BURSTED OPPORTUNITY.

Saturday

YESTERDAY we commented upon what wa4, through a local anti-"Mormon" cotemporary, characterized as a "Mormon" outrage. The deed was done in Ogden, and was described as supplementary, in its insulting nature to the nation, to the half-masting business on thatta.

the back yard of the premises of a "Mormon," and the proprietor killed the feathery intruder. The bird being age. Over nine months are now past the national emblem, the act was since we left home. Our friends have States.

()ur citizens may have been greatly agitated over the circumstance, and probably wondered why Governor Murray and Patrick H. Lanaan did not at once telegraph some modest particulars of the alleged outrage to General Howard, and the latter in turn forward a dispatch to President Cleveland to induce the Chief Magistrate to issue instructions for the troops to returnat once to Camp Douglas and be ready to proceed to Ogden at a moment's notice, and squeich that eagle buginess

It certainly appeared remarkable after the circumstances of the 4th, that "so flagrant an insult to the flag and the country was permitted to pass without some strong suppressive steps. In apathy that has been displayed by the anti-"Mormon" patriots may be mitigated, we will introduce a communication from this morning's issue of the sheet tarough which the inexcusable alleged "Mormon" outrage obtained

STRER CLEAR OF IT.

SHREWD individuals who are denominated sharks in business circles are preparing for a harvest, and doubtless they will be quite successful. We refer to those persons who make it an object to discover farmers who need hard cash, to whom they can advance loans, and take mortgages on the grangers' erops. They are thus emabled to get large quantities of grain for a comparative song, at the expanse of the hard-working producer. These birds of prey have but little diffoulty in finding victims. We are reliably informed too that already quite a number of farmers have obligaupon their crops, which consequently pass into w111 the hands of other partles at a heavy loss to those who raise them. This is a consequence of going into debt for goods, machinery, etc., interest doing a heavy part in eating up the substance of the unfortunates.

Steer clear of debt, is the advice to the farmers as a class. We know an old citizen of this community, who is and thrifty residents of these parts, who, in conversation one day, gave the writer the key to his never having been in financial embarrassment. He said: "Inever buy anything unless I amable to pay for it, and teach my family to follow in the same line. The consequence has been that what we could not get in that way we nave done without, and have thus not only kept free from indeptedness, but have kept adding to our store until we have gained a fair competency."

H- was is in debt to any extent-so as to be involved-is not, in the true sense of the term, a free man. And, reverting to the there one lawyer in this nation that sense of the term, a free question of the thrift that should be has done anything for our deliverance adhered to by farmers, there must be are "Mormons," and no fajustice, no cold comfort to the owner of land in harvesting crops that have already suffer under. virtually passed into somebody else's hands.
