Rather, there is but one "royal the cause of his disapproval of the enroad." It is the same remedy that has dorsement given by the NEWS is that it contains what purports to be a statement of the origin and character of the religion of the Latter-day Saints. it has hardly the merit of even being a distorted presentment, being a wholesale tissue of incongruous rubbish. It is a fabrication, the warp of which is falsehood and the woof absurdity.

The gentleman very naturally, requests us to give an explanation of the matter. It is due to him and the public, more especially to those who possess copies of the work containing the scandalous article in question. We learn that the volume in possession of the correspondent and the one to which we alluded in complimentary terms are identical with the exception of the statement in reference to, the religion of the Saints. The book was first introduced into Utah some time ago, and the attention of the publishers was called to the absurd, inaccurate and unjust character of the article concerning which our correspondent complains, and they at once about the rectification of set the wrong by procuring a statement consistent with truth, and inserted it in a new edition. The book as it is now presented for sale is, so far as we know, unobjectionable, especially in its treatment of the Latter-day Saints and their religion. The article on that subject is ably and intelligently written, and is consequently clear and comprehensive. From what we have said, our correspondent and all others possessing the original edition of the book, when they see that we were treating upon the later one, will observe that we were correct in stating that it would be a useful work in hands of the youth.

[COMMUNICATED.] "FAITHFUL ARE THE WOUNDS

OF A FRIEND."

BECAUSE the Latter-day Saints warn the inhabitants of the earth of the calamities and sorrows that are coming there are many who affect to regard them as the "enemies of mankind" and who charge them, if not with being the direct authors of the troubles they foretell, yet with rejoicing at every affliction that befalls their fellows. It is possible that there are some persons so completely destitute of humanity and the spirit of the Gospel as to rejoice in the contemplation of the sufferings of their fellow mortals and in the anticipation of the terrible scenes that seem to be nigh at hand. But if there are any such persons connected with the "Mormons" they are simply religious flends and are utter strangers to the spirit and objects of the religion they profess to, and may delude themselves into thinking they do, believe. The mission and business of the servants of God in all ages has been to be "saviors of mankind." That is the mission of the Latter-day Saints, and I personally know of some among them, probably there are hundreds, who would willingly sacrifice their lives if by so doing they could save even this nation from the awful afflictions that await its citizens in consequence of their pride and wickedness. So far from hating the world, the true Latter-day Saint regards the whole human family as his brothers and sisters, as the children of one common Father, and desires the wellare and happiness of all. Call them "fools," are honestly jand self-sacrificingly laboring to save the world, physically as well as spiritually. Over and over agaia, both in speech and writing, has it been proclaimed by them that the time was coming when generosity of its spirit?

But so it has ever been. No doubt ceived, the fact remains, that they have robic self-laudation require that liverance and the possession of earthly things, they overlooked and ignored kind of material to make an impression in any quarter of the presence of the spiritual freedom of the Gospel the greater deliverance offered them them that the time was coming when they would have to feed even their enemies who would flee to them for safety from the distress and anarchy and bloodshed that will yet prevail, Does this look like rejoicing in the calamities of others? To the unbe-lieving it may seem very absurd; but who can deny the benevolence and mental and substantial support of the intrinsic greatness. So far as the NEWS is concerned, it proposes to struggie on in the face of an opposi-ted to all natures and conditions. The test applied to one man in the days of
