It has been suggested that ivy or the Virginia creeper be planted beside all of the trolley standards. This will cover up the iron in a showy, pleasing, and something agreeable to the eye.

He has also promised to take him to the zoo and the roof garden where Thaw shot White. Mr. Cooper has been to the metropolis but seldom wandered far from the Waldorf-Astoria.

Twenty-Three Applicants Before the Council Have Their Names Stricken from the Records.

There was no fight, not even animated discussion, in the city council last evening when the matter of liquor licenses came up for consideration before that body. It had been expected and freely predicted that there would be considerable debate and an airing of the brewery-owned saloon question, but that portion of business of the session was quite as tame as the common routine work of the evening.

Speech making was probably made unnecessary by the fact that in the list of saloons that had made application for renewal of licenses, 23 were blue pencilled, for future investigation, and to these the $300 accompanying the request may be returned. Should any of the names thus turned down come up again for consideration, there will doubtless be opposition by certain members of the council. The full list of acceptable applicants was read by Recorder Moreton by request, with the address given to the reading by several members of the council. The names appearing on the discarded sheet are: "C. A. Allais, Ambrose E. Dales, Angela Adams, Gioele & Bertelli, Peter Smith, J. H. Gioele, Nick Tedesco, J. G. Schneider, C. C. Sinder, G. G. Bon-hum, Jacinto & Cosco, Nick Tedesco & Co., B. Papas & Co., J. Papas & Co., P. J. Kennedy, Potter & Bortella, Fer-randa & Berta, Nick Butkovitch, Cor-ran & P. J. Dowell, Richmond, S. C. Cor-ran, W. J. Dowell.

ONE NEW SALOON.

All the licenses passed upon were renewals, except that of J. A. Bradley, 33 Commercial street. Councilman Black explained that Bradley had opened a business in the place formerly owned by William McKenize, known as "Candy Ball," and that Chief of Police Pitt favored the proposition of there being at least one colored saloon in the city. A petition was received from W. J. James and others, residing on East First South street, asking that uniformity be maintained in the matter of placing trolley poles along the curb, was referred to the streets committee.

A communication was read from Le Grand Young, proposing to exchange the water of a spring owned by him in Emigration canyon for land belonging to the city. It was explained that the spring there issues 80,000 gallons of water daily, and that the supply could be doubled by improvements. The proposition was turned down by the council, but the investigation, but it was asked that a committee be appointed to look into the matter, and it was referred to the waterworks committee.

A communication was received from the waterworks committee recommending that the petition of the Young Cemetery association for free water for the lot in which the remains of President Brigham Young are interred, be denied. Councilman Hall asked that consideration of the committee's report go over for one week, which request was granted.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The board of public works informed the council that it had let the following contracts: Sewer extension 199 to James Kennedy; sewer extension 203 to V. P. Strangere; paving of 17th and 18th streets, between 1st and 2nd streets, to J. P. Moran. The paving indicated is G street, from South Temple to First avenue, and Mr. Hall asked for figures as to cost. Upon being informed that it was within $100 or $200 of the estimate, he withdrew objection and the work will be proceeded with at once.

City Recorder Moreton was authorized to publish notice of intention of improvements as follows:

Sewer extension, 213, Bridge street between Fifth and Sixth South; sewer extension 211, West 2nd South; sidewalk extension 141, north Main between First and Third South; curbing and guttering extension on Thirteenth East between First and Second South; paving extension 48, B street from First to Third avenue.

Councilman Hall asked for a report on a resolution introduced by him, providing that the city engineer be authorized to look into the matter of sidewalk extension 108. Tax-payers are entitled to a refund of money from the fact that the improvement has not been made, and Mr. Hall is of the opinion that they are entitled to their money. A report was promised at the next meeting of the council.
