It is obvious that a run on all the backs would thus create financial chaos, Last year the liabilities of the banks which failed aggregated $22,666,000, about half of which was owed to de-positors by national banks, which were unable to most their obligations. There are in round figures 5,900 na-tional banks in the United States and 79 bank examiners charged with the duty of examining them three or four times a year. Under the circumstances it is not surprising that the examina-tions are perfunctory. In fact it is sur-prising that the examinations are as thorough as they are.

CAUSE OF FAILURES.

It is the "run" on the bank which creates the failure and therefore if a run can be avoided failure can be averted. Upon this theory a company has recently been organized in this city to insure the depositors in banks of all kinds against the loss of their accounts. This company proposes for a moderate premium to guarantee the dopositor in any bank against loss. That is to say if one's average account in a bank is a thousand dollars the company will for a premium of $4 per annum, guarantee the depositor against a loss up to $1,000. The depositor thus insured, being guaranteed against loss, will never join in a "run" because he knows that under his policy all he has to do is to get his book "written up" by the bookkeeper of his bank to insure im-mediate settlement of his claim should the bank close its doors. The theory upon which this company is established is that with such a guarantee "runs" will coase and consequently bank fail-

Masked Men Turn the Proprietor's Face to Wall.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, Sept. 5 .- At 2:80 o'clock this morning two masked men entered the Red Seal saloon, and held up the proprietor, Ed Beilo, who was alone in the place, at the point of a revolver. He was ordered to turn his face to the wall, while the robbers secured what money he had on his person and in the each register, amounting to $29.65 in all. They also took from him his gold watch and chain. This is the second time that Mr. Bello has been the victim of holdups, the "Zang," of which he was proprictor, having been robbed in a similar manner two years ago. to post in each and every station along the line a complete copy of passenger and freight tariffs to every other point in the country. The railroads have pointed out to the interstate commerce commission that to comply with the letter of the law in this respect is ab-solutely impossible. Not one of them has yet been able to prepare such a schedule and not one of them has a force of expert freight-rate clerks to enable it to make a schedule. Besides this it is agreed that there is scarcely a station in the country with sufficient wall space to accommodate the table of rates when completed. "It would be necessary to have a building at each railway station as big as a convention hall," said one of the rail-road men to the commission and in nsequence it is likely that the law will be modified in that respect if the commission decides it has any discretionary power.

EXPRESS COMPANIES.

The express companies, who for the first time are made common carrier by the new law, are asking further time in which to file their rate sheets with the commission. This is not surprising for no one-not even the agents of these companies-ever has been able to figure out an express rate twice the same way. An instance of this was cited before the commission when a member of Congress showed that he had sent his typewriter for-ward and back between Washington and his home 10 times during the past five years and had never paid the same rate twice. The charges ranging between $5 cents and $1.65. When the new law is put into full operation this will not be permitted to happen.

also The sleeping car companies, also made common carriers under the law, have as yet filed no schedules but they must do so and the general belief is that the public will be benefited materially, because as matters now stand sleeping car charges seem to be based neither upon time nor distance, but solely upon the arbitrary dictum of the employes and officials of the companies.

INSURANCE BUSINESS.

The insurance business in the United States has not yet reached that stage of development which it has at-tained in England. Up to the present time no company here has been or-ganized to guarantee an insurer against loss through the death of J. Pierpont Morgan, "Jim" Hill, George Gould, "Jim" Keene, or any other of the great Wall street manipulators whose demise might affect the market. Such corporations are in existence in England

In the United States it is easily possible to secure a policy upon one's life. Fire, cyclones and accidents can be guarded against by means of an insurance policy. There are companies which will guarantee you against loss by cyclones or burglars. There are other companies which will insure your plate glass windows against breakage, and your livestock against death. If you are a shipowner you can, by paying a moderate premium, insure yourself against loss through the wrath of God as exhibited through ocean storms. If you are a merchant it is possible to avoid loss through making bad credits through taking out a policy through a credit insurance company. The bankers of the country have an insurance company of their own, which insures those who are members of the organization against the bogus check opera-tor, but up to the present time the bank depositor has been neglected by the underwriters.

BANKING INSTITUTIONS.

There are 25,000 banking institutions, in round numbers, in the United States. Of this number 21,000 reported to the comptroller of the currency during the past fleckl year. These reports show-ed that there were on deposit, in round figures, $12,000,000 during the last year. The stock of money in the Unit-ed States approximates $3,500,000,000, it will readily be seen, therefore, that if every depositor in the country should demand the amount due him less than one-third of the depositors could be paid, even assuming that the banks could control the entire stock of money
