Coming Here to Investigate Deep Creek Railroad Scheme.

items From Vernal-Tintic District-Park City Notes-Week at Silver City.

Word has been received from the New York capitalists to whom the Deep Creek railroad scheme has been presented, which states that experts will reach Salt Lake City about January 10th, for the purpose of visiting Deep Creek to confirm the tonnage estimates already set before the eastern gentlemen. A force of men will be sent out west about January 2nd. They will take an assay outfit along and prepare for the arrival of the experts. Once the tonnage question is settled satisfactorily, J. B. Weimer feels that the rest will be comparatively plain sailing. The gentlemen who are investigating the project are all connected with the iron mines and smelters of Lake Superior, Ohio and Pennsylvania, and are the kind of men, it is stated, who will push the Deep Creek railroad project to a finish when they learn of the immense ore deposits out there. Although this is not the best season for seeing the country and forming an estimate of its value, Mr. Weimer anticipates no difficulty in presenting a sufficiently encouraging investment before the representative of the eastern capitalists. It is estimated that with the railroad established, $16 ore would just about play even, and it will therefore be the ob-ject of the expert, besides estimating tonnage values from the ore bodies in eight, to also estimate the value of those ore bodies. The Jesse Weimer company have already bonded the old grade extending from Ninth West to beyond Garfield.

Contracts are being let for retracking and retimbering the main tunnel of the North Mountain company's mine at Egan canyon, preparatory to resuming operations through the tunnel instead of the shaft. At the Star mine after the breakage of the big pump, a smaller one was utilized which keeps the water in check, and the men are put on again. New discoveries of rich ore are being made in the raises and the outlook surposses all expectations. One miner informed your correspondent that there was rough ore discovered to keep the present force of men at work five years. In addition to the ore to supply the mill, several teams are kept hauling rich ore from the mine direct to the railroad.-White Pine News.

Lincoln Strike - Operations at Checkmate in which Salt Lake Men Are Interested.

H. W. Dorman has just returned to the city from Pearl, where he has been looking after his various interests the past two weeks. He says, since the roads have become solid, there is considerable activity in the camp. He has three eight-hour shifts sinking the new shaft on the Middleman, and is pushing the development on the I. X. group besides having the annual assessment work done on several other claim Mr. Dorman claims the new strike in the Lincoln mine in the new shaft is very fine. The Checkmate's five-stamp mill is crushing twenty-four tons per day, pro-ducing five tons of concentrates. The mill is built for ten stamps-shafting. pulleys, Wilfley tables, battery, frame and power ready for the other five stamps. The power is a 28-horse-power gasoline engine. The mill is pronounced by all who have had the pleasure of going through it to be one of the most complete mills in all details in the State. Mr. Dorman is very proud of the output of the Checkmate mine. Six miners supply the mill with ore. He says: "Beat that if you can." He claims there are other properties in the camp that are as valuable as the Checkmate, if only developed. Major Reed has secured a bond on the Silver Wreath mine and begun operations. The Silver Wreath is owned by Captain Bledsoe and Fremont Wood, and is a very promising claim. Bledsoe and Wood have put in a large supply of timbers and supplies, and will work a force of men all winter. At present they are driving a crosscut to cut the Middleman ledge. It will cut it in about 300 feet from the present face of the tunnel.-Boise Statesman.

rranging to start systematic develop-Sent of the ground. S. M. Mitchell, one of the owners of the Dewey group of claims, lying just north of the Gladstone, is showing some assays from the face of the twenty-five foot tunnel now being run on that ground, giving average values of $6.18 per ton in gold. He informs us the ledge shows good and strong at the point encountered. The Columbia mine on Lion Hill is taking out some of the finest chloride silver-lead ores that have been seen in this city for a long time. This erty, under the management of Superintendent Slawson, has been radically chainged, and the work prosecuted in a systematic manner. Instead of follow-ing small streaks of ore, he has, during the past two months, run a crosscut into the hill, cutting all the strata, and we are informed by miners working in the neighborhood that he has opened up a fine body of ore. We were unable to see Mr. Slawson to ascertain the particulars .- Mercur Miner.

It is stated that reduction works of 100 tons capacity is to be erected in the spring in the Beaver Lake district. P. J. Quealy, general manager of the Kemmerer coal mines in Wyoming, has arrived in the city from a visit to Oregon King mine, in which he is interested and on which development work is being done. Mr. Quealy says

The Miner Reviews the Week's Operations at the Mines.

Billy Knight and Fred Mathews began work yesterday on a contract for the Minnie-Argentum Mining Co., to drive a tunnel 62 feet to tap the ledge on the Henrietta claim.

Water has been encountered in the cross-cut from the 330 level in the El Rey, and a No. 7 Cameron pump has been installed. There is about sixty feet of water in the main shaft.

The drift through which the Apex is being developed, broke into a cave Wednesday, the extent of which has not yet been determined. Joe Biddlecome was over Tuesday from the Diamond Cons. at Diamond, and reports some copper ore of a strip-ping value in the cross-cut on the 300 level.

Holdup and Thieves Arrested-Paid for His Fun-Funeral of Philip Tout.

This morning as some young men were skating on Ogden river, Arthur Anderson, the popular sign writer, broke through the ice into the cold water, nearly over his head. He endeavored to get up on the ice again, but it would not hold him. One of the young men on the bank of the river rescued him, pulling him to the shore with a long pole. Had his companion not been on the bank to have assisted him, it is very possible he would have lost his

On Saturday evening at about six o'clock as John Reinboldt was going from his work two men stepped up to him and demanded his money. He told them he had none, but they nevertheless went through his clothes, but found nothing of value. The police were notl-fied of he bold occurrence and a description of the men was given. Officer Murray a few hours later located the men and placed them under arrest. They will have their hearing tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock if all the evidence can be obtained to convict them. Elsinore, Sevier Co., Dec. 24 .- The orlgin of the fire has not been ascertained. fire was discovered by Kate Marquardson about 12:20 a. m., she gave the alarm and in a few minutes quite a crowd had gathered. Some of our young men, and women too, did herole work with buckets on the roof and ceiling of the co-op. The object of all was to save the store and thereby also saving the whole row of buildings on Main street, including the meeting house. The hot battle was fought desperately for about an hour when our brave citi zens had the fire under control, not without considerable damage to the Co-op. The printing office was entirely consumed. The building has been on fire several times before but somehow the element was not successfull till now. The owner of the building and press, Mr. C. W. Snyder, with some friends, were in the building the night of the fire having a good time with beer and other refreshments, and they left the office about thirty minutes before the fire was discovered. Some think the fire originated from a defective flue while others suggest that a cigar stump or a match thrown on the floor among the papers may have started the fire.

this week over the Rio Grande Western for the Anchor mill. A new lathe and other machinery for the Silver King company arrived over the Union Pacific this morning.

John O'Donovan came up from Salt Lake Wednesday on business connected with his many mining interests.

the Morris Dusseldorf, manager of Comstock mine, was in the Park Thursday, and drove up to his property. He hopes of soon putting a force of men at work.

Workmen on the West Valeo property the past week have encountered several stringers of good-looking ore, which leads them to believe that the main body is not far off, and may be encountered at any blast.

The new Anchor mill has been wired, the engine set, and everything put in readiness to place the large dynamo, which is expected to arrive each day. The whole plant and workings will be thoroughly lighted.

On Monday the Daly-West mill shut down for a matter of twenty-four hours for the purpose of connecting the putting the recently added machinery in motion. Some more machinery for this mill arrived this week.

The writer gets it from a reliable source that plans and specifications for a large modern sampler of the most approved pattern are under consideration by at least two large Park City companies, and that at no far distant day work on the site would begin. While the site has not been made public, it will not be far from the camp's limits. Another sampler for the Park would indicate more than usual activity in mining circles, for samplers are only built when the demand calls for them, not for experimental purposes, and we hope there will be no hitch in the proceedings.

his home in the East. It is generally believed that their methods of handling the smelter have been unsatisfactory to the company. hence the present action. The shipment of the high grade ore to Carter continue all winter and coke will be loaded back. By spring there will be a big supply on hand and then it is thought "things will hum" at the Dyer and copper builion will be turned out at a great rate. It is estimated that there is at least $250,000 worth of ore in sight now and development work is making more satisfactory discoveries all the time.

Referring to the possibilities of the future as regards Utah's mineral resources the Engineer and Miner has the following:

We refer particularly to such minerals as the hydrocarbon deposits, which are of the most extensive and most voluminous character

"Already Utah has made a respectable output of asphaltum, and for some years past important asphalt contracts have been filled for the city and suburbs of Chicago by material shipped
