Elks Purple Day Finishes With Wild Scenes on Midway.

SOME OF THE BIG FEATURES

Streets Were Packed by the Populace Last Night-Banquet to Queen

Mabelle and Malds.

It was Purple Day yesterday. Today the druggists have cornered all the bromo. This morning several thousand people were engaged in energetically removing the confetti from their attire, while perhaps a smaller number were engaged in the pastime of getting prescriptions filled for headaches superinduced by the noise, likewise a sojourn in the German beer garden.

It is safe to say that Salt Lake City has never before seen such wholesale doin's as were enacted in the beer garden. The class that is charitably called "the sporting element" were in complete possession and towards midnight all kinds of scenes were enacted which discounted the Moulin Rouge in Paris. The girls who served the beer retired from the scene shortly after eleven, utterly worn out with their exrtions. The crowd, however, stayed on and "rushed the growler," took posession of the vaudeville stage and gave ome impromptu turns amid several incipient riots and general disorderliness. It was not until the lights had been turned out that the place was eventually cleared and then the crowd scattered and made night hideous all over town with their whoops and revelry.

PURPLE PARADE.

The festivities were ushered in by the long heraided purple electrical parade early in the evening. The Elks have been promising so much that apparent-ly pretty nearly the entire population turned out on the streets to see just what these fellows were going to do. Those who saw the parade testify that the Eiks kept their promise. There were some people who did not see the pa-rade, but it was not their fault. They pushed and pulled energetically, but the solid phalanx of humanity in front refused to budge an inch. The structs were nacked and a view of East Tenple street at 8 p. m. from a cold of vantage revealed a sea of faces and a swaying mass of humanity from South Temple to Third South streets. All traffic was suspended on the main streets and the thoroughfares were given over to the populace and the parade.

The police and mounted marshals at the head of the pageant literally had to force an opening through the sea of humanity to make way for the pro-cession. Amid the blare of half a dozen bands, the firing of torpedoes and the glare of red fire and Roman candles East Temple street, east on South Temple, southt on State to First South, thence west to West Temple and down to the carnival grounds. It is estim-ated that there were fully 25,000 people along the line of march and when the parade was over the rush for ten cent lickets was simply terific. The know-ing ones, however, did not wait until then but had entered the enclosure ahead of the procession. Such was the eagences shown at this time to secure tickets that the ticket box at the east entrance was stormed by the people and overturned money and all. The police quickly rallied to the scene and kept the crowd back while the coin was picked up and then the sales commenced again. ELECTRICAL EFFECTS. The parade was along the lines of the forecast published in the "News" last night and has now gone down to history as being numbered among the best of the night parades given in this city. The electrical effects were both novel and striking and the queen's charlot with the illuminated crown above it, the batallion of Salt Lake Etks bearing electric torches and little Keith Clark and his big key studded with purple and white incandescent globes were greeted with vociferous approval all along the line. The way the electric fluid was supplied was both novel and striking. Beside each bunch ing a long bamboo pole with a wire at-tached; this was run along the trolley wire overhead while another man push-ed a metal wheel at the end of a stick ed a metal wheel at the end of a stick along the rail of the street car track thus completing the current. Once in a while one of the men would strike a snag and then the lights would go out. On arrival at the carnival grounds the six white horses of the queen's coach were unbooked and then the queen and her maids were escorted to the platform reserved for them in the center of the street. The big elk was then hauled before her majesty and in due season was chris-lende "Lord Elkinton." the name sugout toned "Lord Elkinton," the name sug-gested by Mrs. Helen E. Cox, of 437 north, First West street, who accordincly wins the handsome gold watch. Atter the animal had been named Colonel Shay, general superintendent of the midway, stepped forward and or the midway, stepped forward and asked her majesty to present to Baby Irene, the child contortionist, a gold medal on ischalf of the Jabour com-pany. The queen gradiously consent-ed and in a few well chosen words performed the ceremony. Baby Irene ex-pressed her thanks and then the ceremonies ended and the confetti battle

Amy Austin, the trapeze exponent lost her purse and contents last night. It is thought that some sneak thief entered her dressing room while she was doing her aerial turn.

The fines imposed by the Kangaroo ourt yesterday only amounted to $380 While the entire Ogden bunch was sweated at the same time the crowd was so dense within the enclosure dur-ing the evening that the patrol wagon was practically useless. The Orden contingent, forty-one strong, made a very creditable showing as they marched down the street last night led by the redoubtable Exalted Ruler Baker, who is general superin-tendent of thie Pullman company with headquarters at Ogden.

John Buckle of this city is mourning the loss of his diamond pin, valued at $85. Mr. Euckle did not miss it until he had left the Carnival grounds. The inference is that one of the gang operating in time city "frisked it" when John was looking at the sights.

Tomorrow afternoon the carnival enclosure will be thrown open to the school children, while the midway price of admission will be cut in half and the price to the Indian village reduced to ten cents for the youngsters. The evening will be devoted to a confetti battle in aid of the building fund.

Among those to turn down the Kangaroo officers and refuse to be a party to the scheme yesterday were Judge Merritt, the county commissioners and Judge Zane. Dozens of other prom-inent citizens also informed the officers that if they wanted to subscribe to the building fund they knew where to go without being made a party to the burlesque. M. Stockman, one of the Kangaroo police, entered the Utah National bank yesterday afternoon armed with a warrant for the arrest of James Chipman. The teller promptly escorted the officer to the bank vault under the pretence that Mr. Chipman was there. He was dead easy and the next minute he was safely locked up in the vault and left there for some time to cool his heels.

There were wild scenes in the Gernan village last night and several fights were the consequence. One of the notable features was the sight of a girl choking a husky fellow who wanted to mop the earth with her escort. The escort got away in the mean time and then the girl released her captive while he straightened his collar and the, which bore evidence of the earnestness of the girl's grip.

The squads of young girls between fourteen and eighteen years of age who promenaded the carnival enclosure last night and threw confetti with abandan and stuffed it down the collars of some of the sterner sex, was one of the sights which furnished food for thought. One ungallant man was observed raking the chopped paper from out of the back of his neck and over-heard to savagely remark: "Those

GETTING A DAY OFF.

A certain government officer was noted for being a hard taskmaster to those who were under bim, the servants in his own establishment being no exception. His valet was expected to be on duty 365 full days in the year. Being detailed to accompany a scien-tific expedition on an extended cruise the officer unbent a little in communicating the news to his personal attendant

"Well, James," he said, "how would you like to go with me around the world?"

"Do we go from east to west, sir? asked the valet.

don't we?" "We do."

"Well, sir, I'd like it first rate, It would give me one day off." His master was so pleased with the aptness of the retort that he gave him a week off to prepare for the trip.--Youth's Companion.
