest user of the telepost will be the newspapers, to whom a service would be furnished at so low a price as a tenth of a cent a word and this would apply to day dispatches as well as to night. Doubtless, a lower rate will be given where the same dispatch was duplicated to several cities on the same circuit.

When one remembers that, during the early days of the electric telegraph, newspaper publishers paid 10 cents a word on dispatches between Washington and New York, it will be seen that a reduction to one-tenth of a cent a word between all points is greater than among the many now engaged in interstate commerce.

SOCIETY VIEWED FROM TWO POINTS

Bryan Contrasts Society and Its Activity as Seen by the Aristocrat and the Democrat.

FUNDAMENTALLY DIFFERENT.

They Involve the Relative Spheres of State and Nation in Matters Of Government.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The standpoints from which the aristocrat and the Democrat view society and its activities formed the theme of a speech delivered here tonight by William J. Bryan. Mr. Bryan was the chief guest at the Jackson day banquet of the Jefferson club, a Democratic organization. Prominent party men from several western states were present, the occasion being generally regarded as the formal opening of Mr.
Bryan's campaign for the Democratic nomination for the presidency at the Denver convention next July. Among the other speakers were Adlai E. Stevenson, former vice president of Bloomington, Ill.; United States Senator William J. Stone of Missouri.

The speakers generally confined themselves to issues of the day. Pleas for party harmony were frequent. Previous to the banquet most of the leaders present conferred with Mr.
Bryan, who arrived early in the morning, and spent the day with members of the club.

United States Senator Jefferson Davis of Arkansas was scheduled for a speech, but was not present. Despite this hiatus in the program, the proceedings were so lengthy that it was past midnight before Mr. Bryan was called upon. He said, in part:

BRYAN'S SPEECH.

"The questions which involve a discussion of the relative sphere of the nation and the state bring out the difference in the point of view of the aristocrat and the Democrat. The aristocrat wants to get the government as far away from the people as possible; the Democrat desires to bring the government as near the people as possible.
The aristocrat would substitute national remedies for state ones, because predatory wealth can protect itself from national legislation more easily than from state legislation; the Democrat would add the national remedy to the state remedy, and thus give the people the protection of both the state and federal governments.

"The labor question is considered from both standpoints. The aristocrat thinks only of the large employers; the Democrat of the army of employees and of the general public, which is inconvenienced by any disruption of friendly relations between employer and employee.

"The question of imperialism, in like manner, presents the difference in viewpoint. The imperialist thinks more of the extension of commerce than of the preservation of the ideas of self-government, and he thinks only of the benefits that might come to the comparative few; the Democrat knows that trade purchased at the cannon's mouth costs more than it is worth, and that the cost falls upon all the people, while the profits accrue to a few.

"And so whatever question we take up, we find that everything depends upon the point of view from which we examine the question, and there is no better illustration of this than can be found in the financial stringency through which we are passing. The Republican leaders at once rush to the rescue of the banks after those banks had brought the stringency upon the country by their unbusinesslike methods. The banks of the rest of the country were discriminated against in favor of the banks of New York city, and after the government had exhausted the loanable surplus in the treasury, it borrowed money at 3 per cent in order that it might have money to loan to the banks for nothing; and the high financiers count it patriotism to loan out at emergency rates the treasury money furnished them without interest.

"If the Republican leaders had spent half as much time in trying to make depositors secure as they have spent in trying to increase the profits of the banks, we would not have had any panic at all.

"The country is ripe for the application of Democratic principles to government, and all that is necessary is for the Democratic party to convince the people that it will be truly Democratic if entrusted with power.

"Will the Democratic party be Democratic? Let it convince the public that it will be and we shall have a victory which will be fruitful in blessings to every part of the country and to every element of our population."

STEVENSON TALKS.

Mr. Stevenson spoke earlier in the evening. He said in part:

"We enter upon the presidential contest of 1908 with splendid prospects for success. The skies are bright, the onions are auspicious. With the living recognition of the true functions of the separate departments of the government, a return from hazardous experiment in administration to the safe pathway of the fathers--with these well to the forefront the hour of Democratic opportunity has come. To the end that it might prove likewise the hour of Democratic triumph, let the spirit of conciliation, of unity, of harmony, be invoked upon all our counsels."

New Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance. Always a Perfect Fit--Adjustable to Any Sided Person--Easy, Comfortable, Never Slips--No Obnoxious Springs or Pads--Costs Less Than Many Common Treatments--Made For Men, Women or Children.

I Send It On Approval--You Wear It
--If You Are Not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

Jas. Britton, Cured of Rupture by C. E. Brooks.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trus-es. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order--send it to you--you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money.
That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business-- always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethlehem, Pa., writes:

"C. E. Brooks, Esq., Dear Sir--I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at times day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clinging to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from ruptures, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it.
They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance, Jas. Britton." If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me today and I will send you my book on Rupture and its Cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when all other remedies have failed. I use no salves, no harness, no lies. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price.
