LONDON, 24.—Charles Matthews, the well-known comedian, was taken seriously ill last night while performing at Bristol. He was unable to proceed with his part, and had to be led off the stage. Medical aid was summoned. He is to-day very weak.

The Echo says of the result of the race that it was very unexpected. At first all the telegrams advanced that Oxford had won, and this we published.

The Pall Mall Gazette complains of the unbusinesslike way in which the judge acted, and says it will be a warning to the University presidents to abstain in the future from employing waterman judges in general, and John Phelps in particular.

RAGUSA, 24.—A band of Bashibazouks plundered and burned the village of Otchievo in Herzegovina, and murdered a number of the inhabitants. It is reported that another village shared the same fate.

LONDON, 25.

A despatch from Capetown reports violent scenes in the Transvaal public over the question of annexation. The Volksraad, which insisted upon the maintenance of the freedom of the republic, refused to accept the reform programme of President Burger, who favors the Union with Great Britain.

The fast mail from Scotland, known as the "Flying Scotchman," ran off the rails yesterday, near Morpeth. Five persons were instantly killed and many injured, ten seriously.

LONDON, 26.—The laborers on the relief works in Madras and Bombay increased 2,000 the past week owing to the termination of the native holidays at Hyderabad. Forty-three thousand are on the relief works. The recent rainfalls promise to do much good.

ROME, 26.—Amid the feverish excitement and unremitting labor at the Vatican relative to the consistory, the Pope has fallen ill again. It is certain that after the session of the consistory of the 12th inst., he fainted, and had to quit reading the allocution. These fainting fits have recurred, and the Pope has remained unconscious longer each time. He does not like his illness to be perceived, and makes strong efforts to hide it, producing painful reaction. The moment he gets back to his apartments he sinks into a chair and remains motionless, with his eyes closed like a corpse. The recent excitement has told upon him, and indeed on several occasions during the spring, which is always a dangerous season for him, his life has been almost despaired of. His physicians regard the fatiguing receptions of pilgrims with great apprehension.

Beaver Square-Dealer, March 16—

The petit jury has been discharged and the court will not sit longer than the present week.

Beaver Square-Dealer, March 17—

The District Court has finished its labors for the March Term.

The Beaver Choir have decided to sing at the dedication of the St. George Temple.

Ogden Junction, March 19—

On Saturday, the eldest daughter of Mrs. Emma Carter was playing with one of her neighbors' children. The latter had a pair of shears in his hand. In some of their playful motions the two children came in contact with each other, when, by an accident, the shears penetrated through the clothes and entered the abdomen of Miss Carter. Dr. Anderson was called in. He examined the wound, which was found not to be very serious, and under his treatment the child is doing well.

About 6 o'clock last evening, Dr. W. L. McIntyre was called in to see a woman who lives on Main Street, and who, it was said, had fainted. On examination the doctor found that his patient had been taking a large dose of laudanum. He at once administered an antidote to neutralize the poison, and subsequently an emetic, which ejected the contents of the stomach, other proper remedies were then administered and the life of the patient is saved.

Our readers are aware that the editor of this paper, C. W. Penrose, Esq., has for a number of days past been confined to his room by sickness. He has, however, each day furnished reading matter for the Journal, and has done so while suffering from acute pains. We had hoped ere this, to announce his complete recovery; but we regret to say that his afflictions have compelled him to retire and cease from his editorial labors for the present.

Ogden Junction, March 20—

We had a pleasant call last evening from Mr. David Wright, of Gentile Valley. The above named place is situated about thirty miles north of Franklin, Idaho. The settlement is built on each bank of the Bear river, which runs through the valley. It contains a population of about two hundred. They enjoy good health; raise abundance of good grain and vegetables, and are experimenting in fruit raising, which they think will be a success. They have two saw mills and a grist mill. They are blessed with abundance of timber and plenty of good water well stocked with fish. They possess an excellent grazing country and raise lots of stock. The winter has been very mild, the snow averaging from six to ten inches deep. They expect the U. N. R. R. extension through their settlements and to get the benefits of railroad communication.

Ogden Junction, March 21—

It will be remembered that several weeks since three precious scamps one night broke into the house of Mr. G. W. Hill, of this city, and that the thieves escaped with booty, but were subsequently discovered in a box car at the depot. They were arrested, tried, found guilty and committed to jail. One of them, a mere youth, subsequently escaped, leaving the other two (whose names are Roberts and Johnson) to their fate, and who have for about two weeks past been confined in the county jail. When the jail-keeper went to take them their breakfast this morning he found the cage empty—the birds had flown. They were confined in the cell on the east side of the prison, and it appears that they had procured a saw from some quarter with which they cut the iron bars of the prison door—making an aperture some sixteen inches long and wide enough for the body to pass through. They must also have been in possession of a key with which they unlocked their manacles, which they had taken off their hands and feet and left behind suspended to the cell door. After divesting themselves of their jewelry the rascals went upstairs, and escaped through the north window of the Court House. This is their third and apparently successful attempt to escape. Sheriff Brown has gone in pursuit of the runaways.

Provo Enquirer, March 21—

Parashant, the oldest Indian in this Territory, said to be, has gone the way of all flesh, at Beaver County.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Utah and Pleasant Valley Railroad Company was recently held in Salt Lake City, and arrangements were made to begin the first twenty miles of grading for the rails from Springville to Pleasant Valley, and it is purposed to complete that much as soon as practicable.

Spring City, Sanpete County, March 15th.—Mr. Jens Jensen, of this city, who was the proprietor of a tannery, came home this evening about half past 6 o'clock, sat up to the table and eat his supper. He immediately complained of being unwell, lay down on his bed, and in a few minutes expired. He having previously had two congestive chills, some supposed it to be another of the same kind; others thought it was apoplexy. His sudden demise has cast a gloom over his family and friends and the whole community, and is another reminder that "in the midst of life we are in death." G. B.

Provo Enquirer, March 24—

The petit jury of the First Judicial District Court, at Provo, were discharged for the present term. The cases now on the docket will be tried by the Judge.

On Thursday morning last, the city jail, in Provo, was discovered to be on fire. There were two prisoners confined therein, and it was only by timely discovery and the greatest exertions that the officers and assistants succeeded in extinguishing the flames and saving the property. Damage to blankets and beds, and other things was done to the value of about $100. It is supposed to have been fired wilfully, as it originated inside, but the prisoners deny the impeachment, and say that a candle fell down and did it. It would seem singular if they would fire it, they being prisoners and would be most likely to suffer. It is being worked up by the officials.

Beaver Square-Dealer, March 19—

The season is a month earlier than usual.

Marshal Nelson and Attorney Howard went to Corn Creek on Saturday. Are expected back today.

The St. George party, consisting of Apostles Brigham Young, Jr., and J. W. Young, left Beaver this morning and continued their journey.

We learn that the body of Bishop Roundy who was drowned in the Colorado about eight months ago has been found.

Ogden Junction, March 22—

We sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. George Chugg, of this city, whose infant son died this morning of inflammation of the lungs. The child was born on the 25th of December, 1876, and was not quite three months old.

The many friends of Mrs. M. Bowring will be pleased to learn that she is expected home in a few days, from San Francisco, where she has been spending the winter, and has enjoyed excellent health.

Mr. George Poulter called to-day and showed us a cluster of iron clad, or grasshopper eggs, which he took from the city lot of David Roman on the Bench. Mr. Poulter counted the eggs and found there were just six hundred and fifty. He says they covered a piece of land five inches square, which would average 130 eggs to an inch square, or nine hundred and forty millions and ninety-six thousand to the acre square. This augurs well for a plentiful crop of these miserable pests. Now is a good time for the people on the bench to take the plow and turn them under and thus prevent them from hatching out on their lots, and destroying their early garden stuff.

Beaver Square-Dealer, March 20—

If we are to believe all we hear, half the horses in town, more or less, have been stolen within the last week.

Capt. McConibe arrived at Fort Cameron with his company this afternoon. The men were very tired and foot-sore.

Company E, Capt. F. E. Trotter, will leave Cameron for Camp Douglass, Salt Lake City, about the 1st of April.

A Panic in the Family.

No wonder that a family is panic-struck when one of its members is seized with a violent cough. In this country, from inflammation of the throat or lungs to consumption or bronchitis, is but a short step. But mark, the terrible consummation which follows a neglected or maltreated cough cannot by any possibility take place if "Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar" is promptly administered. This grand specific immediately quiets the irritation, and soon restores the inflamed membranes and tissues of the throat and lungs to perfect soundness and vigor. Sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents and $1. Large size being much the cheapest.

COWARDLY ASSAULTS.

When a candidate for high office is so well liked and so popular with the masses as to make his defeat difficult in a fair and honorable fight, mean and cowardly men are not wanting who delight in manufacturing lies and slandering his good name. There are also those whose selfishness prompts them to prostitute their honor, pervert truth and ignore right, for the sake of injuring a competitor in business, whose prosperity they envy, and with whose business sagacity they have not the talent to successfully compete in an honorable way. These thoughts are suggested by the mean, cowardly attacks made upon me and my medicines, by those who imagine their pecuniary prospects injured by the great popularity which my standard medicines have acquired, and the continued growth of my professional practice. Narrow-minded practitioners of medicine, and manufacturers of preparations which do not possess sufficient merit to successfully compete for popular favor, have resorted to such cowardly strategy as to publish all sorts of ridiculous reports about the composition of my medicines. Almanacs, "Receipt Books," and other pamphlets are issued and scattered broadcast over the land, wherein these contemptible knaves publish pretended analyses of my medicines, and receipts for making them. Some of these publications are given high-sounding names, pretend to be issued by respectable men of education and position, for the good of the people—the more completely to blind the reader to the real object in their circulation, which is to injure the sale of my medicines. "The Popular Health Almanac" is the high-sounding name of one of these publications, which contains bogus receipts, without a grain of truth in them. Not less devoid of truth are those which have been published by one Dr. L., of Detroit, in the Michigan Farmer, and by other manufacturers of medicines, in several so-called journals of Pharmacy. They are all prompted by jealousy and utterly fail in accomplishing the object of their authors, for, notwithstanding their free circulation, my medicines continue to sell more largely than any others manufactured in this country, and are constantly increasing in sale despite the base lies concocted and circulated by such knaves. The people find that these medicines possess genuine merit, accomplish what their manufacturer claims for them, and are not the vile, poisonous nostrums which jealous, narrow-minded physicians and sneaking compounders of competing medicines represent them to be. Among the large number of pretended analyses published, it is a significant fact that no two have been at all alike—conclusively proving the dishonesty of their authors. It is enough for the people to know that while thousands, yes, I may truthfully say millions, have taken my medicines and have been cured, no one has ever received injury from their use.

THE SUN, MOON AND STARS AS LIGHT REGULATORS.

BY DR. F. L. PLANT.

The diseases prevalent at this season, both for the young and middle aged, as well as those of mature age, require the use of herbs properly administered under the direction of a practitioner of well-known ability, who combines from Nature's own variety of shade the variegated colors produced by Nature's own sun rays. All medicines, simply considered, are hot, cold, moist, dry, or temperate. The qualities of medicine, when understood, require to be regulated suitably to the physical condition of the patient. Culpepper's idea of the astrological influence of the planets upon herbs is now recognized as exploded. Modern experience has taught us that herbal medicines must be used properly, in accordance with climatic surroundings, as experimentalists have discovered in the present progressive age.

As a careful herbal student and a successful practitioner, I am ready to wait upon patients at my Office in Market Row, Salt Lake City.

Dr. F. L. PLANT, Herbalist. March 10th, 1877. d98 w7 3t
