

WRIGHT AT WORLD'S FAIR CITY.

What the Notorious Pelican Point Murderer Did While There—A Lawyer Who is Said to Know Where He Is Located.

Police authorities of Chicago, says the Record of that city, have received letters asking for the capture of George H. Wright, a Michigan law graduate who is charged with the murder of four men in Utah and Colorado. Attorney William J. Candlish, also an Ann Arbor man and now a resident of Chicago, has been received one of the letters from Sheriff George A. Starnes of Provo City, Utah, and he is sure for a view of Wright.

Wright's interest in Wright is of a strange origin, involving a strange disappearance, a stranger disappearance, an unusual transfer of valuable property. It was because the little Candlish is now the possessor of a small estate in Utah, and Candlish is now the possessor of a small estate in Utah, and Candlish is now the possessor of a small estate in Utah.

Can I now the story has never come to the knowledge of the public, and there are about it some features that remain a mystery to all who know Mr. Candlish.

The catalogue of crimes with which Wright is charged is sufficient, rightly or wrongly, to cause the hanging of his person on the gallows and to warrant in addition several of the most long enough in the aggregate to require two or three more men to spend the remainder of their natural lives in prison. The list includes such crimes as horse-stealing, embezzlement, forgery, and other crimes, besides the four murders. But all these charges center against Wright himself.

In the circular issued by Sheriff Starnes the principal one of Wright's crimes is described as follows: "George H. Wright, alias James G. Weeks, alias C. T. Case, alias Mr. Starnes, was charged with the murder of four men on the west shore of Utah, near Pelican Point, on or about Feb. 16, 1895. The said Wright, alias Weeks, etc., it is supposed, after the murder was committed on or about Feb. 16, 1895. Wright, then known as Charles T. Case, killed a man named Crumpton near Pelican Point, in January, 1897, and that he had been in the company of a man named Crumpton, who was killed near Pelican Point, in January, 1897, and that he had been in the company of a man named Crumpton, who was killed near Pelican Point, in January, 1897.

Wright had been at the North Shore hotel only a few days before he became the favorite companion of a little girl, the daughter of Mr. Candlish, who was the daughter of Mr. Candlish, who was the daughter of Mr. Candlish, who was the daughter of Mr. Candlish.

Viewed in relation to facts that since Candlish's death, there is something strange about the man whose wife had divorced him on the ground of cruelty and who was later found to have been the board of a man of Utah and the innocent 4-year-old.

CHOLERA IS VERY SEVERE.

So Many Deaths that Bodies Cannot be Buried.

400 DEATHS IN THREE DAYS

That is the Report from Mandive-Frightful State of Affairs in Famine-Stricken India.

[Early Dispatches] London, May 14.—The Bombay correspondence of the Times says. The cholera continues to rage in the famine camps. There have been 400 deaths in three days at Mandive. So numerous are the cases at Gouda that it is impossible to collect the bodies which lie for days in the sun. The people have fled and cannot be induced to return. A similar state of things prevails at Broach.

PROGRESS OF COLORED RACE It Has Been Very Marked Since the Negro Was Made Free.

Chicago, May 14.—Charles G. Dawes, comptroller of the currency, addressed the Men's Sunday club at Quinn chapel last evening, and received an enthusiastic reception. He told his auditors of the wonderful progress made by the people of the colored race since freedom and equality of rights had been given them, and pointed out some of the ways in which the colored race had been accomplishing much in the last thirty-five years. Other speakers were: W. P. Thirkield, Dr. J. W. E. Brown, and Dr. M. C. Mason. Mr. Dawes said:

"During the brief period which has intervened since the close of the civil war in the United States, the colored and industrial progress of the colored people has been marvelous. At the close of the war the free colored population of the United States was about 10 per cent of the total, and very small proportion of this number could read or write."

Mr. Dawes then gave statistics of the advancement of the colored race, and in concluding, said: "In agriculture, commerce, manufacturing, literature and art, and in every line of business enterprise, the colored race has made a great advance."

"In every way in which the United States has been engaged from the Revolution to the present, the colored man has distinguished himself on the field of battle. There are now in the United States army and navy, four regiments of infantry, and a large number of colored men are enlisted in the navy."

SENDS HIM 26,000 KISSES

Man in Ohio Supposed to be Pelican Point Murderer.

Also Had Intimacies With Women—Guilty of Several Offenses—Probably Not Wanted in Utah.

Chillicothe, O., May 12.—The Rev. Charles O'Shea, alias Rev. William T. Ryan, and half a dozen other names, who is under arrest here, suspected of the murders at Pelican Point, Utah. One of the most picturesque criminals who has been run to earth in Ohio for many years. He has been touring this and adjoining States as an evangelist, and started many revival meetings, most of which were well attended and some of which are going on yet. He was especially successful with the women, and since his arrest it has been discovered that he has one wife living in Circleville, O., and another at Ashton, W. Va., the latter being a charming daughter of a wealthy farmer. He also seems to have started a love affair wherever he started a revival, for the letters from women have been coming in from various points throughout the State. One of these women sends him a consignment of 26,000 kisses, and until they meet again, and very thoughtfully encloses a stamped envelope for reply. Another addresses him as "My Own Darling Baby Boy," and tells him that there is a card of kisses waiting him at her house whenever he chooses to call for them.

O'Shea has confessed that he has already served a term for horse stealing, but denies that he was ever in Utah. He forged a number of notes for small amounts while in this vicinity, but no action will be taken against him for either forgery or larceny until the Utah authorities are heard from.

Subsequently the stepfather of the boy was tried for the murder, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. A short time before the sentence was to be executed knowledge came to his attorney that the evidence implicating Wright had been found. This suggestion of Wright's guilt soon grew into belief from the fact that the young men were shot by some one who was expert in handling a rifle, for Wright had been known as a crack shot.

Prior to the discovery of this evidence against Wright, Mrs. Wright had secured a divorce. Under promise of immunity for herself she was induced to return to Utah and she told the State board of pardons the story of the shooting of the three young men. It was to the effect that the three had been killed by Wright's stepfather, a cattle thief, and had threatened to make charges against him, that Wright, who was a man of violence, had carried out his threat, went to their cabin one evening when their mother and stepfather were away, shot them, carried their bodies to a lake nearby, cut holes in the ice and placed the bodies in the lake.

This hearing before the State board of pardons was held last April. On the strength of the statement made by Mrs. Wright, the board recommended that the prisoner be given his liberty and later the Governor endorsed the recommendation and granted a pardon. One of the mines Wright owned in Colorado was called the "Finn's." It was the last of the properties to be secured and incorporated by him, and some who knew the man at Pelican Point believed that in naming it "Finn's" he had a premonition that for his career it was the end—the last stand. But whatever may be the value of the properties to Mr. Candlish, he will owe them all to a comradeship that sprang up between him and a man who was charged with the murder of four of his fellow men.

ABOUT WAR DEPARTMENT.

Congress Thinks it is Not Fairly Treated by that Division.

Cites the Cuban Postoffice Scandal as Giving Evidence of Lack of Frankness.

New York, May 14.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: The later developments in the Cuban postal scandal have produced a feeling among a number of senators and representatives that Congress has not been treated in all respects with entire frankness by some of the officials of the war department, which is especially charged with the administration of civil affairs in Cuba as well as in the Philippine archipelago, and until recently, in Porto Rico. So long ago as January 17, the Senate adopted the following resolution:

"That the secretary of war be and is hereby directed to send to the Senate an itemized statement of public receipts from taxation, customs and other sources, collected in Cuba, and also of public expenditure, including salaries paid to all officers and incidental expenses in Cuba out of revenues so collected since the United States government assumed control of that island. The reply of the secretary of war was dated February 15. It was prepared under the supervision of Assistant Secretary Nicholson, who had and entire charge of the report. Secretary Root explained that 'if an itemized statement in greater detail than is shown in the enclosed copies of reports and certificates is desired, revenue must be had to the accounts kept in Cuba,' and he added:

"A copy of the resolution of the Senate of Jan. 15 has been forwarded to the military governor of Cuba with a direction that such a detailed statement be prepared, and that without awaiting the completion of such detailed statement, a statement showing the salaries paid to all officers and incidental expenses be prepared and transmitted to this department, when it will be forwarded to the Senate."

That was three months ago, and so far as could be, detailed statement of salaries, etc., has not yet been received and sent to the Senate.

On Jan. 25, the Senate passed a resolution directing the secretary of war to send to the Senate "full and exact copies of all proceeds of revenue, including the collection of customs, internal and other revenues in the islands of Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippine since the Revolution, and the Spanish-American war, the colored man has distinguished himself on the field of battle. There are now in the United States army and navy, four regiments of infantry, and a large number of colored men are enlisted in the navy."

The Senate has not received any response to this resolution, which it adopted about four months ago. The monthly "combined statement" of receipts and disbursements sent by the auditor and the treasurer of the respective islands to the secretary of war, a copy of which was also sent to the military governor, was of no value whatever, for any other purpose than to show how much money had been received by each collector of revenue, including the collector of postal revenue, and how much had been expended by each disbursing officer, under the general heads of account. There is nothing to show, for example, how many persons are required to compose the official and clerical staff of the director-general of posts, or the amount of compensation of such establishment. According to the official report from the military governor, the total number of persons engaged in postal service was "396,831 paid on that account for the six months ended June 30, 1899."

The department is organized and officered on a generous scale, and may fairly judge by the total disbursement for salaries and the number of separate bureaus. There is a bureau of finance, a bureau of postal accounts, a bureau of postal revenue, a bureau of postal transportation, a bureau of postal money orders, a bureau of special agents, a bureau of registration, a bureau of postal inspection, besides a chief clerk and a superintendent and disbursing officers—both evidently necessary and useful adjuncts of such an establishment. According to the official report from the military governor, the total number of persons engaged in postal service was "396,831 paid on that account for the six months ended June 30, 1899."

Fifty Dwellings Burned.

Camden, N. J., May 12.—Fire today, which broke out in the Farmers' market at Fifth and Federal streets, completely destroyed that building, ten stores and about fifty small dwellings, causing a loss estimated at $200,000, and rendering homeless about 250 persons. These people are tonight quartered in the army building and are being fed at the expense of the city. Boys, playing in the market-house, had set fire to a large pile of tarred lumber stored there. The flames spread rapidly and were soon beyond control, making it necessary to call on Philadelphia for aid. Among the structures damaged was the old postoffice building, which was partly destroyed. This building had been abandoned by the government on one of the previous years. When the chemical laboratory of William Cogswill, in Federal street, caught fire, there was a series of explosions. The Cogswill establishment was gutted. The principal losses were the Farmers' market, $15,000; Cogswill laboratory, $10,000. Most of the others to suffer were small property-owners. Many of the occupants of the dwellings lost all their household effects. Insurance partial.

MAY BE LYNCHED.

Emporia, Kan., May 13.—Hundreds of men on foot, on horseback and in all kinds of vehicles, are scouring the valleys tonight for two alleged bank robbers, James Murphy and E. P. Estell, who last night added murder to their crime by killing Deputy Marshall Edward Roberts of Emporia, a member of a party that had been pursuing the robbers for several days. On May 13th Murphy and Estell, it is alleged, robbed a bank at Marysville, Kan., and since then a mass of deputies has pursued the robbers, traveling a distance of over 150 miles. About midnight last night the robbers were run onto an accidental trap in the dark by Roberts and a companion, who had been separated from the pursuing party. Before they recognized the robbers, one of the latter had thrown both barrels of his shotgun into Roberts, killing him instantly. Roberts was but six feet from the robbers and the shot took a big hole in his chest. The robbers again fled. Later they stole ex-Mayor Sargent's horse and buggy and started south. Roberts' blood still flows in Emporia and the new of his tragic death caused great excitement. Numerous parties were soon formed and began scouring the country. About a clock this evening the robbers were traced to within three miles of Emporia. Lynching will surely follow their capture.

Killed by a Storm.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—Three persons were killed and two seriously injured during a severe wind and rain storm which struck St. Paul last night. The wind played havoc with the telephone wires between this city and Minneapolis. The poles of the company for two blocks were blown over the track of the Interurban trolley line, thus blocking traffic for the night. Sidewalks were displaced and buildings set afire.

Patrick Sexton, the senior member of the firm of Sexton & Co., wholesale cigar dealers, had been at Como park with his four children, and they were driving home in a car when a severe storm dislodged the sidewalk, killing him instantly, and more or less injuring his daughter and ten-year-old son.

IRRELIGIOUS NEW YORK.

Baptists Say a Million People Are Not Church Goers.

New York, May 12.—About half the population of the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx is outside of the "sphere of church influence," according to a chart prepared by the New York City Board of Christian Societies. The Catholic churches have 543,165 members. The membership of the other denominations is as follows:

First—Presbyterian, 70 churches, 27,766 members.
Second—Lutheran, 33 churches, 11,157 members.
Fourth—Methodist, 67 churches, 15,511 members.
Third—Baptist, 40 churches, 16,610 members.
Sixth—Miscellaneous, 27 churches, 15,135 members.
Seventh—Hebrew, 46 churches, 10,892 members.
Eighth—Congregational, 14 churches, 8,051 members.

With a membership in the 101 Catholic churches of 543,165, a membership in all the other churches of 108,000, and 360,000 persons added as being within the "sphere of influence" of these latter churches, the number of persons within the "sphere of church influence," according to these figures of 1,051,165, leaving 548,999 persons outside of church influence.

"In no other American city," says William H. Barclay, corresponding secretary of the Baptist Mission society, "may so large a percentage of the population be outside of church influence as in New York. The number of non-church goers; nowhere else is so large a proportion of the children out of the Sunday school. I believe the time will come when the columns of the secular New York press will be largely used by the Christian church to supplement its efforts in trying to reach and elevate the submerged millions."

L. B. BOWELL DEAD.

Passed Away at San Jose, Just as He Was Starting Home.

Heart-broken and alone Mrs. Lucien B. Bowtell returned to Salt Lake on Saturday evening from California where she had gone five months ago, with her invalid husband, bright with the hope that he would find a panacea in the salubrious breezes of the coast. He did improve for a time, but fate in its irony gave him only temporary relief. He took a turn for the worse and rapidly sank. He was brought to San Jose. His friends in this city will feel his death keenly, as he was a kind and generous friend, and a most affectionate husband.

While in San Jose, Mr. and Mrs. Bowtell noticed the advertisement of Chas. A. Bothwell, a wealthy citizen of that city, and on investigation, the two men discovered that they were cousins. The Californian at once threw open his home and his heart to his estricken relative, and nothing that was thought of by the sick man was forgotten, but despite the loving solicitude of wife and friends, the afflicted man succumbed and was buried where the laying out of the waves on the sea shore raised a solemn requiem over his lowland grave.

Speaking of the incident the San Jose Herald says:

"A sad death was that of Lucien B. Bowtell, a cousin of Charles A. Bothwell of this city, who breathed his last in Oakland, Monday, while on the return trip to his home in Utah. Mr. L. B. Bowtell and wife came to California, five months ago from their home in Salt Lake, the trip being for the benefit of the husband's health. While here they met for the first time of C. A. Bothwell of this city, through one of the latter's local advertisements. Investigation resulted in the discovery that Lucien B. Bowtell and C. A. Bothwell were cousins."

"The visitors remained in San Jose for ten days prior to Thursday last, when they started for their Garden City home. On that date they left for Oakland, where the deceased was taken sick the following day. Saturday night C. A. Bothwell was telegraphed for, and he hastened to Oakland on the first train Sunday. In his depleted condition the sick man could offer little resistance to the ravages of his malady, and despite every medical aid, death closed his eyes on Monday. Cerebral meningitis was the immediate cause. The sorrowing wife of Mr. C. A. Bothwell accompanied the body to San Jose, Lucien B. Bowtell was a prominent Old Fellow, and the interment was with the rites of that order. The body was laid to rest at Oak Hill, beside Mr. C. A. Bothwell's father."

RHEUMATISM Distorts Muscles, Shatters Nerves, Stiffens Joints.

Is due to an acid poison which gains access to the blood through failure of the proper organs to carry off and keep the system clean of all morbid, effete matter. This poison through the general circulation is deposited in the joints, muscles and nerves, causing the most intense pain.

Rheumatism helps and bed-ridden, with distorted limbs and shattered nerves; or it may be slow in developing, with slight wandering pains, just severe enough to make one feel uncomfortable; the tendency in such cases is to grow weak and finally become chronic.

Like other blood diseases, Rheumatism is often inherited, and exposure to damp or cold, want of proper food, insufficient clothing, or anything calculated to impair the health, and frequently cause it to develop in early life, but more often not until middle age or later. In whatever form, whether acute or chronic, it is hereditary, and no treatment or other external treatment can reach the trouble. Neither do the preparations of potash and mercury, and the various mineral salts, which the doctors always prescribe, cure Rheumatism, but ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

A remedy which builds up the general health, and at the same time treats the system of the poison is the only safe and certain cure for Rheumatism. S. S. S., made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful solvent, purifying properties, attacks the disease in the right way, and in the right place—the blood—and quickly neutralizes the acid and dissolves all poisonous deposits, and reinforces the overworked, worn-out organs, and clears the system of all unhealthy accumulations. S. S. S. cures permanently and thoroughly, and keeps the blood in a pure, healthy state.

Mr. J. O. Miller, 129 W. 14th Street, Indianapolis, Ind., for eighteen months was so terribly afflicted with Rheumatism he was unable to feed or dress himself. Doctors said he was hopeless. He had tried thirty prescriptions that treated him in every way, but he never had Rheumatism pass away. The pain was so severe that he could not move. He was so weak that he could not get up. He was so weak that he could not get up. He was so weak that he could not get up.

We will send free our special book on Rheumatism, which should be in the hands of every sufferer from this torturing disease. Our physicians have made blood and skin diseases a life study, and will give you any information or advice wanted, so write them fully and freely about your case. We make no charge whatever for this service. Address, SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

BITTEN BY A DOG.

Savage Brute Turns on a Young Man Injuring Him Severely.

O. C. Sinclair, a young man living at 135 east Seventh South street, was attacked by a vicious New Foundland dog yesterday afternoon and severely bitten on the hand and arm. The animal belonged to G. A. Livingston, a neighbor of Sinclair's and was fighting with Sinclair's dog when he tried to separate them. The New Foundland turned upon him savagely and sprang at his throat, biting him to the side of the neck. The dog bit the young man in the hand and badly lacerated it, and would have inflicted severe injuries had he not been stopped by a bystander. The dog was taken to the crematory where his career was suddenly terminated. The boy's wounds were dressed by Dr. Wither.
