CREATED A SENSATION. Stranger Stalks Into the Police Station With the Smallpox. A mild sensation was created at police headquarters this morning and all because a man, and a white man at that, walked innocently into the desk sergeant's office-and then walked out again. The explanation is simple: The man had a well developed case of smallpox. Desk Sergeant Pratt jumped for an op-en window as soon as the stranger an-nounced his trouble, while Officer Sperry tried to make a hasty "get away" via a transom. After the first shock was over, Dr. King was notified and had the stranger taken to the isola-tion hospital. He gave his name as Wilson and says he came from Stock-

Lund, Iron Co., March 18 .- A Tribun special gives the following details of a shooting scrape that occurred near

State Line Monday evening: Two men named John Burke and John Cottrell, both residents of State Line, had been drinking heavily for some days. Cottrell owned a team with which he has been hauling wood, and he sold the team to Lee Scott, proprie tor of the Elks' Pride saloon here. Of Saturday aight Burke and Cottrell took the team from Parry's livery stable and left for Nevada.

On Sunday morning, as soon as Scott discovered that the horses were gone, he began trying, by means of the telegraph line, to discover where they ha gone to, and later, accompanied by J G. Parker, who has been acting as deputy sheriff, started over the road to Pioche. The runaways had been hav-ing trouble on the road, upsetting the wagon down the hill just across the Nevada line, Burke sustaining injuries about the head. Farther along, between Eagle valley and Ursine, roads had been washed out so had that it was impossible to proceed with a
