SUPREME COURT'S THREE OPINIONS

Two Reversals and One Affirmation of Judgment of Lower Tribunal.

WHERE EAGLES WON CASE.

Suit Involving Lodge Meetings, Card Suit and Dancing Parties—Sheep Shipment Delays and Losses.

The supreme court handed down three opinions Saturday afternoon, two of which reversed the judgments of the lower court and one was an affirmation of the lower court's decision.

In the case of J. P. O'Neill, appellant, vs. Ogden Aerio No. 13, 14 and 15, the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. O'Neill leased a hall to the respondents for lodge purposes and a provision was in the lease to the effect that it should not be sub-let by the Eagles for any other than lodge purposes. The respondents, who were a hall to other lodges who gave several dances and card parties in it and plaintiff sought to have the lease canceled on the ground that the hall was used for other than lodge purposes.

The lower court rendered judgment in favor of defendants dismissing plaintiff's complaint and the latter appealed. The supreme court, however, found in admitting evidence as to the custom prevailing in all lodges to give card parties and dances quite frequently. The supreme court, however, found that no error was committed by the lower court and hence the judgment is affirmed. Justice Straup wrote the opinion of the court, which is concurred in by Chief Justice McCarty and Justice Frick.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED.
The judgment of the lower court was reversed in the case of John S. Houze, appellant, against the Union Pacific Railroad company, and a new trial was granted. Houze sued to recover $2,250 as damages because of the decrease in value of a shipment of sheep caused by the delay of defendant in transporting the sheep from Soda Springs, Idaho, to Omaha. It was shown that the company side tracked the sheep at Schuyler, Neb., where they could not be fed and watered and the sheep were delayed some time, causing them to shrink in weight. The market also went down while they were delayed and plaintiff alleged that he lost the sum named above.

On the ground that the plaintiff did not file his claim against the company within 10 days from the date of the arrival of the sheep at their destination and before they had mingled with other sheep, the lower court rendered judgment in favor of defendant. The supreme court holds that this was error on the part of the trial court for the reason that a common carrier cannot stipulate against liability for its own negligence. Further, the court held that the evidence did not show that the waiver clause was reasonable and that the lower court only found it to be so as a conclusion of law. The judgment is reversed with instructions to grant a new trial. Justice Straup wrote the opinion of the court which is concurred in by the other members of the bench.

EVIDENCE OF ACCOMPLICE.
In the case of the State of Utah against William J. James, appellant, the judgment of the lower court was reversed and a new trial granted. James was convicted before Judge Maugham of Logan of a serious statutory offense and was sentenced to seven years in the state prison. He now out on bond in the sum of $1,000. The supreme court held that the lower court erred in its instructions to the jury as to the evidence of an accomplice. The opinion was written by Chief Justice McCarty and concurred in by his associates.

DEBTOR ASKS DAMAGES.
Files Suit Against Merchants' Protective Association and Others.
Aaron Garside has filed suit in the district court against Albert Hunt, the Merchants' Protective association, Justice of the Peace J. J. Williams, Sheriff R. C. Pratt, Emory and the United States Smelting company, for damages in the total sum of $650 for the unlawful conversion of money due plaintiff by the merchants' protective association. The suit was filed in November, 1904, and the judgment was on a writ of habeas corpus and passed upon in the bankruptcy proceedings. In January, 1907, it is alleged that an execution was issued against the judgment and plaintiff's wages at the smelter were garnished. The company paid over the sum of $1,093.38 which was the judgment and the same was applied on the judgment. Plaintiff asks for $150 actual damages and $500 as exemplary damages because of the unlawful conversion of the money by defendants.

COURT NOTES.
Demurrers have been filed in the federal court in the cases of Don C. Robbins, Walter G. Flier, Charles M. Ford and Thomas J. Senior. On the ground that the complaints do not state a sufficient cause of action. It is contended that the indictment does not charge an offense against the United States. The demurrers have been set for hearing on April 2.

Failure to support is the ground upon which Jennie May Foley asks for a divorce from Joseph A. Foley in her civil suit. It is alleged that the defendant failed to support her and their children. The suit was filed in Denver on Sept. 17, 1902, and that for nearly four years defendant has failed to support plaintiff.

Mrs. Eliza Hegney has filed a petition in the probate division of the district court asking that the will of James Hegney, who died on Feb. 27, 1907, be admitted to probate, and that she be appointed executrix of the same. The estate consists of real and personal property of the value of $50,000. There are 10 heirs and devisees named in the will.

A damage suit has been filed in the district court against the Ohio Cigar company to recover the sum of $25,000 for injuries received by plaintiff while employed in defendant's mine at Bingham on April 29, 1906.

Peter Borg has filed two suits to quiet title in the district court. One is against Elmina Brown and is brought to quiet title to lots 14, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22, block 1, Temple View addition to Salt Lake City. Edward Mangel is the defendant in the other action which is brought to quiet title to parts of blocks 1 and 2, Temple View addition.

Suit has been filed in the district court by the Clayton Land & Cattle company against Elizabeth T. Crismon, to recover the sum of $204.40, alleged to be the balance due as the purchase price of certain cattle sold to defendant in October, 1905.

A petition has been filed in the probate division of the district court by Charles F. Farmer, asking for letters of administration of the estate of William Backlund, who died at Murray a few days ago. The estate consists of real property valued at $1,000.

Mrs. Alice G. Barbee has filed a petition in the probate division of the district court asking for letters of administration of the estate of Emory Dressler, who died in this city on March 9, 1907. The estate consists of personal property of the value of $2,500. There are four heirs to the estate.

Judgment by stipulation has been rendered by Judge Lewis in favor of plaintiff in the case of Perry Kaibach against Sheriff C. Frick Emory for the recovery of tort cases of four horses taken under writ of replevin by the sheriff. Plaintiff is awarded costs but no damages for the unlawful taking of the horses.
