COULDN'T AFFORD IT.

Made Honest by Business Principles —A Druggist tells the Square Truth.

"Now, my friend, let's be perfectly frank and candid about this little matter," the druggist said, placing both his elbows on his plated show-case and looking his customer fairly in the eye. You have a lame back and want a plaster to put on it. You don't know me, and, judging of human nature as it runs in business, you are afraid I'll humbug you in some way. You may think it an odd statement, but I can't afford to cheat you. Even if I did I haven't the means.

"That's curious. (Oh, my back! I'll take a chair, I guess.) Don't you keep plasters?" "Oh, yes, one or two kinds. Once I had shelves full of them—every sort that were ever invented to gull the ignorant and make money for imitators. But I sifted 'em out one by one, and now sell BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS, principally. They always give satisfaction and in the end it pays me to sell them in preference to all others."

"Haven't you Allcock's?" "Yes, but my customers and myself prefer Benson's Capcine—which are as quick as electricity, safe as Government bonds and sure as the law of gravitation. The doctors order them, and what is more to the point, I have never heard a complaint from any one who has used them. You can go elsewhere—if your back will bear you out in the operation—and get another and a cheap plaster, but—"

"Don't talk to me about the money," broke in the comfort-seeking stranger, with some heat. "What's ten or fifteen cents to getting rid of this confounded—oh, Lordy!—this pain and lameness? Let me have one of Benson's Capcine. That's the real article, is it? with the words CAPCINE cut in the body of the plaster.

"You'll be around in a week, straight and strong," added the diplomatic druggist, throwing the money in his cash drawer.

H. M. WYETH'S PATENT.

He who furnishes the Public with a Labor Saving Machine should be highly esteemed for his works' sake. PATENTED JAN. 1st, 1884.

THE GREAT OBJECT REACHED AT LAST.

THE PUBLIC HAVE LONG NEEDED A pump simple in its construction, durable, cheap and not liable to get out of order. This desideratum H. M. Wyeth of Salt Lake City, Utah, has (after many years of experience) attained by inventing and patenting a Double Acting Anti-Freezing Force Pump. So simple in its construction that any person of ordinary mechanical genius can make it. Every farm or dwelling should be supplied with one or more for house use or for watering stock, gardens, yards or protecting buildings from fire, and it is warranted not to freeze in the coldest weather.

There is a general and increasing demand for pumps, and it is believed that this pump will ultimately take the place of all others in the market. Its manufacture and sale offer the best inducements to industrious persons for a continued and lucrative business and the broadest margin for safe investments and profitable speculation of any invention extant.

Any parties wishing to travel with a good pleasant and paying business in any part of the United States are invited to call on our address H. M. WYETH, Salt Lake City, City. w4 3m
