The handkerchief bortha is a feature of many of the summer and flimsy blouses. In this pretty waist, the bortha falls in two deep points at each shoulder and in points at front and back. It is made of tucks, French knots and Valenciennes insertion and edge. The bortha is joined to a round yoke by an insertion of the lace. Alternating pieces of the batiste embroidered with the knots and of the insertion radiate from the stock to form the yoke. The stock is one with the yoke. The sleeve has a wide flaring cuff also of the handkerchief shape. This too is of the tucks and Valenciennes insertion and edge.

SOCIAL SOCIETY

The week has been the busiest of the spring season thus far, the days having all been marked by a number of delightful social functions. Teas, Kensingtons, card parties, dinners and luncheons have been the order, and nearly all were distinct in pleasant features. Next week promises also to be full of events.

The week opened with a number of pleasant affairs, a notable one being the large luncheon at the Alta club, given by Perry S. Heath, in honor of the visiting state officials of Indiana. The luncheon was a most successful one, and attended besides by a number of prominent local officers. The affair was elaborate in detail, and much enjoyed.

Major and Mrs. J. J. Downey were among Monday's hosts, about 50 guests being invited to meet Maj. and Mrs. George F. Downey of Denver, who are visiting them. The table was decorated in white lilacs, a tablecloth of the same flowers. Silver candlesticks with green candles finished the effective and simple scheme, and vases of white lilacs were placed about the room on mantel and tables. In the parlor and hall purple lilacs were used.

Mrs. C. Stanley Price will give a musicale next Monday night.

The Stroller's club gave its last ball for the season at Christensen's on Monday night, the affair being in every way enjoyable. The hall was effectively decorated with palms and flowers and festooned with the club colors, the table from which punch was served being prettily done in pink carnations and pink ribbons.

Perhaps the largest and most elaborate event of the week was the card party given at the Kenyon on Tuesday night by the Misses Cosgriff and Mr. J. E. Cosgriff. The rooms were beautifully decorated with palms, American beauty roses and purple and white lilacs, and an orchestra stationed at the head of the stairway behind a bank of palms rendered delightful music during the evening. The tables were decorated with violets, and purple and green predominated chiefly throughout, the doorway and mirrors being wreathed in plumosa. Assisting the hosts were Mrs. J. B. Cosgriff, and the Misses McGrath, Salisbury and Sherman.

An elaborate luncheon will be given next Friday at the Commercial club by members of the Woman's club of this city.

Miss Margie Ellerbeck entertained the members of the P. I. K. club at her home on Tuesday evening, the amusement being heartily enjoyed. The room was artistically decorated in red hearts, while the scores, tables and other details were carried out in the same idea.

One of the prettiest and largest affairs of the week was the tea given on Wednesday by Mrs. Robert Glendinning in honor of her mother, Mrs. Hubbard Read. The room was beautifully decorated, the parlor and library being done in lilacs, and the diningroom in Chantrel roses. The latter was especially pretty, the table having a spread of green satin covered with beautiful flowers and a centerpiece of Chantrel roses in a tall oval vase, while at one corner were silver candelabra with pink candles and ornamented with pink bows, and at the other end a vase with green candles and green bows. Chantrel roses and a silver candelabra with pink candles and bows were on the sideboard, while other details carried out the color idea. Delightful music was furnished by a ladies' quartet of stringed instruments. Mrs. Glendinning was assisted by Mrs. Hubbard Read, Mrs. Robert Glendinning, Mrs. William H. Cunningham, Mrs. James Chambers Dick, Miss Anderson, Miss Leta McMillan, Miss Elizabeth McIntyre.

An event which attracted unusual interest during the week was the dinner given on Wednesday night by Samuel Nowhouse, of the affair in the hands of a number of young and friends of the host, who were given the privilege of inviting their own guests. The rooms throughout were beautifully decorated for the occasion, the hall and parlor with American beauties, and the diningroom in Chantrel. The table had for a centerpiece a large silver bowl of the latter, rising from a bed of sweet alyssum, and candles of pink in silver candelabra, with pink silk shades covered with point lace, made an effective picture. The place cards were hand-drawn in Gibson heads in watercolor, and the room besides was bright with vases of roses on mantel and sideboard. Mrs. A. E. Walker chaperoned the affair, and there were present besides Miss Laura Sherman, Miss Salisbury, Miss McGrath, Miss Kinney, Miss Zane Smith, Miss Lawrence, J. V. Whitcomb, Thompson George N. Lawrence, James T. Goodwin, Jack Boyle and Mr. Tap. Hitt.

A social Italian affair of Wednesday was the Italian luncheon given by Mrs. Tra H. Lewis, her guests being limited to those acquainted with the Italian language. The decorations were carried out entirely in the Italian colors, flags of the nation hanging from the chandelier above the table and the menu, written in Italian, being done on Italian parchment, tied with green, white and red ribbons, while nasturtians in a low yellow bowl, and yellow bunch cloth and dollies carried out the idea. A large musical followed the luncheon, at which a program of Italian music was rendered by Mrs. Lewis, Miss Berkhol, Mrs. Mayne, and the Osbourne. The guests visited to the luncheon were: Mrs. W. A. Hughes,

Mrs. William C. Jennings, Mrs. Lulu S. Mayne, Miss Agatha Berkhol and Miss Mary Louise Anderson, and to the musician: Mrs. Heber M. Wells, Mrs. W. Montague Perry, Mrs. A. C. Ewing, Mrs. Benner N. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Hamberger, Mrs. Solomon Siegel, Mrs. W. F. Plaz, Mrs. David S. Murray, Mrs. Union Worthington, Mrs. R. C. Woodruff, Mrs. Henry La Motte, Mrs. George Westervelt, Mrs. Ferdinand J. Fabian, Mrs. Jay T. Harris, Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes, Miss Hannever, Miss Ida Hannever, Miss Blanche Kimball, Mrs. Gould Smith, Mrs. Lila James-Read, Mrs. Charles G. Plummer, Mrs. W. A. Wenzel, Mrs. E. O. Howard, Mrs. Ellsworth Daggett, Miss Woodward, Mrs. Hayward, Mrs. F. C. Kelsey, Madame Pionts, Mrs. G. H. Pionts, Mrs. Charles Post, Mrs. C. H. Pearson, Mrs. C. E. Allen, Miss Esther Allen, Mrs. Don Coray and Mrs. O. W. Powers.

On Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Howard entertained at a delightful dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Benner N. Smith, their guests numbering 19. The table was prettily decorated in pink, a tall vase filled with pink roses forming the centerpiece, while 14 silver candlesticks at each end had large shades of pink silk. A bunch of pink roses was tied to the bride's chair, and the same flowers were on mantel and sideboard.

The University club was the scene of a pretty function on Tuesday. Mrs. Allen Maclean entertained at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Russell G. Schul-

Woolley, John W. James, Harry E. Lennon.

A very delightful surprise party was tendered to Mrs. Jack Chapman on Monday evening last at her home on M street, a very pleasant evening being spent in music and recitations and a delicious supper being served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. E. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Cushing, Mrs. J. H. White, Mrs. Kephart, Mrs. Laura Cushing, Mrs. Sarah Cushing, The Misses Gertrude and Daisy Chapman, Florence, Mabel, Daisy and Maud Cushing; Irene White, Carrie Dye, Annie Reed and Dora Jepson. Messrs. Verdie Chapman, Jack Hansen and Noel McLean.

The dancing party given by the Bachelor Maids of the University of Utah last night was a delightful affair, and a large number were present to enjoy it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Wallace entertained at a delightful dinner on Thursday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Downey of Denver. The table was prettily done in white and green, and covers were laid for eight guests.

Mrs. J. X. Ferguson was hostess at an informal Kensington on Thursday, about a dozen of her friends enjoying the afternoon.

Miss Mary Louise Anderson entertained informally at luncheon this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Downey.

Mrs. George F. Downey was guest of honor at an informal luncheon given by the Misses Hannever on Thursday.

Mrs. Arthur D. Lynn was hostess at a pretty afternoon party on Thursday, in honor of Miss Catherine Culmer, whose wedding takes place in the near future. The event was in the nature of a surprise party, and prizes were won by Mrs. Dockery of Boise and Mrs. Joe Richards. The rooms were decorated

DAINTY SWISS BLOUSE.

In this blouse of dotted Swiss the yoke and stock, which are in one, are made of embroidery faggoted together to form points. Below the yoke, the blouse is tucked. The sleeves have deep cuffs which are made like the yoke. Tucks also traverse the upper part of the sleeve which has the full elbow puffs.

The 14 guests were seated at a long table which had for its centerpiece a bed of Persian lilacs, flanked by smaller beds at each end. Lilac and green coloring were carried out in the menu and other details.

Mrs. G. P. Holman entertained at a card-party on Tuesday afternoon, the guests numbering 16. The rooms were bright with purple and white lilacs and fleur-de-lis, and prizes in the contest were won by Mrs. Duncan MacVichie, Mrs. C. R. Pearson and Mrs. David S. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. John James entertained the present and former employees of the county clerk's office at their new home, 318 S. Street, on Tuesday evening of the week at a very enjoyable "63" party. Nearly every employee of the office during Mr. James's administration and also their immediate associates were present and enjoyed the occasion. The first prizes were won by Mrs. J. B. Swenson and Mr. W. H. Pollard and the consolation prizes by Mrs. J. B. Davies and Mr. B. E. McIntosh. The guests were also treated to several musical selections by the host and dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Eldredge, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George G. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. David A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. D. Benson Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Hyslop Tinsley, Mr. and Mrs. C.
