The services began by singing the hymn "Peaceful be Thy Silent Slumber." Opening pray-er was offered by Elder John H. Anderson. The choir sang "Nearer my God, to Thee." The speakers were El-ders E. W. Robinson, Nicolaus Som-mer, James H. Anderson, Willard D. Cranney, and Bishop Thomas X. Smith. They dwelt on the exemplary life of the deceased, making comforting re-marks to the bereaved. The choir sang "A Loving Soul Has Gone to Rest," and the closing prayer was offered by Eider J. Z. Stewart. Interment was in Eider J. Z. Stewart. Interment was in the Logan cemetery, the dedicatory prayer at the grave being offered by Elder S. L. Balliff. The deceased was a native of Switzerland, and came to Utah in 1870. She was a most lovable woman. Her home has been in Cache valley since 1879. She was the wife of Christlan Schneider, and leaves a husband and four children. Five of her children are dead. A NATURAL SANITARIUM.

What a Scientific Observer Has to Say About California,

Lieut, John P. Findley, while in charge of the United States Weather Bureau at San Francisco, contributed an article to a prominent magazine on the climatic conditions of California, in which the following statement pneared: Theoretically, California should furnish the best and the most varied health resorts and sanitariums in the United States, Within her borders al-most every form of waiting disease should find the means of temporary, if not permanent relief." not permanent, relief." This theoretical statement, from an

This theoretical statement, from an unbiased, scientific standpoint, is abundantly confirmed by experience. The cool and bracing coast climate, devoid of any trace of malaria, extends from the continuous and of the state. from the northern part of the State to the extreme south. There is the choice between this cool, humid atmosphere and the dry, warm atmosphere of the inland valleys.

Inland valleys. Of altitude there is a yet greater difference. From Palm Valley, 300 fect below sea level, to the upper Sierras, 7,000 or 8,000 above, any alti-tude can be selected, and comfortable bornes to founded. homes be founded. The peculiarity of an almost rain-less summer, during which the inju-rious germs of animal and vegetable decay are destroyed by thorough desiccation, is one of the striking features of California climate.

During the rainy season it is usually oo cool to facilitate fermentation, and too cool to facilitate fermentation, and the result is, except along some of the river valleys, an absolutely pure atmos-phere. The ocean winds entering through the several coast openings, are tempered by the intermediate area passed over, and often receive desire passed over, and often receive desir-able healing properties by taking up the resinous odors of the pines and
