THE JUVENILE CHOIR,

although appearing with great success artistically, failed to raise any funds until the last concert, when $542 was divided between the choir and the band. Owing to the financial failure of their Christmas concert we were obliged to ask for aid from the parents to pay expenses last season. But now after our indebtedness for uniforms, etc., is all settled we will have about $350 in the treasury. The music we have sung represents the following home and foreign composers:

Home Composers—E. Stephens, 25 numbers; Geo. Careless, 8 numbers; J. J. Daynes, 9 numbers; E. Beezley, 2 numbers; A. C. Smythe, 2 numbers; F. C. Griggs, 1 number; J. S. Lewis, 1 number; L. D. Edwards, 1 number; J. G. Fones, 1 number; J. Tullidge, 1 number; E. T. Parry, 1 number; H. H. Petersen, 1 number; Hanesy, 1 number; total home productions, 54 hymns, anthems, glees, etc.

Foreign Authors—Gounod (French) 3 numbers; Spohr (German) 3 numbers; Verdi (Italian) 3 numbers; Rosini (Italian) 2 numbers; Mozart (German) 1 number; Bach (German) 1 number; Handel (English German) 1 number; Haydn (English German) 1 number; Mendelssohn (German Jew) 1 number; Farmer (English) 1 number; Ball (English) 4 numbers; Fanezatti (Italian) 2 numbers; Bellini (Italian) 1 number; S. L. Fish (American) 1 number; B. Richards (Welsh) 1 number; English, 2 numbers; Welsh, 1 number; unknown, 12 numbers; total foreign, 41 choruses, anthems, hymns, etc. Total of 95 numbers not counting male choruses, quartettes, trios, duets and solos, organ numbers, etc., used on various occasions.

OUR AIMS

may be gleaned from the above report. They are, first, to bring and keep together a large choir corresponding with the size of the building and congregations meetings therein. Second, to keep ourselves in a supply of funds that will enable this large body of singers to receive such training free of charge to them, as will make their artistic status equal to their numerical; also to supply them with the very best and most suitable music to be found, in fact to remove all obstacles in the way of improvement and perfect work. We are now in a condition to give fifteen hundred people free class training in the following branches, so important not only to our improvement as a choir, but as a community: Sight reading, effective chorus singing, voice culture, conducting, harmony and composition, and pipe organ playing. Each of these studies will be taught to all members who desire them, provided they are willing to devote sufficient time and energy to the studies, and, in the latter studies, show sufficient talent and adaptability for the special branches to justify their taking them, and give a pledge that the choir will have the benefit of their services in return whenever desired and within reason. These I believe are privileges which no body of singers have heretofore enjoyed, and is brought about without hardship to any one, without even placing any one under obligations to any one.

OUR FUTURE NECESSITIES

will be simply a continuation of past patronage.

Some important and much needed improvements made to our great organ, such as would replace the dumb sham pipes now surrounding the real organ, with speaking pipes, would be of some aid to the choir, and that would also make it fit for accompanying solo voices which is not the case at present. The keyboard should be brought to the front, and many modern improvements added that our much boasted of organ might be all it seems and should be, the finest in the land. A few more improvements are still necessary also to be added to the choir stand that a large chorus might not have to be separated into a half a dozen groups as at present.

The hearty support and practical encouragement I have received in the past assures me that all improvements necessary to our future growth and success within a reasonable time be provided. While the hearty, untiring labors of the great majority of choir members and our organist, Prof. J. J. Daynes, guarantees that all that may be done will not only be deserved, but will duly be taken advantage of to return to the public the full benefit, in more and more effective work as you enable us to reach greater perfection in our art.

With sincere thanks to all, but especially to the singers, for their hearty support, I am,

EVAN STEPHENS

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 17, 1892.

THE LIBERAL CONVENTION.

OGDEN, Oct. 12.—The Liberal Territorial convention was held in the Opera House in this city today, convening at 12 noon. C. E. Allen called the meeting to order and named A. B. Emery of Park City for temporary chairman.

A telegram from O. W. Powers at Lincoln was read announcing his regrets at not being able to be present, and advising the Liberals to stand for Utah, and as the old-time friends of the Territory work for the cause until Utah was worthy of statehood.

Committees on credentials, permanent organization and platform were appointed, C. C. Goodwin and C. E. Allen being appointed on the committee on resolutions from Salt Lake.

An adjournment was then taken till 3 p.m.

On reconvening the report of the committee on credentials was read and is still in progress at the present time—3:40.

A probable forecast of the nomination for delegate to Congress at this time shows the choice to be between Henry W. Lawrence of Salt Lake and Fred J. Kiesel, of Ogden. C. E. Allen says he is not in it, and Powers appears out of the race altogether.

Your committee on permanent organization and order of business respectfully report to this convention the following members of the convention as permanent officers thereof and respectfully recommend their appointment by this convention.

Permanent chairman, C. C. Goodwin, Salt Lake.

Vice-chairmen, William Farrell of Weber, A. L. Buckland of Davis, H. K. Ebert of Utah, S. H. Parsley of Summit, Harry Haines of Salt Lake, A. G. Campbell of Tooele, W. H. Shock of Sevier, Mr. Williams of Morgan.

For permanent secretary, A. C. Emerson of Weber; assistant secretary, J. S. Daveler of Salt Lake.

For sergeant-at-arms, Edward W. Berry of Summit.

And we further report the following order of business for the consideration of the convention:

First—Report of committee on credentials.

Second—Report of committee on platform and resolutions.

Third—Nomination of candidate for delegate to Congress.

Fourth—Nomination of three commissioners to locate university lands.

Fifth—We recommend that the delegates of each county represented select the names of suitable persons from their respective counties to be named as members of the Territorial Liberal Central Committee to be approved by this convention. Respectfully submitted,

J. R. ELLIOTT, Chairman.
OGDEN HILES, Secretary.

ANCIENT EVAPORATION.

The report was adopted after which Mr. Goodwin was escorted to the platform and delivered one of his characteristic speeches.

ALSO ANCIENT.

"Statistician" Allen then read the platform drawn by himself, W. M. Ferry, C. C. Goodwin, C. M. Brough, Aaron F. Munn, O. C. Lockhart, and Newell Knight. It contains the oft-repeated reference to "an unyielding theocracy and impertum in imperio," expresses the fear "that with the opportunity which would come with statehood this priesthood would assume supreme control" of all political matters; thanks Governor Thomas for his use of the veto power at the session of the last Utah Legislature, and protests against the admission of Utah into the Union.

HIS NAME IS POWERS.

Printer Daveler read a resolution offered by A. G. Campbell in which it was said that Utah's people should have a boss for delegate to Congress. He nominated a man who fulfilled this requirement and whose name was Powers.

BOTH DECLINE.

Telegrams were read from Judge Powers and Henry W. Lawrence positively declining to accept the nomination.

SOFT SOAP.

The following was adopted:

Resolved, That this convention has heard with regret that Orlando W. Powers has refused to allow his name to be presented for its consideration as a nominee for Delegate to Congress. In view of this
