The case grew out of an old water suit wherein Skeen was plaintiff and Joseph F. Mooney and William Skeen defendants. The suit was decided against the defendants and $2,500 was awarded for damages done to Mormel Skeen's fifty-five acre potato field by reason of the water in the canal being shut off. CHURCH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Interesting Exercises in the L. D. S. College Building this Morning.

The fourth annual convention of the Church school system was held in the Latter-day Saints' College this morning. There were present of the members of the General board of Education Lorenzo Snow, Anthon H. Lund, General Superintendent E. G. Masser, Secretary George Reynolds and William Young, all the members of the Board of Examiners and other prominent representatives of Church schools.

After singing, and prayer by Prof. Benj. Cluff, Gen. Supt. Karl G. Maeser stated that the members of the convention were expected to be free in the presentation of subjects and in asking questions, so that the interests of the Church school system might be advanced. All that was done in that convention was official and binding. Some misunderstanding had existed in the past. It was desirable that the cause of this might be removed and all work be pursued on a well-defined basis.

General instructions were given regarding district conventions and stake conventions. Attendance at these conventions was obligatory upon all Church school teachers and religious class instructors, so that all might receive the necessary training and instruction. Reports of the Church school officers, and the speaker, were not acquainted with the general circular of the board and the Church school papers, published by the Juvenile Instructor. This had been a source of astonishment and chagrin to the General Superintendent and it was hoped that this would be rectified in future. Knowledge of the work to be done, and the way of doing it, was absolutely necessary to the uniform operation of those engaged in this important labor. Considerable had formerly existed in the reports received from the Church schools. Hereafter only one report of each kind would be required of each, and that was to be sent to the general superintendent before July 15. A report was to be made to the historian detailing the history of each school from its organization, and duplicates of these accompany the statistical and the historical reports referred to, and all should be sent to Dr. Masser by the time specified.

Difficulty had been experienced in keeping records of the work done in the schools, on account of a lack of completeness and clearness. These records are the property of the board, the reports of studies, the faculty record, the theological record, the record of the students' and Polysophical societies, the teachers' record, the term reports, and the abstracts from the term reports. All Church educational work in a Stake was under the supervision of the Stake Board of Education, all boards of a special kind that should be formed under the board's direction. A visiting committee of two members should be appointed from each board, its duty being to visit the schools under the direction of that board, taking notes of their condition, and making a written report thereof to the board. There had been a lack of interest in the matter of visitation by members of boards, and the idea was discouraging to the teachers and pupils. These should feel that their work was supported by those having general supervision over the schools. It was necessary that all members of boards should be live members, and demonstrate their interest in the school by working up its interest in all times. The boards should meet at least quarterly, listen to reports from the principal, the visiting committee, etc., and take steps in the direction of improving the general condition of the school.

The faithful work of the faculties was commended by the speaker, and the teachers were admonished to avoid overwork and nervous illness. It was desirable that a faculty meeting be held once a week for reports concerning students, statistics and studies, and a record kept of all these meetings. Some principals had been appointed to preside teachers. The principal was responsible for all matters referred to him by the other teachers, and should act with discretion. He should make his influence felt in all departments of the school and be recognized by the members of the board. If they desired to correct any of the matters of the principal or the instructors, these corrections should be made in private and not before the students.

With the request for more assistance and compensation of teachers, it was desirable that principals be employed for the full year, at a stipulated salary. The board would be left to itself as to what should be done in the case of the other teachers. The forty-week year should not be departed from, unless permission was obtained from the general board, through the general superintendent.

The religion classes had been established in 112 wards, in nineteen of the Stakes of Zion. It was expected that these classes would be established in all wards wherever practicable.

In teaching theology in the colleges and Stake academies especially it was necessary that the instruction be given in such a form that the students could be made available in the M. I. A. and Sunday schools. Special stress should be laid upon the Sunday school leaflets, so that those admirable productions might be used to the greatest possible advantage. The teachers were warned against political work of a partisan character, while still holding firm political convictions.

With reference to going East for courses of study, advice in favor of this should be given very cautiously, as many had gone who were but ill-prepared, and as a result some had lost their faith. Even one soul is too great a price to pay for the science which the world could give.

The fact was mentioned that many principals and other teachers were resigning for various reasons, and the danger was that the schools would be left without competent teachers. It had sometimes been found necessary at some of the principals should be requested to resign their positions in order to keep alive the interest of the school. Many of those thus approached had shown a noble spirit of self-sacrifice in the public good.

Captain Willard Young spoke upon Circular No. 8 of the General Board of Education, calling particular attention to the subject of authority for establishing Stake schools. There had been prepared certain credentials authorizing those to whom they were issued to conduct schools of specified grade. A blank letter was to be signed by each Stake board and sent to the general board of Education, applying for a certificate entitling this board to confer certain schools in that stake. The certificates would be issued by the general board upon the receipt of the letter of application. It should be understood that all commencements and closing exercises of any institution will be directed to the Stake Board, and by them to the general board. Also, appropriations will be made to the stake boards and certificates issued to those institutions in the respective stakes. The necessity of proper order in these matters was emphasized.

Dr. James E. Talmage made some remarks upon the subject of examinations, pointing out their necessity in Church schools. No one was to teach in the Church school system who did not hold credentials from the general board; such credentials could be easily obtained. First a license was issued for one year, and in that time the holder must show his or her title to what extended credentials he was entitled. The church school system was a perfectly organized one and perfect order was maintained in the carrying into effect of the provisions of the general board. Regular examinations were held each year by the Board of Examiners, and these should be prepared for carefully by each applicant or they would become burdensome.

This year the examinations would be held in the following places, commencing Thursday, June 16, 1892, and continuing as long as may be necessary: Salt Lake City, Provo, Logan, Manti and Nephi city, Utah, and Paris, Idaho. All branches omitted in previous examinations should be made up in the coming one, or the certificate would be issued and the blanks would count to the decided disadvantage of the holder.

The academic examination was referred to, it being emphatically stated that applicants for such should be asked at least two months before the time of holding the examination, that all might be done in order. The fees charged for certificates should be paid to Prof. Willard Done, secretary of the Board of Examiners, and the receipt issued by him would be a ticket entitling the holder to the examination, and the certificate issued as a result thereof.

Announcements were made, and the convention adjourned till 2 p.m. after Benediction by Prof. J. H. Paul.

Wedding Reception.

Judge Elias A. Smith and Miss Kate Weller, of this city, who were married at Logan on Wednesday last by President Joseph F. Smith, were tendered a splendid wedding reception at the residence of the bride's parents on Seventh South street last night. The groom is well and widely known in this Territory, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Weller and is a very popular and handsome young lady. Last night their beautiful home was ablaze with lights and many colors and profusely decorated with a profusion of natural flowers in honor of their daughter's wedding. The spacious apartments were thronged with relatives and invited friends, who showered their congratulations on the young couple. The presents were many and costly, and the whole affair was one of magnificence and grandeur. The newly wedded couple left for New York this morning, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will return and take up their residence in this city. We wish them a pleasant and happy journey along the matrimonial highway of life.

Remarkably English Sparrows.

A loving student of the English sparrow as the bird is to be seen in Brooklyn finds that the little creature has in its domestic relations many human traits. When the sparrows are mating and building, the male sinks into insignificance beside the female. When a nesting place is to be selected the male busies himself about and is ready to accept anything that comes to hand, but the female examines each proposed site with critical care, and after the usual refutations of the place to run, wind and rain, and finally decides the question with small consideration for the opinions of her spouse.

When the nest is to be built the responsibility of it all rests with the female. She is busy all day long gathering sticks and straws to serve as building material. Nothing is taken haphazard, but every stick or straw fits to a nicety and is admirably adapted to the end for which it is selected. As to the male, he gives moral support from the side. While the hen is locating all her energies to the task in hand he sits on a neighboring bough and encourages her with music. Nor does she expect or wish more at his hands.

Now and then, apparently pricked by conscience, the male perks up his tail in a clumsy stick or straw and carries it to the scene of the building operations. But his contribution is seldom received with favor. The hen usually examines it with the ill concealed scorn that wives of inferior husbands are accustomed to, and if the male tries to force the proffered material as soon as the back of her spouse is turned.—New York Sun.

A Foreign Sense of Humor.

A globe trotting Englishman told me this story: "To show you that the cowboys are not as bad as they have been painted—in fact, that they are opposed to anything like lawbreaking and rowdyism—let me relate an incident. There was a bunch of cowboys up over the hill looks at a desk in a shop on the main street, and there was a cowboy riding up and down the street. Well, the cowboy saw the clerk and his sense of humor was aroused by the idea of shooting at him. Upon which. These cowboys have a peculiar way of shooting up the town by the cowboy ogs with his pistol. Do you know, and he shoots the poor clerk right in through the head, killing him instantly.

"Well, now, that sort of thing is very distinctly frowned upon by societies, as a rule, and in this case the cowboys had a terrible time to avoid the fury of the lynching element. But the cowboys are very much misunderstood, and I assure you that though they are a very rum sort of beggars they are really not a bad lot."—Julian Ralph in Harper's Weekly.

One phase of the female exodus movement that shockingly to male character touch is that the women average greater beauty than the men. Who ever heard of an old and out deformation by a female exhibit?

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

A Mail Train in Austria Overturned by a Tornado, with Fearful Results.

THE TERRIBLE BIRKENBERG MINE ACCIDENT.

Anxiety Among the Delegates to the Minneapolis Convention.—A Lively Contest.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE NEWS.

A SINGULAR occurrence.

A Train Lifted From the Track by a Tornado.

VIENNA, June 3.—The Ahern-Hof mail train was wrecked by a tornado near Nowska station last night, and had a fearful experience. Suddenly complete darkness fell upon the train. Engineer and fireman crouched upon the floor of the engine. A terrific gust lifted the engine, weighing 70 tons, and flung it, carriages and all, over an embankment into an adjoining half full of water. The station at Nowska was converted into a hospital for the injured, 28 in all.

The Birkenberg Mine Disaster.

PRAGUE, June 3.—The frightful roll of casualties in the disaster in the Birkenberg silver mine increases. It is now known that forty dead and injured miners but their lives. Many bodies were burned beyond recognition. The accumulations of gas in the mines greatly interferes with the work of the rescuing corps. It is believed that it will not be completed inside a fortnight.

ON THE BATTLE GROUND.

The Presidential Contest Growing in Interest.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 3.—The Presidential contest is growing in interest hourly. The men are becoming unduly excited; factions are beginning to say harsh things, non-partisans are beginning to fear the results of the campaign, and all are anxious. Whether for or against his will, Blaine's friends have forced him into a position of passive candidate and the Harrison people, not unreasonably, are saying that he is not sincere about the secretary's position, insisting that good faith will compel him to write another letter of declination. If this letter is not forthcoming, they say, it is because it is impossible to predict what the convention will do. The intensity of the situation may be understood when it is stated that representatives of the Associated Press are besieged every hour by anxious party voters as to whether any declarations have been made or are expected at Washington from Blaine.

The position of the South Dakota delegates is being discussed with much interest. It was given out that the instructions for Harrison did not instruct more than two votes, and framed the resolution, as Harrison man, declares there is no question about the purpose of the convention. A resolution was brought in by the committee, merely endorsing Harrison. The convention sent the committee back with orders to frame a resolution so as to endorse Harrison for a second term and instruct the delegates to vote all their influence to secure his nomination. Whether the delegates will obey these instructions, Governor Mellette says remains to be seen, though he believes all, except two, will.

A PETITION

For an Investigation of the U. S. Mint at Carson City.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Since the decision in the Hale and Norcross mining suit, dealing the directors quite severely, and fixed the San Francisco stock Association has resumed its petition to Congress to have the United States mint at Carson City closed. The charges are that mint officials are charged with being in collusion with the conspirators and making the mint the repository for stolen bullion, from the Hale and Norcross mine. These charges will be forwarded to Congressman Geary, who, it is expected, will endeavor to have Congress appoint an investigating committee.

Contests in Three Districts.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 3.—There is a contest as to the right to the seats in the National Republican convention in the third, Fourth and Eleventh districts where two factions have chosen delegates. This makes contests in three districts.

The Quarantine Proclamation.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 3.—It is now learned that the proclamation of the governor of South Dakota quarantining against Texas cattle is but a petition to Secretary Rusk's circular, which quarantines only against cattle from below the fever line of Texas. The touch so over the United States Pacific railroads will prove much as usual. A big percentage of cattle is arriving from New Mexico and Arizona, but there is no interference threatened.

German Baptists.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, June 3.—The annual convention of German Baptists, which has been with Dunkards, of the United States will open here this afternoon.

California People's Party.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 3.—The People's party convention, that is composed of several days, chose delegates to the national convention at Omaha and nominated candidates for Congress. Adjourned.

A Winery Burned.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., June 3.—The extensive winery of Thomas Lake Harris burned last night with part of the contents, including 70,000 gallons of wine. The loss is $200,000; insurance, $80,000.

Testimony for Hill or Cleveland.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Richard Croker, a Tammany official, says the Tammany delegation to the national convention will work for Hill, but that if Cleveland is nominated, Tammany will give him loyal support.

The Blaine leaders are working hard to bring about this break in line from the Harrison instructions in the hope that it will be accepted as a precedent by other instructed delegations, with the result further boosts to Do nam from Maine. Wherever possible, this will be helped along by the argument that Harrison contributions were only given on the supposition that Blaine will not be a candidate and that the strong Blaine sentiment in their state will justify them in ignoring the instructions given under a misapprehension.

J. K. Gowdy, chairman of the Indiana State central committee, has given out a long statement in which he says: "I think that a second term for President was unpopular in this country. 'Before Washington,' says Gowdy, 'people have been led astray in the case of the President was nominated for a second term. In six he was re-elected, each time by a larger electoral and popular vote than in the first case. In four of these cases the record, Gowdy shows, special reasons aside from a second term, brought about the result. Among the conspicuous figures in the Harrison headquarters this morning were Thomas Powell Clayton, Arkansas; B. C. Kerens, Missouri; W. O. Bradley, Kentucky; H. Clay Evans, Tennessee, and Governor Wadsworth, Louisiana.

The Nicaragua Canal Convention.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—The Nicaragua Canal convention transmitted at 10 o'clock this morning and the report of the committee on credentials was immediately presented. It recommended each delegate present one vote in the proceedings. No contests or irregularities were reported and the roll of delegates having been read, the report was adopted. The committee on permanent organization was presented, naming Hon. Hugh Vance, of Ohio, as permanent president; Hiram Davis, of California, as second vice-president, with an additional vice-president from each state, and an executive committee on the same basis. For permanent secretaries, D. H. McAdam and J. C. Pradwell were named.

Congress, on assuming his duties, thanked the convention for the honor conferred, and then reverting to the objects of the convention, declared that the building of the canal was as necessary as the cutting of canals or the building of ships at the time of war, and for that reason, as well as its lasting a commercial necessity, the government should have the control of so great a waterway, both, it was felt, should be constructed at once. His remarks were received with great applause.

The committee on rules decided that all resolutions be referred without reading and all speeches be limited to ten minutes.

An invitation from the World's Fair authorities, that the Nicaragua canal be represented at the World's Waterways convention at Chicago in 1893, was referred to the executive committee.

The report of the committee on resolutions was presented.

Gold for Europe.

NEW YORK, June 3.—$1,733,000 gold will be shipped to Europe tomorrow.

Almost a Landslide.

DETROIT, June 3.—There was almost a thunderbolt last night. In one hour rain fell to a depth of nearly two and a half inches. The cellars were flooded all over town and much damage done. It is still raining. The total fall since last night is three and forty-four hundredths inches.

Blaine Will Write no More.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary Blaine told an Associated Press reporter this afternoon that he would write no more communications regarding to Presidential nominations.

A Plot to Blow Up a Chicago Factory.

CHICAGO, June 3.—A morning paper says the police have discovered a carefully laid plot to blow up the McGregor bridle factory, whose men are on a strike, with nitroglycerine. Dynamite cartridges, it is said, were found in a pail at the rear of the factory, ready to be fired by a train recently taken by three men. In this room were found a large quantity of excelsior and other inflammable appliances for exploding it.

A Stage Held Up.

BILLINGS, Mont., June 3.—The Billings and Great Falls stage was held up by masked men today and the treasure box and mail taken. The passengers were unmolested. The robbery occurred on Pioneer Butte Hill, near Muddle Shell river.
