The Government Again Begins Suit Against Rio Grande Western.

GILES CHANGES HIS MIND.

New Declares that He Was Not Guilty of Forgery—Bankruptcy and Other Business Disposed Of.

The United States, through its agent, John Stidger, filed a suit against the Rio Grande Western Railway company in the Federal court today, in the sum of $388. The complaint alleging that the defendant trespassed on government land and cut down government timber, which was converted into railway ties.

J. T. Giles, who pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery, in the United States court, a few days ago, again appeared before Judge Marshall today, and withdrew the plea of guilty and interposed the plea of not guilty. His attorney is Judge W. H. King.

The bankruptcy proceedings in the case against J. H. Conrad have been dismissed.

THE ANTELOPE DEAL.

Trustee Hall Wants Parties to Interplead as to Their Claims.

William C. Hall, as trustee, has filed a suit against John McNally, Dan Harrington and P. T. Farnsworth, in the Third district court, in which he asks that the defendants be required to interplead together their claims on the $1,000, held by plaintiff and claimed by Farnsworth as commissions upon the sale of the Antelope group of mining claims in the West. McNally, Harrington and Farnsworth are the defendants. McNally and Dan Harrington, and R. D. McDonald gave the defendant Farnsworth an option on the claims for $30,000, the last payment of $15,000 being made Nov. 4th, 1899. The deed was placed in escrow with the plaintiff and upon the payment of the $15,000 Mr. Hall delivered the deed to Farnsworth. The latter, however, paid it over to McNally, who then refused to deliver it to Farnsworth. Farnsworth brought suit against McNally and Harrington for the recovery of the deed and asked that the $15,000 previously paid by Farnsworth be forfeited. Judge Giles, a month or so ago, decided in Farnsworth's favor and McNally and Harrington asked that the parties interplead together concerning their claims and for the appointment of a receiver pending the litigation, and that upon the delivery of the $1,000, the plaintiff would be discharged from all liability to either of the defendants in relation thereto.

JESSUP SUES THE CITY.

Demands $1,500 for Alleged Injuries Received; Fell in Excavation.

Robert J. Jessup, by his attorneys, Truman & Williams, filed a suit against Salt Lake City today to recover $1,500 as damages for injuries alleged to have been received through falling into an excavation, said to have been left unguarded, near the corner of Third and State streets and Tenth South. The complaint alleges that upon the night of October 25th, 1899, plaintiff was traveling on the street when he fell into the hole, receiving injuries which confined him to his bed for a period of ten days. It is further alleged that plaintiff has been made permanently lame as a result of the accident to his damage in the sum of $1,500.

OUTLAWS AND SMALLPOX.

Emery County Citizens Not Much Troubled With Either.

Joseph Thayne, an Orangeville, Emery county, business man, is in Salt Lake purchasing a stock of merchandise to be transported to his home for sale. In conversation with a "News" man today Mr. Thayne stated that the people of Emery county were enjoying a respite from the raids of Robbers, Roosts and other gangs of outlaws. Very few animals have been stolen of late. A few horses were driven off recently but were recovered in time to thwart the efforts of the bandits in shipping them from the State. The outlaws now confine themselves principally, he says, to holding up travelers and depriving them of their money and other valuables.

Regarding the smallpox situation, Mr. Thayne said that there had been about twenty cases in Emery county, fourteen of which were in the town of Emery. Of all those who were afflicted but one man died and in his case, other illness contributed. It is believed, largely to his demise. The people of Emery county, he says further, are almost wholly opposed to vaccination, either compulsory or voluntary. Those who were vaccinated seem to have had quite a serious time of it, and while favorable to the inoculation before are decidedly against it now. Two of the smallpox patients were taken to a temporary pest house, but were never removed to the permanent building. The patients were kept in their private homes, and the Board of Trade, and a number of men, not long after retiring he became aware that a second person was in his room by unmistakable and distinct signs proceeding from the side of the bed. Somebody was rummaging among his clothing! Slowly and cautiously he reached out and grabbed the intruder. A brief struggle followed and the bold burglar fled to the hall. But he got there only to be caught again. Then there was another brief struggle and the burglar did get away and slide noiselessly out of the building. The Montanians labored under the delusion that he had his man cornered. "I've got 'im,"

HE SECURED THE WATCH.

Burglar Enters a Room, Has a Brief Fight and Escapes.

Two or three days ago a man, who, for some unaccountable reason, did not divulge his identity, came to Salt Lake from Montana. He had lots of money and took particular pains to publish that fact abroad by showing wads of it in the various saloons he visited during his rambles. He got drunk and had an altogether general good time. Last evening he went to the Ritz, a rooming house, above the Board of Trade saloon, and engaged a room. Not long after retiring he became aware that a second person was in his room by unmistakable and distinct signs proceeding from the side of the bed. Somebody was rummaging among his clothing! Slowly and cautiously he reached out and grabbed the intruder. A brief struggle followed and the bold burglar fled to the hall. But he got there only to be caught again. Then there was another brief struggle and the burglar did get away and slide noiselessly out of the building. The Montanians labored under the delusion that he had his man cornered. "I've got 'im,"

I've got 'im!" he yelled. "Oh, come quick for I've got 'im!" Soon a dozen persons put in appearance with as many lamps but the thief was not out. He had levanted and so had the gold watch and chain belonging to the gentleman from the north. It is believed that the thief and watch are together. The police were notified.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight occurs the grand concert at the Theater for the benefit of John Gallagher, the popular restaurant man who recently sustained a heavy loss from fire. His friends have been actively at work canvassing the city. A high class program has been provided and it is to be hoped the house will be crowded.

At the Grand tonight "McCarthy's Minstrels" presents an engagement of three nights and a matinee.

SCHOOLS OPEN TODAY.

Believed That Nearly Ten Thousand Pupils Presented Themselves.

After the protracted and enforced vacation, the public schools resumed their work this morning under circumstances fully as favorable as could be expected. There were no questions asked, no obstructions thrown in the way and no sign of anything ahead except success so far as it will be able to obtain that after the big smallpox scare.

Inquiry at the office of the board of education this afternoon elicited the information that no less than ten thousand children presented themselves at the various schools this morning. From now on to the end of the school year, the little folks will have an exceedingly busy time of it. There is some talk of increasing the number of school hours per day in order to make up for the time that has been lost. This, however, is not considered wise, for the reason that the pupils already have more work than they can now do well.

Y.M.C.A. NOTICE, GRANITE STAKE.

VISIT SALT LAKE.

Provo Ladies Who Are Interested in a Big Bazar.

Mrs. George S. Taylor and Miss Maggie Thurman, the latter a daughter of Hon. S. R. Thurman, came up from Provo this morning in the interest of a large bazar that is to be given in that city during the whole of Valentine week. The entertainment is for the purpose of raising funds to be devoted to the building of a large amusement hall which is shortly to be erected in Provo. The arrangements are in the hands of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association and have already received sufficient attention, and aroused enough interest to assure its success. Mrs. Taylor says that while all of the plans had not yet been decided upon, it was the intention to have an art and household furnishing booth, Japanese, candy, lunch, refreshment and other booths. A most interesting curio department will be operated in connection with the bazar which will be held in the Fourth ward meeting house.

YOUNG GIRL LEAVES HOME.

She Remained Away Last Night, but Returned This Morning.

Yesterday morning Charlotte Payne, a 12-year-old girl, left her home, No. 765 west South Tenth street, and failed to return last night. This morning the girl's father called at police headquarters and notified the police. About one hour later a telephone message was received at the station stating that the girl had returned home. She had gone off with some friends, it is said.

"To Do Ill Costs More Than To Do Well."

This might properly read, "It costs more to BE ill than to BE well." The source of all health is rich, strong blood. It is to the body what the mighty streams are to the earth. If the blood is pure, the body thrives; if the blood is weak or impoverished, then every pulse-beat carries weakness instead of strength. The only perfect blood purifier and vigor-maker in existence is the world-famed Hood's Sarsaparilla. It brings good, perfect health.

THE L. A. W. MAY ABOLISH RACING.

Former President Potter Will Introduce Amendments.

BIG CYCLING CONVENTIONS.

The N. C. A. Will Adopt Rules for Motor-Cycle Competition on Road and Track.

The New York Herald this morning (Feb. 5) says:

Two cycling organizations will hold conventions within the next ten days. The annual meeting of the National Cycling association will take place in this city tomorrow. One week from Wednesday the L. A. W. meeting will take place at Philadelphia. At both of these conventions cycling racing affairs will be paramount. The N. C. A. will perfect its rules for the government of amateur and professional racing throughout the United States. It will also discuss and probably adopt rules for motor-cycle competition and record trials on road and track.

With the L. A. W. the great question will be whether it will continue to dabble in the sport or forever renounce its interests in cycling racing. Former President Potter will introduce amendments to entirely eliminate reference to racing in the constitution and by-laws of the League. Another amendment will be introduced looking to the retention of amateur racing only.

This proposed half-way measure, however, is very distasteful to L. A. W. members in this part of the country. By this it is confidently believed that Mr. Potter's amendments will be carried by the required two-thirds vote. With racing out of the way, the League will turn its attention to renewed vigor to building up its membership, caring for the rights of cyclists and agitating and securing the improvement of the public highways and the building of cycle paths. These are its true interests, for which its attention has been more or less diverted by the squabble over race control.

If the sentiment of League members in this State prevails at the assembly and the L. A. W. formally turns over the care of racing to the N. C. A., the latter body will have undisputed jurisdiction over the sport from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian border line to the Gulf of Mexico. The supremacy of the N. C. A. has already been recognized by the Pacific coast and Southern cycling racing organizations.

Should the anti-racing amendments be defeated at Philadelphia a contingency that now seems improbable—a fight for control will be continued for another year with more bitterness than ever. It is equally certain that in this contingency the sport will be practically killed in this country. This would be particularly lamentable in view of the stimulus expected from the introduction of motor-cycle competition.

Next to the racing question the election of presidents of the two organizations will be of most interest. Up to the present time, George R. Bidwell, collector of the port of New York, is the only one of the presidents of the L. A. W. As he stands on an anti-racing platform, it is believed by his friends that he will be unopposed.

T. J. Keenana, president chief officer of the League and a champion of the interests who it was thought would be a candidate for re-election, announced yesterday his withdrawal from the field. This is generally accepted as a victory for the anti-racing element and is taken to assure the unanimous return of Mr. Bidwell.

In the announcement of his retirement Mr. Keenana stated that Conway W. Sams, of Baltimore, might be his successor. As Mr. Sams has already declined nomination, Mr. Keenana is probably misinformed concerning him.

THEY GET ONE YEAR EACH.

William Wilson and John Higgins Confess their Crime before Judge Cherry.

Burglarized the Slaughter House of Dalhart & Co. in Bingham—Accomplice May be Released.

Two young fellows named William Wilson and John Higgins appeared before Judge Cherry today for arraignment on the charge of burglary. After the information had been read to them they entered a plea of guilty and, specially advised by the court, were given one year each in the State prison.

The prisoners' offense was the burglary of the slaughter house of Dalhart & Co. in Bingham, on the night of January 25th, and of getting away with twenty beef hides, five calf hides and five sheep pelts, of the total value of $109. They disposed of the property, the following day to Rowe, Sumner & Co. for $25.00.

Arrested at the same time was a young man named Ollie Love, who the prosecuting officers are inclined to think was a tool in the hands of the other two. Love admits driving the rig which brought the stolen property into the city, but claims he was hired by Wilson and Higgins and received $20 for his services. He maintains that he did not know the whereabouts of the other two, and that he started back from the city.

Love is in the county jail awaiting trial, but the probabilities are he will be released on his own recognizance, with the charge hanging over him, the country attorney not desiring to prosecute nor to ask the court for a dismissal.

Wilson and Higgins were taken out to the penitentiary this afternoon. They are being kept in the joint with as tough citizens, having been arrested on numerous occasions for petty offenses. Both have been inmates of the reform school.

"Yes sir," replied Howard.

"Do you want to leave town?"

"Not just yet."

"You're trying to break into jail," said the court, "I'll fool you; ten days."

John Rousch, who stole a lot of iron and brass from the Oregon Short Line, said guilty to petit larceny and was ordered incarcerated for twenty-five days.

Eugene White, a lad 15 years of age, admitted stealing brass from the Short Line, but sentence was suspended for six months. Geo. H. Smith, assistant attorney for the Oregon Short Line, stated that the boy's father had agreed to send the boy away and keep him out of bad company, in which case the railroad company did not wish to prosecute. Mr. Smith asked the court to suspend sentence "if it would be commensurate with justice."

"Bob" Fortune pleaded not guilty to housebreaking and his case was set for Thursday at 2 p. m. "Bob" said: "I like to know who's the instigation of the case."

CATHOLIC OPINION.

Upon the Struggle Now Being Waged in South Africa.

We have been asked by some Australian Catholic friends to give them "the real truth" about the present war. Prudence bids us decline the task. The truth is sometimes difficult to find; sometimes when we find it is said to be high treason to tell it. If we do tell that the war seems to us a miserable blunder and crime, from which no glory can accrue to the South African people, we should be simply voicing the feelings of the majority of Catholics in the whole empire, but in South Africa feelings and interest are so closely interwoven that the audience to which we more directly appeal is divided beyond all hope of discovering the prevailing opinion. To our Australian Catholic friends we say that the Catholics of South Africa have no single voice on the subject. If some clamor for the extinguishing of the Boers once and forever, others wish the whole British army at the other side of the Atlantic. If some applaud the arrival of Canadians of a glorious imperial ideal, others would bid them go home and mind their own business, and not stir up strife in a land they ought to be free as Americans. ## MORE OF MONTANA'S SHAME.

Daily Gang are Blackmalters, Says a Witness—Testimony Presented by the Defense.

Washington, Feb. 5.—When the Senate committee on privileges and elections resumed its investigation of the election of Senator Clark of Montana, Mr. Campbell, attorney for the prosecution, produced the affidavit of Mr. Hill which that gentleman had testified had been altered by himself and Mr. Campbell. Mr. Campbell said he had made no changes in the document. At this juncture Attorney Foster, of Senator Clark's side, asked that Mr. Campbell be compelled to restore to Mr. Bickford the letter which had been "stolen" in its transmission. He referred to the letter from Bickford to Ben Falk which Hill said had been taken from him and opened by Campbell when he was taking it to Falk, and which Campbell admitted he had read but which he said Hill had opened.

Mr. Campbell, resented Mr. Foster's intimation that the letter had been stolen, saying this was absolutely untrue, and adding that he would turn the letter over to the committee when called for. Chairman Chandler said this would be satisfactory.

James Ryan of Butte was the first witness. He knew Representatives Normyle and Murray, that Normyle had asked him (Ryan) to see Clark for him (Normyle) in connection with the $25,000 suit. He said he had gone to Helena in Mr. Clark's interest during the session of the legislature, but he had paid his own "bill."

"What did you do in Helena?" asked Mr. Ryan.

"I drank whisky principally," was the reply.

"I helped Mr. Clark by having a good time with the boys,"

Robert Fair of Butte also contradicted Mr. Normyle's statement, declaring that he had never made any suggestion to that gentleman to the effect that he could get $10,000 or any other sum for voting for Mr. Clark. He had not, he said, participated in the senatorial contest.

William Gallick, a wholesale liquor dealer, said he had never tried to induce Representative Murray to vote for Clark, thus contradicting testimony given by the prosecution. This witness also stated that William R. Rector, one of the witnesses for the prosecution, had told him that Congressman Campbell had promised him $25,000 if he (Rector) would swear before the State supreme court what he (Campbell) told him to swear, he (Rector) could have the job of "expert" in the books of Silver Bow county, but he (Rector) would take more than two or three months, and for which he could have $2,000 or $3,000. The witness also said that Rector had told him that if he (Gallick) could get Clark to vote for him, he would take more than two or three months, and for which he could have $2,000 or $3,000. The witness also said that Rector had told him that if he (Gallick) could get Clark to vote for him, he would take more than two or three months, and for which he could have $2,000 or $3,000.

Mr. Gallick said he had declined to undertake the negotiation.

State Senator Jerry Connelly of Granite county (Populist) testified that he did not consider that Mr. Whiteside had been a sincere reformer because the witness knew of frauds in elections in Silver Bow and Deer Lodge counties; that there was much talk of bribery in Helena, but it all originated with the "daily gang"; that he had voted for Mr. Clark, but that he had received no money for his vote.

In voting for Mr. Clark he voted the sentiment of 90 per cent of his constituents, and he resented the insinuation that he had sold his vote. He said he was for anything the "daily gang" was against, and was against anything the "daily gang" was for.

"They are blackmailers, the whole lot of them," he said bitterly. He admitted that for some time he had felt very antagonistic to Campbell and Whiteside.

Connelly said that Gov. Smith had told him that Daly could be elected senator, but that Daly had not "had the nerve to show up" during the sitting of the legislature in Helena. He said in reply to a question as to why he was opposed to Mr. Campbell that the latter had been guilty of treating and then proceeded to give an account of attack ex-Congressman Hartman, saying that he had every reason to believe that Hartman had inducements to get off the ticket.

Mr. Connelly said in a statement previously made that the Daly element had charged fraud in Deer Lodge and Silver Bow counties, and said he had meant to say that the charges were against the Daly element, the labor people claiming that the Daly element was using the "rankest kind of bribery." As the examination branched into details of Montana politics, fusion, etc., Mr. Chandler cautioned the parties that this would not be allowed beyond those matters having direct bearing on the case. At noon the committee took a recess.
