The case of the State of Utah vs. S. J. Kelly was dismissed upon motion of Attorney General Broderick for the reason that the appeal was not perfected as required by law. The following cases were argued and submitted to the court: State of Utah vs. James Overton, appellant; Louis Viallet, appellant, vs. the Consolidated Railway & Power company.

Transcript of Will

A transcript of the will of Phillip H. Lewis, deceased, has been filed for probate in the district court by Perry Lewis, who asks for letters testamentary on the estate. The testator left considerable property in Seattle, Wash., but the only property in this city belonging to the estate is several lots in West Boulevard addition valued at $1,000. Under the terms of the will a brother and sister of the testator are each bequeathed $5,000 in cash while several of his nephews and nieces get $1,000 each and some real estate in Seattle. The testator died on Jan. 26, 1903.

Palmer have filed suit in the district court against Fred Sundquist to recover possession of a part of the Mirror Lake claim located in the West Mountain district and also for $240 damages for being deprived of the property and $240 the value of the rents and profits from the land.

MODERN CHEAPNESS.

That Was the Pastor's Theme at Unitarian Service Sunday.

Rev. Frank Fay Eddy preached in the Unitarian church Sunday morning on the evil of cheapness, in which he said:

"This is no new evil, but probably we suffer more from it today than ever before. This is the day of cheap things—of mark-down sales and of cheap imitations of everything possessing real or artificial value. We all seem to be bargain hunters. The struggle is to get something for less than its value. Of course, a bargain may be entirely good and mutually advantageous to both parties. But there is always a limit beyond which cheapness to the buyer means mean taking advantage of the necessity of some one involved in the making or the selling of articles. Thus cheap clothes mean the sweat-shop and the underpaid and underfed clerk; too cheap fuel means too cheap slavery of the bunker boy; too cheap food means mortgaged farms and business failure of manufacturer or tradesman. Cheapness, however, is not necessary."

SIR KNIGHT WM. H. MANEELEY

324 Degree of Mary Commandery, Philadelphia, Recovers From Bright's Disease.

During convalescence week in San Francisco, Sir Knight Wm. H. Maneeley of 1904 N. Seventeenth street, Philadelphia, of Mary Commandery, called at the office of the Jno. J. Fulton Co. to report his recovery.

He stated that he had both Bright's Disease and Diabetes 15 years and had gotten so low he could not speak for a half hour at a time, and had to be put in ice packs. A leading physician sent him word that he had had several cases recover under a preparation made in California called Fulton's Compound. Maneeley sent for it. The third night he got the first natural sleep in months and improvement was then gradual but continuous, until he is now the picture of health. Among other well-known Philadelphia who had recovered he mentioned Richard Gilbert, Mrs. E. T. Snow of 1815 Kensington, whom he told of it, also the wife of a physician and several others. Maneeley will know how to approach Mr. Fulton to get the eternal truth as to the genuineness of this product discovery.

We again announce to the world the curability of chronic Bright's Disease and Diabetes in fully 87 per cent of all cases.

PIMPLES

"I tried all kinds of blood remedies which failed to do any good. I have used Cascarets for the last six days and I have cleared up my skin. My face was full of pimples and blackheads. I feel fine and I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends. I feel fine and I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends. I feel fine and I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends."

It is an evil. The wonderful strides made within the last century of the power tool has cheapened almost everything of use and beauty that we need for our comfort or happiness. Things do not cost so much in time and muscle as before the day of the steam engine and the electric motor. This kind of cheapening process cannot go on too rapidly. The more comfort and pleasure the day's work of a man or a woman will purchase the better. But the ignoble seeking of the cheap thing that spells another's ruin is one of the worst and most insidious evils in modern life.

The soloist in the musical part of the service was Miss Nellie Mahan, the only woman, it is believed, in the west who can sing bass.

WHEN THE DRUG MEN MET IN UTAH

They Had a High Time and Are Now Proclaiming it to the Pharmaceutical World.

SAYING VERY NICE THINGS.

Biographies of the Pill Rollers of the State and Some of Those Who Helped Show a Good Time.

The September number of the Rocky Mountain Druggist of Denver, gives 16 pages to the recent convention held in this city of pharmacists, which resulted in the reorganization of the Pharmaceutical association. The write-up is well illustrated with views of the city, and gives vignettes of Druggists Clarence H. McCoy, F. C. Schramm, F. A. Druehl and James L. Franken of this city, Ben F. Ritter of Logan, S. W. Badcock of Ogden, Secy. George W. Luft of Mercur, and Col. D. Y. Wheeler of Denver, who has for some 20 years been visiting Salt Lake on regular business trips. The report contains a full record of the transactions of the convention, with the opening address of President Dr. George H. Fennimore, the papers read by John Culley of Ogden, C. H. McCoy and State Chemist Harris of this city, as well as a general account and biographical notices to accompany the photos, by Col. D. Y. Wheeler.

Dr. F. A. Druehl is referred to as "the Chesterfield of Utah druggists." Dr. Badcock is characterized as "the Lone Fisherman," as he has the record for the biggest fish catches and stories in the state. President Schramm is referred to as "a toastmaster and brilliant after dinner talker, standing in the first rank," and called "the Clematis flower of the western drug trade." George Cave of Ogden is referred to as having been special apothecary to his majesty, King Edward VII, and is thought by many people now that he compounds most of the private prescriptions for the king and forwards them to the royal residence at Sandringham.

Under the title, "Here's one of the bon mots" given at the association dinner, appears from the colonel's facile pen, the following paragraph which will be read with pathetic if not poetic interest by the innumerable friends and admirers of Hon. Fisher S. Harris:

And now, ladies and gentlemen, comes the great and only Fisher Harris, the "human flute," sweet voiced and suave, the finely polished gentleman of Virginia, when he appeared at the banquet in a little after-dinner talk, we who had talked a little before became ashamed and wondered why we were induced to appear in the affair at all. The writer has admired this man, Mr. Harris, for many years, and envied exceedingly his most excellent power as a speaker. You will have to travel many miles, far and wide, to meet his equal as an after-dinner talker. He holds his audience spell-bound by the sound of his every word. He is splendid on any subject, be it grave or gay. Mr. Harris is a Virginian, also an Indian, springing from one of the "Lost Tribes of Virginia," he being the only one of his tribe you cannot lose. His nickname was "Cant-Lose-Me-Charlie." He was named by his tribe "Ozaronkophonta." He translated freely from the "phonograph" dispenser of heated ozone. Mr. Harris' name formerly was Harris Fisher, and a little poem was written in his honor, as follows:

"A fishy old chap Harris Fisher, Fished for a fish on the edge of a fissure. Now they are fishing the fissure for Fisher."

In the list of toasts, Col. Wheeler figured as colonel of the One Hundred and Fourth Missouri (colored), pastor of the Fourth Baptist church (colored), mayor of hell's half acre (colored).

Presidential Election Will Make No Change.

No matter which candidate is elected, Poley's Honey and Tar will remain the people's favorite remedy for coughs, colds and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A J. Cushman, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Poley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Sold by F. J. Hill Drug Co.

Miss Hazel Wimmer was hostess at a party luncheon and linen shower given in honor of Miss Marjorie Lyle, whose marriage to Mr. W. E. Bee takes place on Tuesday, Oct. 17. The rooms were artistically decorated, the hall, parlor and library in heliotrope and green, the table being a centerpiece of real lace, with bowl of roses in the center, and plumosa trailing to each place. Candies in the two colors were at each end, and at places of the guests were tiny wooden spoons with the name of each guest in the handle. The guest of honor had a larger spoon and all were tied with bows of heliotrope ribbon. On the chandelier was tied a true lovers knot in ribbon of the same hue, and the two colors were carried out in the menu. The guests were Misses Kathryn Wilmall, Elsie Yeates, Carrie Snyder, Merle Lynch, Carrie Atkins, Claire Smith, Edgarda Wedgewood, Dot Partridge.

A marriage of the week which will be of interest to the many friends of the contracting parties was that of Miss Flora Moore of Provo to Mr. Charles Howarth, formerly of Salt Lake. The marriage took place in the city of Provo, high noon in San Francisco where they will reside.

The Christensen academy has opened its new season under most favorable auspices.

Mr. Christensen has relinquished his lease on the hall in the Commercial club, but is figuring with some influential people with a view of building a new hall strictly up to date. As it would take too long to do this for this season, he has made arrangements with the committee in charge of the Utah hall on Second East to hold his classes there twice a week commencing Saturday afternoon the 14th. He also will conduct a course every Wednesday during the season at a date to be decided upon later. This place will be termed the "temporary home" of the Christensen academy.

Tonight an elaborate banquet will be given at the Commercial club by the Utah Association of Underwriters, the event being their annual celebration of its organization. There will be a program of toasts, and the affair promises to be a notable pleasant one.
