CLEAN AS A PIN.

We are happy to say that we never had a better stove than the CHARTER OAK. The oven is high and roomy, bakes perfectly, takes but little fuel, easy to control, and clean as a pin. d301

Many of our citizens have felt the want of a place devoted exclusively to Utah productions, and now that we are, in accordance with the wishes of President Young, uniting our humble efforts in this direction, we confidently trust that we shall not only have the support of all branches of the Relief Society throughout the valleys of the mountains, but also of our brethren and all others who feel an interest in the future welfare and prosperity of Utah. d2

Commencing as we do without capital, we wish it distinctly understood that at present we can only sell on commission. d2

LYON'S KATHALION.

—Lyon's Kathalion is an invigorating tonic vegetable preparation, positively free from any mineral or deleterious substances. It is the most delightful of all hair dressing—cooling the head, allaying irritation, curing headache and throbbing temples, making the hair strong, fragrant, glossy and obedient to control, so clearly to use that it will not soil the finest fabric, causing the hair to grow luxuriantly and beautifully, removing dandruff and pimples. No man or woman can become bald who will use the Lyon's Kathalion properly. d2

THE RAPID popularity gained in this Territory by the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW during the short time it has been introduced here is a cheering marvel. This splendid plow has distanced all competition, and now stands at the head of the list, unequalled by any implement of the kind ever brought to Utah. With the Oliver Plow FALL PLOWING can be done QUICKLY and EASILY AND WITHOUT IRRIGATING. It is offered on the most favorable terms by Howard Seabree, at the Bain Wagon Depot, one-half block south of Theatre. d238 is an unfailing prescription for a faultless complexion. Sallowness, roughness, sunburn, moth patches, freckles, discoloration, dark spots, unwholesome paleness, tan, pimples, eruptions, redness and every other kind of blemish disappear like magic by the use of Hagan's Magnolia Balm. A few applications applied with a soft linen cloth will leave the delicate hues of refined beauty and youthful bloom. Its application cannot be detected, and it is absolutely free from all possible harm, warranted purely a vegetable extract from the flowers of Southern France. d301sw

Discharged.—J. G. Brown, examined yesterday afternoon, on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of the 20th Ward Co-operative store, was released from custody, the evidence being insufficient to warrant his being held to answer to the grand jury.

A Chinaman Killed.—Hing Lee,

Chinese merchant at German Gulch, Montana, was stabbed and killed, between October 27th and 28th, for plunder, supposed by Chinamen, says the New North-West. He was respected and trusted by everybody. He was supposed to have $5,000 gold in his cabin, and was expected soon to return to China. He was the most wealthy Chinaman in that part of Montana.

Missionaries.—Through a private letter we learn that Elders John Morgan of Mill Creek, and T. O. Angell, Jr., of this city, had arrived at New York, and had been assigned by President B. F. Cummings, Jr., of the New England missionary district, to labor in the northern counties of New Hampshire, and contiguous regions.

When heard from (7th inst.), the Elders were in good health and spirits.

Going East.—To-morrow morning a company of missionaries, under the direction of Elder David M. Stuart, for the St. Louis district, leave for their field of labor. The names of the party are Elders David M. Stuart, C. F. Middleton, Jos. R. Porter, Joel R. Porter, N. V. Jones, M. S. Cummings, Joel Ricks, John Ford, W. B. Smith, W. W. Jackson, F. B. Clarke, John Fitzgerald, Samuel R. Bennion, George Hackett, John Cook, Dominicus Snow, Philip Hurst, Alonzo R. Winters, Joseph Shipley, William Thurgood, Chester Loveland, Samuel J. Wing, Amos Maycock.

Cattle Thieving.—Last evening

Lawrence Walker, having been followed from the Point of the Mountain West to this city, by Theodore Spencer, was, at the instance of the latter, arrested by the police, on a charge of cattle stealing. When taken in charge, he had possession of three head of animals, which he had driven from the range. One of them belongs to Mr. Spencer, another to Mr. Chambers of the Point of the Mountain, and the owner of the third has not yet been discovered.

Subsequently a person named

Cannon was arrested on a charge of being a participant in the stealing, and the preliminary examination of the two was set for two o'clock this afternoon.

Guard the Little Ones.—An able article, by a physician of Buffalo, appears in the New York Tribune, from which we make extracts that may be valuable, at a time when diseases common among children are prevalent.—

"In my practice as a physician I often meet with people who think that young children are in less danger when taken with the diseases so common to childhood than older persons are with the same diseases. Such persons will carelessly and even purposely expose their babies and children to measles, scarlet fever, or whooping cough. Some have a false, foolish, and pernicious notion that it is natural for children to have these diseases, and think the sooner or younger they have them the better. If one of their grown up boys or girls is taken with one of these diseases their alarm is great, for fear it will go so hard with him. But let us look at the facts as proved by statistics and the opinions of experienced and eminent medical men.

"First, in regard to scarlet fever,

Thomas, a German author, says: 'With the increasing years of childhood the prognosis of scarlet fever becomes decidedly better.' Russek ger found in his experience with this disease, that of children under 5 years, 20 per cent. died; of children from 5 to 10 years, 15 per cent. died; of children from 10 to 15 years, only 6 per cent. died; while in 27 cases in persons 15 years old or over, not one died."

He then goes on to show, by reliable statistics, the per centages of deaths from the age of one year up to the twentieth, and to prove that the rate of mortality diminishes with increased age. And this is proved by records kept by physicians, with extensive practice, during severe epidemics of this disease. He then says—

"Next we will look at measles.

Thomas says in regard to this disease: 'Disregarding the fact that healthy children under six months old are attacked very mildly, if at all, the rule may be laid down that measles are essentially dangerous only for young or very old children; that the danger decreases rapidly with accession of years, and in the late years of childhood is already at a minimum. In old people, who, however, are rarely attacked, the disease is again dangerous.'

"Concerning whooping cough, our own Flint says: 'This disease is rarely fatal of itself, but occurring in the course of other diseases, as measles or the ailments incident to teething, it is apt to prove a serious affection.' Again, 'Young children with this disease, especially during teething, are sometimes carried off by convulsions.'

"Small-pox every one shuns, and I believe no persons are guilty of purposely exposing their children to it. But, as in the above diseases, children, if attacked, are much more likely to die the older persons. For proof see Flint and Curschmann.

"Before vaccination was discovered by Jenner, one-twentieth of all children died of this loathsome disease. Let those who object to vaccination ponder this fact, compare those times with the present, and act accordingly.

"Vaccination, however, protects for a limited time only, in some persons, and in others, it is permanent. Therefore it is a good rule to be properly vaccinated once every eight years, or oftener. In the Winter of 1872 and 1873, but one child died from an epidemic of small-pox as if by magic, immediately after vaccination was made free and almost universal by the city authorities.

"Diphtheria also follows the rule of being much more fatal in young children than in older ones. But no one is likely to covet this disease either for themselves or children, for the reason that having had one attack is little or no protection against a second.

"From the above, it will be seen that the very young and the very old are less able to survive disease of most any kind than those of more vigorous years; also that exposure to any disease should be avoided if possible and consistent with duty."

In Switzerland.—From a private letter from Elder Reinhard Maeser, dated at Villert, Switzerland, Sept. 28, we learn that he is laboring in the Bern and Jura Conference, in that country, and enjoys his labors very much, expressing much anxiety that he may be able to perform his missionary duties with diligence and faithfulness. Before proceeding to his field of labor he spent twelve weeks among his relatives, in Germany, then completing his studies in the German language, getting a good understanding of it, but on arriving in Switzerland he found there was a great difference in dialect, and he had almost to begin over again, but he was able to express his sentiments and views with tolerable clearness to the understanding of the people among whom he is traveling. In his letter he bears testimony to the truth of the gospel as taught by the Elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Street Crossings in the Fourth

Ward.—The following came in this morning: "SALT LAKE CITY, November 14, 1876."

Editor Deseret News:

"In your issue of November 13, you stated that the 6th Ward and one or two Wards east of the State Road had commenced grading their street crossings, but your informant failed to say anything about the 4th Ward. Perhaps he had been in the Ward on some previous occasion and had been swamped. He can come now with impunity, as the Ward turned out in force on Monday, November 6, and on Saturday, November 11, and made eight good crossings, but in seven foot bridges, kindly furnished by the supervisor, and also made good several mudholes in the streets, hauling in all, over 600 loads of gravel.

"Yours truly,

"A Lover of Good Streets and Crossings."

District Court.—The trial of the suit of James McKnight vs. William Nelson, involving the right of possession of the printing and other materials of the defunct Mail Printing Company occupied the time of the Court today.

Still the Same.—Taking the statements from republican and democratic sources the situation, as to the future incumbent of the presidential chair, remains as it was, both Tilden and Hayes having been decidedly elected.

LATEST DISPATCHES.

The Democratic Council Ask For a

Writ of Prohibition and Mandamus. COLUMBIA, 14.—A motion has been made by the democratic council, before a full bench in the Supreme Court, praying that a writ of prohibition and mandamus be granted restraining the board of State canvassers from exercising judicial functions in the election of electors, members of the legislature, members of Congress, and solicitors, and confining them to ministerial duties only, and restraining Dunn, Cardozo, Hayne, candidates for comptroller, treasurer and Secretary of State, and nominees for re-election to these offices.

All One Side.

CHICAGO, 14.—The Journal's Washington special says Senator Free has a telegram from a conservative republican in New Orleans, dated to-day, saying that returns from all the parishes have been received, and that the republicans have carried the national, State and legislative tickets without a hitch.

A telegram received from Columbia, S. C., from a democratic source, says the returning board threw out the vote of Edgefield, which the democrats claimed gave

3,500 democratic majority, against a republican majority of about the same figure last election.

A letter from a republican congressman in South Carolina, to Judge Edmunds, received to-day, gives the vote of South Carolina by counties. This shows that Hayes' majority is 7,916, and Chamberlain's 3,724.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Going Ahead.

CLARKSTON, Cache Co., Utah, Nov. 10th, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

In invading your sanctum from this locality, I do so feeling quite well assured that a few items connected with our local interests would not fall short of the general appreciation of the many readers of your valued journal, and as we warm the dormancy of the phlegmatic in a living flame of exertion. To us enthusiastic "school-marks," the enthusiasm of everyday drudgery and blank inactivity is a depreciation of our more vivid and glowing ideal of human excellence; and, breaking through the rigid barriers of propriety, we endeavor to brand the public mind with a spirit of high moral and intellectual exertion, and forever inscribe on the canvas of memory our ensign, "Excelsior." To say, however, that we of this little village are now striving to keep pace with the advancement of laudable achievements would be but noting the result of a reform. In this connection it is necessary to state that our official catalogue has undergone a decided change. The calling of ex-Bishop Smith on a mission, incurred the necessity of his successor filling the vacancy, which is done in the person of John Jardine, who was introduced to the people in a crowded meeting last Monday, 2 o'clock p.m. Himself, in company with Bishops Littlewood and Hughes, and Bro. Carpenter, of Logan, favored us with instructive counsel upon that occasion, and it is mutually gratifying to us that the "New School," with his general friends, met with a general welcome. This has occasioned other and important changes, which according to the controlling law of Nature, may be productive of favorable results. Our society for mutual improvement is also an important medium of advancement, and, connected with the Literary Gazette, a written periodical, form grand stimulus to intellectual exertion. Indeed, Clarkston is turning rapidly to the station assigned by natural advantages, for, as it is well known that she is greatly blessed temporally, she is endowed as well with talent and energy. Live men are taking hold with vim, and a destiny, which, if not dazzling, is at least couched in the shrine of excellence, and offers to us a ready hand of acknowledgment. All in all, we are justified in reporting favorably, both temporally and spiritually. The cause is being restored to new life, and the doctrine of the latter-day work is now receiving renewed and increased attention. Every settlement heard from bears the same message, and gratifying it is to acknowledge this noble reform.

Very respectfully,
