Ambassadors of Publicity—J. Ed-ward Brady and W. L. Moore are in town, as representatives of Lincoin-Jefferson University of Hammond. Ind. to interest the local educational public in the extension movement in which a large number of students are involved.

Umbrella For J. J. Daynes-Mana-ger J. J. Daynes, Jr., of the Daynes-Beebe Music company was the happy recipient Friday afternoon, of a very handsome silver handled silk um-brelia as a testimonial from the ap-preciative employes of the establish-ment. ment

Gifts For Carmen-T. E. Harper of 276 G street, continued last evening his pleasant little practise of present-ing each motorman and conductor on the Sixth avenue line with 50 cents. As the Sixth avenue car crews operate also on Ninth avenue, the latter route was included this year in the gift-riving. glving.

Functal of Samuel Williamson-The functal of Samuel Williamson, who died in Pasadena, California, Tuesday morning, was held yesterday from his late residence, 353 Sixth avenue. The interment was in Mt. Olivet. The services were in charge of Rev. William M. Paden, of the First Presbyterian church.

Christy Bound Over—E. C. Christy, who was brought back from San Francisco, charged with stealing two diamonds from Lula Jordan, an actress, was bound over to the Third district court Friday by Judge Bow-man. In default of $1,000 bail he was committed to the county jall to await trial, Christy pleaded not guilty, Calcdonians Give Dance—The Calc-donians gave a well attended dance and social Friday evening, in Jen-nings hall. Margaret Taylor and Devina Cumnock, aged 10 and 13, gave an exhibition of the Highland ding that made a decided impression, attired as they were in Highland cos-tume. A similar entertainment will be given next Friday.

weeks, and is howling for more. The secretary, who placed the growth of the infant at 1;200, has realized that he is going to be a giant and has raised the bar to the 1,500 notch, which is ex-pected to be reached by June of the year which is approaching. When the campaign for new mem-bers was inaugurated but a short time ago the call went forth that the list was to be 1,000. Then there was to be a stop made. But the Commercial club did not know just how good it was and a howl went forth when the threatened foreclosure was mentioned. Secy. Caine got on his thinking cap and, after a conference with a few congenial spirits, boosted the mark to 1,200. That has al-most been reached and still they are coming. Now the word goes forth that Job is to be the limit in number and June the date. There is going to be a terrible bunch fore form $50 to $100. This has been de-termined upon and all of the members of the club are patching the balletin board with the names of friends and business associates in order to save them the difference. The near comple-tion of the new club building is having a marked effect on the membership campaign, and the new secretary, Jo-seph Edward Caine, is developing day by day unsuspected traits in the boost-ing line. The pro rata membership of the club as it stands today is greater than that of any farge city in the coun-try.

mercial Club Committee Waits on Widow of Secretary and Makes Presentation Speech.

A composite Santa Claus appeared at the home of Mrs. Fisher Harris this afternoon at 1 o'clock, holding in his fur clad hand a piece of paper which had on it hieroglyphics noting the fact that a certain property located at 224 south Thirteenth East had become the personal belonging of the widow of the late secretary of the Commercial club. This wondrous Christmas visitor was

This wondrous Christmas visitor was personified in the persons of A. W. Carlson, John Dern, Ira H. Lewis, W. J. Halloran, and Joseph E. Caine. The first three named were the finance committee, the others the president and secretary respectively of the Com-mercial club. The present which they tucked away into the Harris home stocking was the residence where Mr. Harris spent many happy years, where many of the proj-sects which meant so much to Salt Lake were conceived, a home which would have been resigned with many tears by the little family if it had not been for the visit of that composite Santa Claus this morning. And that furred gentleman represented not only the Commercial club, but hundreds of Salt Lake men and women who felt that the life of toil spent by the late secretary of the Commercial club in that the life of toil spent by the late secretary of the Commercial club in behalf of Salt Lake and the contiguous country without thought of material reward was well worthy of grateful recompliance. ecognition. Mrs. Harris received the little roll Mrs. Harris received the little roll of paper with tears and Mr. Halloran, ordinarily a fluent speaker and orator of conspicuous ability, for some un-accountable reason stammered and halted like a veritable schoolboy. Joe Caine, the versatile secretary, was sud-denly attacked by locomotor ataxia of the tongue, and Messrs. Carlson, Dern, and Lewis looked as if they had been caught in the act. It was just a little rift in the cloud of sorrow which has overspread the home since the death of the longed husband and father, a little glint from the sun of love and ap-preciation of his fellows.

Love Match in Austrian Colony Adjudicated by Judge Ritchie.

Joseph Giesler, a miner, who lives in Bingham, paid $35 for a wife Friday afternoon despite the fact that Louis Pertecko, another miner, offered $100 for her. Love found a way around this perplexing situation when Giesler agreed to pay John Ovnik, a brother-in-law of Miss Ovnik, a brother-in-law

Ovnik, a brother-in-law of Miss Agnes Rusman, the amount that he had advanced to Miss Rusman to ob-tain her passage to America last August. Agnes Rusman, who is a young and pretty Austrian, had only been here a few days when she met Louis Per-tecko, a miner at her brother-in-law's house. Pertecko fell in love with the young girl, who is not quite 18 years of age, the age of consent. She did not care for him but Ovnik de-clared that she was to marry him because he had promised to pay him $100 for bringing her over to this country. At the same time Ovnik wanted the girl to do his house-work for his wife to work out her passage which he had advanced to her. Miss Rusman worked for her work for his wife to work out her passage which he had advanced to her. Miss Rusman worked for her brother-in-law until December when she ran away from the house because he would not give her any new clothes. She ran away on the advice of Giesler with whom she had fallen in love, and wanted to marry. Ovnik was opposed to their marriage and that caused all the trouble because he would not give his consent. Giesler told his troubles to Dan Radovick, who has lived in Bingham a good many years and is sort of a peacemaker among the Austrians. Radovick took the matter up with Judge M L. Ritche Friday, settled the differences and Giesler and the young girl were later granted a marriage leense and will be married today. Judge Ritchle heard the testimony in the case and decided that Miss Rus-man owed her brother-in-jaw $35. Giesler agreed to pay this and Rado-vick was appointed her guardian. He gave his consent to the marriage and J. U. Elrddedge Sr. issued the license to them. to them
