

is fighting the Chinese at the extreme limit of their empire. Bokhara seems to be the bone of contention. It is altogether probable that the Russian Emperor will, before long, be compelled, in self defense, to take towards Bokhara the same course he has recently taken towards Khiva, and permanently occupy the Territory and reduce it to the condition of a Russian dependency.

MEMPHIS.—There were twenty-one yellow fever interments to-day. The Odd Fellows are treating twenty-four yellow fever patients. They have lost eight, have exhausted their supply of funds and ask help from the Odd Fellows' lodges throughout the country. The St. Andrews Society earnestly appeal to the brethren elsewhere for pecuniary aid in nursing their sick. They have had several deaths. In response to the appeal of the citizens of the executive committee contributions began coming freely by telegraph orders to-day.

WASHINGTON, 3.—The mint at Philadelphia, under orders from Washington, is coining double eagles at the rate of ten millions a month. The California mint is running at its full capacity on gold coinage, and trade dollar bullion to the amount of three million dollars has been added to the fund of the assay officers at New York, to pay promptly all deposits of sovereigns.

BRUSSELS, 3.—The Echo department says it has private information from Paris, that a monarchy will certainly be proclaimed, on the proposition of a majority of the Assembly.

NEW ORLEANS, 3.—Two Catholic priests of the Society of Jesus left to-day for Shreveport. Twenty female nurses left for Memphis this morning, sent by the Howard Association.

By the order of President Grant five thousand army rations will be shipped to Shreveport to-morrow, for the benefit of the sufferers. There were seventeen interments at Shreveport, to-day, from yellow fever.

WESTERN.

SAN FRANCISCO, 3.—The preparations were completed for the execution of Capt. Jack, Schonchin, Boston Charley, Black Jim, Rancho and Slalux, at 10 o'clock to-day at Fort Klamath. The scaffold is a large contrivance, and is erected just outside the Fort. Some delay may be occasioned from the fact that the order for the execution will have to be translated for the condemned. They seemed much depressed by the knowledge of their impending fate. The execution of the Modocs is to be in presence of the Klamath and other Indians, for the purpose of making a wholesome impression on their minds. Whites from all parts of the country are on the spot to witness the tragedy of Jack's death. The remainder of his tribe will not be surrendered to the Oregon authorities, but will be transferred to Fort Russell, Wy. Territory. The remnant amount one hundred and fifty-six men, women and children. Captain Hausbruck will escort them to the Fort with the fourth artillery.

WASHINGTON, 3.—The sentence of Slaluk and Barnecho, Modoc Indians, has been commuted to imprisonment for life, on Alcatraz Island, San Francisco harbor.

JACKSONVILLE, OGN. 3.—Your correspondent left Fort Klamath this morning at 10.30 o'clock, and by hard riding arrived here a few moments ago. The following is a report of the execution of Jack and band; Boston Charley and Black Jim were led on the scaffold first, and Schonchin next. They trod on it with apparent indifference and iron nerve, having evidently resolved to die as brave as they have lived. Jack went easily up the stairway, but looked wretched and miserable. The manacles had been struck off, but their arms were securely pinioned with cord. At precisely 9.45 a. m., the interpreters, Capt. O. C. Applegate and David Hill, explained to the culprits the nature of the order to be read to them by the adjutant, and at 10 a. m. adjutant Kingsbury read the orders promulgating the sentence of the commission, and the President's order thereon, with the orders of the Secretary of War and the Department commander on the premises. The two reprieved prisoners, Bancho and Slolux, yet stood on the ground in front of the scaffold, shackled and under guard. During the reading the pinioned victims were seated on the platform of the scaffold, with their feet on the drop, listening anxiously, but of course not understanding a word of it. The reading occupied ten minutes, then the adjutant read the order of commutation in the case of Bancho and Slolux, and the poor fellows were taken back to the stockade, evidently happy at not accompanying the others to the happy hunting grounds. The chaplain then offered an earnest and fervent prayer for the souls of the culprits, which was listened to attentively. At 10.15 the fatal nooses were placed around the necks under the direction of Capt. Hoge. It was necessary to cut off a little of Jack's long hair, which was in the way of the rope. Capt. Hoge then bid farewell to the prisoners, and the black caps were placed over the heads of all the culprits. It must have been an awful moment. At 10.20 they stood on the drop. The rope was cut by the assistant at a signal made with Capt. Hay's handkerchief. The bodies swung round and round, Jack and Jim apparently dying easily, but Boston Charley and Schonchin, suffering terrible convulsions, repeatedly drew up their legs. The two others seemed to die almost instantly. At 10.28 their pulses were felt by Captain Hoge and as I write they are swinging lifeless in the air. As the drop fell with a terrific dead thud four poor wretched human beings fell into eternity, and a half smothered cry of horror went up from the crowd of over five hundred Klamath Indians who witnessed the awful spectacle. Wails of deep and bitter anguish went up from the stockade, where the wives and children of the poor fellows had a fair view of the shocking scene. The coffins, six in number, had been placed directly in the rear of the gallows, two of them destined to be unoccupied. As the order commuting the sentence of Bancho and Slolux only arrived at 10.30 p. m. last evening, preparations had been made for them likewise. An application was made this morning by the Sheriff of Jackson county for the custody of the Indians indicted by the grand jury to Gen. Wheaton, but it was refused.

VISIT TO THE FAIR.

SECOND DAY.

When we visited the Territorial Fair this morning we found the collections in the various departments largely increased, but still, in most instances, far from complete.

Whilst viewing the department devoted to ladies' work we were almost bewildered with the numerous specimens of useful and ornamental work here exhibited; and we feel satisfied that the awarding committee have had no easy task, where so much is worthy of consideration, especially, as occurs in many cases, where there is scarcely any choice in the material, in the workmanship or in the taste displayed by the fair exhibitors. There are specimens of embroidery in silk and worsted, of tatting, of crochet, of braiding, of knitted work, of home-made straw hats and bonnets, and quilts, ottoman covers, curtains, anti-macassars and a thousand and one articles of taste and ornament with which the ladies know so well how to adorn their persons and their homes. Nor must we forget the cases, etc., of wax flowers, whose beauties elicited many commendations. The displays of dress-making and millinery are very conspicuous portions of this department.

We were particularly pleased with the numerous samples of work-embroidery, knitting, crochet, wax flowers, etc., marked as the results of the industry of young ladies of very tender years. On the other hand we noticed a pair of leather gloves, labeled, "Made by Mrs. Simmons, aged 81 years," and some beautiful specimens of lace edging, collars, etc., the work of "Margaretha Johnson, of the 20th Ward, 70 years old."

Since our visit yesterday we noticed the following additional collections, which we deem worthy of special notice—

A number of specimens, consisting partly of picks, miners' scoops, staples, harness buckles, toggles, etc., of home manufactured iron, the work of Mess. Devey & Son of Alpine City.

Basket work by J. S. Smith of this City.

Brick, tiles, etc., from the Bountiful Co-operative Brick Yard, Charles Hayes, Supt.

Jeans from the Manufactory of Wilkinson & May, of this City.

Patent Glycerine Savon, from the new firm of Pugsley & Cannon, of this City.

Large assortment of crackers, etc., from the Utah Cracker Factory.

An enormous squash from Bountiful, weight 163 lbs.

An assortment of wheat, oats, corn, onions, apples and plums from Bear Lake. The oats and wheat in this collection are the best exhibited at the present Fair, the corn is also very fine.

We regret that the numerous fine specimens of grapes from Southern Utah have been badly damaged by the long journey over rough roads.

Mr. Jos. E. Johnson, of St. George, exhibits an excellent assortment of medicinal herbs.

One of the most crowded sections of the Fair grounds is the building occupied by the Deseret Telegraph Co. Not only is much interest manifested in the various electrical instruments, batteries, etc., but the good humored visitors, old and young, take great delight in the "shocking" experiences suffered by the unwary who have not learned to keep "hands off" where electricity abounds. This department is one of the most complete and instructive in the entire Fair.

The exhibition of horses is vastly superior, we may say one hundred per cent. better, than at any previous Fair. There are a number of competitors in each division, and the animals of each class are of very superior quality.

The same may be said of the horned stock. Every class is well represented, but the pure blooded Durham and Devon breeds predominate.

There is a marked improvement in sheep, both in quality and in the number exhibited, consisting principally of pure blooded Merino, Cotswold, Leicester and Lincoln breeds. A very interesting feature in this class is a pen of magnificent Angora goats.

In the class devoted to swine the exhibition is equally fine, though it does not show the marked improvement noticeable in the other classes of live stock.

The art and mineral department has received several additions since yesterday, among which is a splendid oil painting of Box Elder Canyon, which takes in a bird's eye view of the Salt Lake. It is well painted, showing much strength and power of style in the artist, whose name is Carl Dahlgren.

We noticed that Mr. Geo. M. Ottinger has been awarded the first prize medal for the best painting, and Mr. Dan. Weggeland the gold medal for the best six paintings.

Mr. Nathaniel Spence exhibited some beautiful specimens of imitations of woods and marbles, some of which were so natural as to be mistaken for the genuine article. This was particularly the case with the imitations of Californian laurel wood, which, both in point of color and character, would be difficult to surpass.

It is a matter of regret that Messrs. Morris & Son did not exhibit in this line this year, as their reputation as first class artists is well established. An apprentice of theirs, a young lad, named William Lloyd, had some good panels on display, which, considering the age of the artist, were highly creditable. An imitation of oak was especially good.

General Barnum exhibits his very valuable collection of mineral treasures, including some of the finest ores of Utah and surrounding territories.

There was an addition of cabinets and cases from the Museum, in one of which are some very rare shells and corals. The sea-horses, star fish and horse-shoe craw-fish are curiosities from the Atlantic.

At two o'clock this afternoon the races commenced at the track of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing Society, immediately east of the Jordan Bridge. A number of horses were entered for each race. The first advertised was for a purse of $100, free for all trotters and pacers, mile heats, three in five.

THE FAIR RACES.—A large crowd of spectators assembled at Agricultural Park on Friday to witness the races.

The first was a trotting match, for a stake of $100, best three in five, mile heats. The roadsters entered for this race were H. P. Kimball's Honest Billy, Sharp S. Walker's Lady Hamilton, O. A. Collins' Bay Charley and B. Benham's Sheep. The race was won by Lady Hamilton, in the first three heats. Time 2:51, 2:49, 2:54.

Honest Billy drew a four-wheeled wagon, Lady Hamilton trotted in a sulky. The first named of the two being champion heretofore, was not allowed to run with a two-wheeled vehicle. Lady Hamilton had the advantage of the inside track. Honest Billy was behind in starting.

RUNNING RACE

for a stake of $50, mile heats, best two in three. Midnight Belle, a sorrel mare from Montana, owned by Mr. Hammond, and Mr. H. B. Clawson's Faugh-a-Ballagh were entered. This race was won by Midnight Belle, who got the inside track. First heat 1:53. In the second heat the first half mile, on the home stretch, Faugh-a-Ballagh ran well and was several rods in advance, when, in consequence of the crowd pressing on the track the rider lamed the horse and the latter flew the track, close to the judge's stand. The animal struck the pole of the hack, broke his rider's left leg, above the ankle, and also broke the axle-tree of Mr. Clawson's buggy.

Midnight Belle ran round the track and claimed the stake, without being timed.

GEO. MAXWELL, Register.

BY TELEGRAPH.

EASTERN.

NEW YORK, October 4th.
The Herald has a letter from Dundee, Scotland, stating that an important statement relative to the death of Captain Hall of the Polaris has been made by the second mate Morton, and given to the U. S. Consul there, and forwarded to the American government. Morton was Hall's attendant in his last illness, and has made statements, so says the Herald correspondent, implicating Dr. Russell in the death of Hall. He also intimates that Buddington coincides with Morton's statement.

PHILADELPHIA, 5.—Jay Cooke & Co., have completed their detailed statement of assets and liabilities, and in connection therewith have prepared a form of agreement for settlement, to be presented to their creditors for consideration. The main features of the agreement are as follows:—The members of the firm surrender all their partnership and individual property to a trustee, E. A. Rollins, late U. S. commissioner of internal revenue, will have the management of the estate, thus saving cost and expenses. Dividends will be made whenever the trustee has the cash in hand sufficient to be divided, commencing soon after the agreement is approved by the creditors. The settlement may be made under a restriction which will guard perfectly the interests of the general body of the creditors. The creditors surrender no rights they now possess, but merely accept the advantages of the trust created for their benefit, and debtors can gain nothing except the surplus which they have to secure by an economical and judicious winding up of their estate. Full powers are given to the trustee, but he is to act under the control of the committee representing the creditors, consisting of M. Felton, late president of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad; Wm. C. Houston, and Delle Nebbet, Jr., president of the Corn Exchange Bank of Philadelphia. Negotiable certificates of interest of any creditor in trust will be given by the trustee after all the debts are paid in full. It is understood that the firm do not propose to call a general meeting of their creditors, as they have been doing business in three different cities, and their creditors are so scattered as to render such a meeting impracticable, they have, however, addressed a letter to each creditor, so far as known, submitting their proposition. Any creditor failing to receive such a notification can examine the papers at the office of the firm in Philadelphia, New York or Washington.
