January 6, 1876. Editor Descret News:

Wastefulness is one of the besetting sins of the age. To waste meat good for the food of man is an offence in the eyes of the Lord. I notice, in your columns, reports of rabbit hunts in the southern portions of our Territory, wherein hundreds of these creatures were killed and, from all I can gather from the reports, their carcases were left to rot in the place where the animals were killed. I would ecommend to the brethren, when they again go on these hunts, by all means to notify the Lamanites In the regions around about, so that dimmed with years, the mouth these latter can be present and save will still reveal two glittering rows the bodies of the rabbits for their food and the pelts for robes ier their children. In this way the Lamanites can be helped to a subsistence during the winter, and the burden of sustaining them be lightened from the shoulders of the settlers. The brethren should also know that rabbit skins have a market value in Salt Lake City and are in demand here for the manufacture of hats.
