Executive and Judicial Power.

The second section of article third of the Constitution of the United States, defines the power of the judicial department in the following words:

"The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, &c., and controversies to which the United States shall be a party."

The second article of the same instrument points out the duties and defines the power of the President of the United States; among other things he has the power to make treaties, by and with the advice of the Senate, "and he shall nominate and by and with the consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, and other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law," and "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States."

Article 6 declares "that this constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby."

Our attention has been called to these provisions of the constitution from reading in the Salt Lake papers some statements concerning the decision of Chief Justice Shaeffer in the Patton contempt case. We announced yesterday that the judge had decided that Col. Patton was in contempt for disobeying the injunction, and that a nominal fine had purged the contempt. The action of the court in assessing a fine was highly proper, and as the question of the amount of punishment was in the discretion of his honor, we have nothing to urge against his ruling as to that point.

But as Judge Shaeffer is reported to have gone outside of the simple question of contempt, and stated in open court what would have been his action under a state of circumstances which did not exist, and has thereby expressed his opinion upon a question not now, but which might at some future time, come before him—a course seldom pursued by courts elsewhere—we deem it no discourtesy to him, and a privilege of the press, to comment upon the construction he puts upon the law, which he is sworn to administer.

If, therefore, we have received a correct impression of what the Judge said on Saturday, it amounts to this: Col. Patton, by disobeying the injunction, was in contempt, but if, instead of the act of disobedience, that "officer of the government" had come into court, and replied to the injunction that he was acting as an officer of the government, then, and in that case, his honor would at once have dismissed the proceedings, and vacated the order enjoining the sale.

If this course is in conformity with the Constitution and the laws, how, we would inquire, does his honor dispose of the provisions we have quoted, which extend the power of the judiciary to all cases in law and equity in which the United States is a party? In the matter of stumpage, in which the "officer of the government" claimed the right to take possession of, and sell, a lot of lumber in the possession of and claimed by ex-Mayor Wells, was not the United States a party?

If in the above case, the United States was a party, did not the "power" of the Third District Court extend to the case?

If then the provisions of the Constitution which we have quoted, are portions of the supreme law of the land, how can a court, whose "judges are bound by the laws of the land," set these provisions aside and declare that the court has no power to stay the proceedings of a person who alleges that he is acting as an officer of the United States?

With due deference to his honor we feel constrained to say that the position assumed, if really that of the Third District Court, is an untenable one, and if it be said that his decision is made in conformity with opinions expressed by a higher tribunal, and is therefore binding upon his court, we have to say that, if it has become the settled doctrine of our law courts that they temselves are powerless against the ipse dixit of an officer of the government, then have we indeed fallen upon evil times, and in this centennial year, instead of living in a land of order, where civil laws are held to be supreme, we are overshadowed by a despotism worse than that which our ancestors threw off a hundred years ago.

There are in the United States seventy thousand "officers of the Government," nearly all of whom belong to one political party, and have received their appointments, directly or indirectly, from the executive, and who owe allegiance to the party.

Will his honor, Judge Shaeffer, contend that these seventy thousand office-holders outrank him in power? And yet that is just what he has decided if he has been correctly reported.—Ogden Junction, Oct. 10.

COLORADO IS OURS.—Gen. Bela M. Hughes, of Denver, fully confirms, in the dispatch which will be found in The Herald, the reports of Mr. Butler that the State of Colorado has gone Democratic by from 400 to 700 majority. Gen. Bela M. Hughes is the Governor elect of the Centennial State. He is a gentleman whose high character and nice sense of honor are known to all men who know him at all. The editor of this paper has known that elegant gentleman and Democrat intimately for fifteen years. He is as incapable of telling a falsehood, as Joe Chaffee's telegraph operator in Denver is of telling the truth. And yet, under the embargo placed upon the Associated Press dispatches in Denver, this distinguished representative of the Democratic party of the United States in Colorado, a man whose character is above the suspicion of reproach, is not allowed a hearing in the Associated Press. Perhaps he may be heard in those dispatches before this article sees print, since we have demanded of William H. Smith, Associated Press agent of Chicago, as a right, and of Anson Stager, Superintendent of the Western Union, as a matter of justice, that they order Mr. Jerome B. Chaffee's telegraph operator in Denver to permit Gen. Hughes the privilege of sending his own version of the result of the Colorado election to the country through the Associated Press. We shall see what they will do about it, and, in case of refusal, we shall see, in certain events, what somebody else will do about it.

Our telegrams from Mr. Butler and Gen. Hughes leave no room to doubt the triumph of the Democracy in Colorado. Dispatches to the Kansas City Times show how and why this fact can no longer be disputed by anybody but wanton liars and subborned telegraph operators. The election of Gen. Hughes has been privately conceded in the Republican office of this city for three days, and yet its editor has the unblushing audacity to claim to the public that Hughes is defeated by 1,200 majority! We brand these miscreants as they deserve before all honest men, as professional libellers of truth, and they can not escape the brand.—Omaha Herald, Oct. 8.
