

ANGELS FLYING HOMEWARD BOUND.

Trip Over Lucin Cut-off Was Fitting Climax to Week's Festivities.

HIGH JINKS ON THE RAILS.

Forty Pilgrims Still Remain in Salt
Lake to Rest After Strenuous Sight-Seeing.

There are still some 40 members of the new historic excursion from Los Angeles left in Salt Lake. Most of the visitors returned on their way home on last night's train, those remaining here have stopped over for business or to recuperate from the strenuous week. Among these are members of the Panama delegation which got left on the regular excursion and slipped into Salt Lake on Tuesday's train.

The last outing as guests of Salt Lake was a fitting climax to the week of strenuous pleasure. The story of the trip across the famous Lucin cut-off was told in last night's "News" up until the time the special train reached Lakeview on the west shore of the big inland sea. From this point, through the courtesy of General Supt. E. Buckenham, the railroad telegraph operator in the absence of a regular Western Union office, sent in a dispatch that was filed from the train. Owing to the dispatcher using the regular railroad code and abbreviations, the result when printed was decidedly humorous.

SOME HIGH JINKS.

It was really after the train left Lakeview and arrived at Hogup that history was made. At Hogup, way out in the desert apparently 50 miles from any habitation, "Posters" Military band, delighted from the cars and a grand march went into session. Two by two the junketers climbed, marched and sang, accompanied by the regular code of the Lucin Schwabe, city auditor of Los Angeles, arrived with an improvised band. Then they joined hands and formed a huge circle, the center of which was a child of children. From this the spot ran the gamut from "Rock-a-bye-baby" to "Hop Scotch." When the conductor eventually called "all aboard" the scene of the dance resembled a huge buffalo wallow, for every word and song was sung within a radius of 100 yards had been trampled flat.

On the cars returning speeches were demanded and Prof. J. E. Talmage, whose book, "Great Salt Lake, Present and Past," was the center of attraction. After his address Dr. Talmage was asked to write his autograph in dozens of the books. He was flooded with questions and by way of reprieve, he exhibited some sand gathered on the shore which he placed under a magnifying glass. From instructive lectures and church services, the junketers degenerated into imprudent stunts, songs by the colored quartet serenaded from the tops of water towers and songs by the only original tin can band and the Sunset Handbell tinklers.

CAT AS A SOUVENIR.

A brief stay was made at Promontory Point where the hopeful 5-year-old son of the section foreman was discovered getting a stick-on to the inside of his mouth. He was induced to let him thumb out of his mouth long enough to get him filled with nickels and dimes. Then E. D. Bolter, proprietor of the "Yule Valley" hotel at Alameda, Cal., made a cat deal with the junketer and for the consideration of a half-dozen became the proud possessor of a half-bred, half-kitten which he proposes to take home with him and exhibit as a cat born in the middle of Great Salt Lake.

FOR OGDEN'S BENEFIT.

From Promontory Point into Ogden great preparations were made for a triumphal march up town. The city platters that had been tossed around at lunch were transformed into banners, upon which were written sentiments fit to be read according to the taste of the weather. A stretcher was unheeded for the baggage car, more tin cans were rustled from the wastebasket and the following day, duly committed to memory and subject to music, were with to salute the citizens of the Junction city.

"He's a bold bad man,
He's a wild desperado,
He's in town like a wild tornado,
And he walks the streets like a wild gozbo.
And every time he takes a drink he yells 'Ogden!'"

All these preparations, however, went for naught because on arriving at Ogden it was found that the reception committee had secured all the tin cans available, running from a spunked horseshoe buckskin down to the everyday buggy. This took the junketers by surprise somewhat and they lost no time in scrambling into the conveyances and heading for Ogden canyon.

DRIVE UP CANYON.

The drive up to the Hermitage and return was greatly enjoyed and voted a week's festivities. The canyon practically every 50 yards was stationed a fireman and in several instances the stronger witnesses an angler pull a speckled beauty out of the stream as they drove past.

The stay in Ogden was all too short and regrets were expressed that more time could not be spent in that delightful burg. On arriving at the depot the special was waiting and 10 minutes later it pulled out for Salt Lake.

At Salt Lake there was a rush for dinner, then a mad scramble to pack things and rush for the depot.

RELIC HUNTERS' LOOT.

Most of the Angels found that their trip would not hold all they desired to take back with them. Everybody carried an extra parcel. There was Dr. Houghton with a bundle of cutlery and some birds' eggs gathered on the grassland yesterday. E. D. Bolter had his "Littles" Theodore Summerland, president of the city council, had some books from the tithing yard and others. A peculiar shaped parcel which contained a book.

SOME SENTIMENTS.

As the train pulled out such sentiments were:

TEA

Our people don't know how fine is the taste of well-brewed good tea.

There's a book inside.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schramm's Best.

Almond Shells

aren't edible, neither are wheat hulls.
They are removed by our special process
before crushing the wheat for California Wheatine.

Flaked wheat food for breakfast.
All good grocers.

Pacific Cereal Association
San Francisco

ments were shouted to the Salt Lake who had gathered to see the pilgrim of as: "If we catch a Salt Lake bunch in Los Angeles we won't do a thing to them." When you Salt Lake come to Los Angeles don't trouble to bring your nightshirts. "Don't forget to call us up when you come south; we have got to get even with you somehow."

Then the observation car disappeared round the curve and the great invasion of the junketers from the land of orange groves and pepper trees went down history.

THOSE WHO REMAIN.

Among the Panama delegation which is still in Salt Lake are E. E. Armour, A. G. Lathrop, J. M. Booth, W. H. Poston, E. C. Bichovsky, president of the Panama board of trade, D. P. Teague, president of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange, and R. M. Teague of the San Dimas Citrus Nurseries, the largest grower of citrus trees in the world and shippers to Italy, Spain, Australia, Cape Colony, and in fact every country where oranges will grow.

Man's Unreasonableness is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican" of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "I have included to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she is perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept. Price 50c.

There'll be a good time if "You All" come to Saltair Friday, June 23.

U. OF U. SUMMER SCHOOL.

More Than Two Hundred Students Enrolled—Success Assured.

The summer school connected with the University of Utah is proving successful beyond the anticipations of its projectors. The students already numbered over 220, although the school has been running only a week, and the indications are that by Monday night there will be over 250 enrolled. Some students have come quite a distance, attracted by the unusual excellence of the courses of study as explained by Prof. Stewart, the dean of the school.

The lectures to be given by Thomas D. Seymour, LL. D., professor of Greek language and literature in Yale university, are attracting a good deal of attention, and they are scheduled to be given in the University of Utah assembly hall as follows:

Thursday, June 22, at 8:30 p. m., explorations in Greek and (illustrated). Wednesday, June 23, at 12 noon, Homer's Iliad.

DRIVE TOO FAST.

Cost Bingham Duke $70—Deadly Weapon Man Case Heard.

J. Duke was convicted of fast driving at Bingham yesterday by a jury in Justice Lee's court and was fined $50 and costs, making a total of $70. A man named Witt, who was with Duke, pleaded guilty to the same charge and got off with a fine of $25. It appeared that Duke was in the lead and was riding at a very fast rate through the streets when commanded to halt by Officer Costen. He failed to comply with the request so a shot was fired at him which proved effective and the man was taken in by the officer. The case was prosecuted by Asst. County Atty. Hanson.

DEADLY WEAPON CASE.

The preliminary hearing of a man named Astram was also held and he was bound over to the district court on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. Astram is charged with a shot at Jacob Korpi on June 8. The bullet struck his collar bone and glanced upward, scraping some skin off his cheek and passing through the rim of his hat.

FINE TRIBUTE TO "MORMONISM"

Distinguished Americans Freely
Express Themselves on Visit to Mexican Colonies.

TESTIMONY OF COL. GREENE.

Says There Are No Worse Blandered
Or More Industrious People Than
The "Mormons."

No finer tribute to the "Mormons" and "Mormonism" was ever paid, than that lavished by a party of distinguished Americans on a recent visit to the "Mormon" colonies in Mexico. At Juarez a reception was given in their honor and El Progreso, a paper published at Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, gives the following account of it:

The visit of Col. Greene and party at Colonia Juarez May 5 was greatly enjoyed. The party consisted of Col. W. C. Greene, Judge A. B. Fall, of El Paso; Col. M. M. Parker of Washington, D. C.; G. J. Harris of North Carolina, Gov. N. A. Wagoner of Vermont, Jacob Weidmann, Patterson, New Jersey; H. C. Cheney of Connecticut, Norton Chase of New York, A. C. Lathrop of North Carolina, Capt. Ellis Spencer, Blackburn, North Carolina; Marcus A. Smith, Arizona; Dr. Galbreath, Canada; Dr. E. N. Carpenter, New York; Harry Seale, New York; Judge L. H. Hele, New York; Senator W. C. Houston and son, Tennessee; Messrs. Sam Powers and John Fall.

The party arrived early about 10 o'clock and were taken to the house of President A. N. [?]. After a brief rest enjoyed at that handsome home with its attractive lawn and beautiful flowers and trees, the party was taken to the assembly hall in the new academy building. The Juarez brass band gave a fine selection. The hall was packed. The stage had been built with flags of Mexico and United States, on the stage with the visitors were also President H. Pratt, Hon. H. E. Bowman, Prof. Day C. Wilson, Bishop W. D. Johnson, Bishop J. C. Hays, Bishop G. C. Naege and Mr. E. L. Taylor.

It was an inspiring sight to the audience and equally a surprise and pleasure to the visitors. There in plain clothing, mostly hunting suits, was a company of distinguished gentlemen, many of them men of national reputation. It is said that the youth recruited by the visitors was over 250,000,000.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

The scene was impressive. The faces of the visitors showed that they were deeply interested. They had seen an oasis, a town where long streets were heavily shaded by large trees, where lovely homes of brick and stone whose lawns and flowers showed intelligence and refinement and in a stately modern academy building, costing perhaps $75,000.

As they listened to the strains of the orchestra and heard the opening prayer by Bishop W. D. Johnson, an air of solemnity and sincere respect was plainly noted. They felt that they were among a people who feared God and loved Him for guidance in a good life.

VISITORS WELL PLEASED.

All the visitors were invited to speak, and nearly all responded to the invitation. Everyone who spoke expressed his admiration for the high standard of the Mormon people. They were full of admiration and praise for what the "Mormon" people had accomplished. Their words were honest and their praise of too high standing for it to be otherwise, while faces showed that they were sincere.

Col. W. C. Greene gave a fine, earnest address. He had known the "Mormon" people in Utah and other states, and in Mexico. He said there were no worse blandered people in the world than the "Mormons." He stated that there were no more honest, industrious, hospitable people in the United States than the "Mormon" people. Col. Greene said he liked people who do things, and his words showed that he admired the works of the "Mormon" people in making a new country productive and civilized. He spoke of the great natural wealth of this section of country.

The speakers were all in the house of their friends, and their words were certainly friendly.

Gov. Woodbury said he hoped the "Mormon" people would "grow and increase."

Congressman Stevens said that he was sorry United States had lost such a people as these "Mormons" who had settled in Mexico.

MARCUS SMITH'S VIEW.

Hon. Marcus Smith said he knew the "Mormon" people that they had befriended him when he needed a friend, and he gave them the highest praise. All present who heard the words of praise for the "Mormon" people and what they have accomplished and are doing at Colonia Juarez, from those gentlemen, many of them men of national reputation, saw that these visitors were as they said, surprised and pleased.

Prof. Guy C. Wilson presided and gave a good address at the close.

The anthem "Song of the Redeemed," as given by the Juarez choir, led by Prof. A. J. Dene, was grand.

and was another surprise to the visitors. It was a large, clean, yet the time and expression was perfect. Mrs. Sarah Clayton, who sang the solo, rendered it beautifully. During the singing the visitors sat motionless, not even a hand or foot moved, the most attentive listeners.

One of the visitors said that it could not have been sung better in any part of the United States.

FINE DINNER SERVED.

The party then went to the Hotel Harper, where a fine dinner was ready. The visitors enjoyed it. Everything was done, clear to the ice cream, and splendid coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Harper are to be congratulated. They were not asleep when the party came. After it was all over and the visitors were under the shade of the high arching trees waiting to pull out for Pachuco, our reporter asked several of them how they were pleased.

They all said that they were delighted from the beginning to the end of their visit in the colony. Several of them were greatly surprised with what they had seen, and all were most favorably impressed and had seen a people that make the nation better for their being in it.

It was a timely affair. The visitors would have enjoyed staying longer, and the cordial, big hearted, Columbia Juarez people would have gladly had them do so. It could not have been better.

CATARRH OF PELVIC ORGANS NOT EASILY DETECTED.

Physicians Frequently Mistake Pelvic Catarrh For Some Other Disease.

Pe-ru-na, the Unfailing Remedy for These Complaints.

Pelvic Catarrh Had Made Life Miserable—Pe-ru-na Gives New Life

Mrs. Fannie Henderson, 201 First avenue, Seattle, Wash., Past Grand Worthy Vice Templar, I. O. G. T., writes:

"I was in a wretched condition for over nineteen months, suffering with the troubles peculiar to women, until life lost its charms and everything seemed black to me.

"I suffered with chronic inflammation, was morbidly sensitive, and so nervous and irritable that I was a burden to those around me. "If I was out of bed one day, I would be in bed two or three days after.

"I was no use to myself or my family. Only a source of misery and expense.

"Peruna relieved me and cured me in a few short months. I had hardly dared believe that my cure was permanent, but having now enjoyed the best of health for over eight months, I feel that I am entirely cured.

"Your medicine conquers that shattered condition of the system so common among women, removes that tired feeling and gives new life."

This is exactly what Peruna will do. It does not relieve temporarily, but cures permanently.

Gratitude to Dr. Hartman and Pe-ru-na. Mrs. A. L. Orison, 1063 E. Franklin street, Richmond, Va., writes:

"After three months' trial of your remedy, I am cured of painful menstruation.

Considerable enthusiasm has been aroused in the matter, and the trustees have no fear but that the entire amount will be raised at next Sunday's meeting. T. D. Johnson, an air of solemnity and sincere respect was plainly noted. They felt that they were among a people who feared God and loved Him for guidance in a good life.

Several leading members have already given notice of their intention to subscribe in various amounts from $100 to $500. The lot will be divided into 626 squares at $1 each, and every member and friend is invited to participate in the sale. C. J. McNitt will act as salesman.

The regular morning service will be made short to allow time for the proposed sale. The First Baptists will aim to enlarge their church's influence, and thus quell of unity exemplified in the recent consolidation of the Northern and Southern Baptists at Kansas City and St. Louis is having its echo here as well as elsewhere in the denomination.
