FRAGMENTS.

A REWARD is offered for the recovery of a calf. See advt.
 GEORGE Goss leaves for Denver tomorrow, via the narrow gauge.
 A RUNAWAY on First South Street this afternoon collected a large crowd, but did no damage.

The number of passengers arriving in Ogden to-day from the west was 212; 121 went east over the Union Pacific, and 91 via the D. & R. G.

The grand jury came into court to-day and reported having found four indictments under United States laws. Bail in each case was fixed at $700.

JOHN CROCKER was arrested for petty larceny this afternoon. He is accused of having stolen a washbasin and some other articles from Father Scanlan's.

The suit of Elias Morris vs. The Mammoth Mining Company consumed the time in the Third District Court to-day. Mr. Morris being on the witness stand, under cross-examination.

Is the suit of Ellen A. Squires vs. Henry Squires, for divorce and alimony, E. T. Sprague was appointed referee to take testimony and report the law and the facts in the case.

Those who have heretofore dumped rubbish, etc., in the streets will save themselves trouble hereafter by putting on the ground purchased for that purpose by the city, located west and a little to the south of the White Bridge over Jordan.

Night before last three attempts at burglary were made in Ogden. The first place visited was the residence of A. C. Smith, and shortly after Ambrose Greenwell, Sen., was called on. Neither of these houses was entered, and the attempts made to open windows disturbed the inmates. The house of Richard Balfanz, next to Mr. Greenwell's, was entered by the kitchen window, there being three of the marauders. Most of the rooms were looked into, when finally the scoundrels were alarmed by the screams of a lady, and hastily decamped. Their actions were of such a nature as to cause a suspicion that instead of being burglars, they belonged to the "spotters" that flourish in Ogden at present.

LOCAL NEWS.

Perry's Literary Journal.—The contents of the April number of this excellent magazine are of unusual interest. The first article is the third and concluding paper on "The last days of Washington's army at Newburgh"; then come "The Cost of Ignorance," "Are the Children at Home?" (poem), "About Starving Children," "Hilbert's Claim," and "An Indian Plantation in Bengal." An article from the able pen of F. A. Ober, on "A Day in the Museum of Mexico," is embellished with engravings of "The Sacrificial Stone," "Aztec, Cycle and Calendar," "Don's Wife" (poem), "Dinner-table," "The Lady Alicia's Woe," "Literary Notices" and "Salmagundi" complete the number.

Witness Found.—Yesterday deputies searched the homes of Henry Grow and A. Milton Munster, for witnesses in the Ridges case, but no one wanted was at either place. The house of Mrs. Agatha Ridges was also visited today, but no one was at home. Last evening, however, Mrs. Ridges returned, as she had concluded that it would be better, if she was wanted as a witness, to be on hand. Shortly after she went home two deputies called at the house and served a subpoena on her to appear before the grand jury at 10 o'clock to-day, and to require bail in $200 for her appearance. Mr. Henry Grow became surety for the witness, who was ushered into the presence of the grand inquirers this morning. She was afterwards required to furnish $200 bail for her appearance when wanted.

Attempted Suicide.—Last night an old man named Bailey was arrested by the police for drunkenness and profligacy, and was placed in the city jail for safe keeping until this morning. Some time after he had been locked in some of the other prisoners heard a peculiar noise in his room, and finding that something was wrong, raised the alarm. Officer Thomas quickly entered Bailey's cell, when he discovered the old man hanging against the wall, the blood gushing from his nose and ears. The officers promptly cut the would-be suicide down, and it was found that his life was not extinct, though a few minutes longer would have told a different tale. Bailey had torn a blanket into strips, and fastening it around one of the bars across the door, had passed the strip around his neck and firmly tied it close up; he then jumped off the bed and hung there, his toes barely reaching the floor. He was taken such care of as was necessary, and this morning he was recovered and is ready to come into court for trial. This is the second attempt Bailey has made in the same cell at destroying his own life.

A New Incorporation.—The last but by no means the least important of the projects lately set on foot for establishing incorporated companies for carrying on business of various kinds is that in connection with the Co-operative Furniture Company, whose place of business is on the corner of South and West Temple Streets, immediately west of the Assembly Hall. The company, of whom Messrs. Marks, Williams, Neve and Schoenfeld have been the principal members, have built up a very good business, both in the line of manufacturing and importing furniture, and now find the increasing demands of their trade require additional capital and extension of facilities, to secure which and add to the prestige and inducement which the firm already enjoys, it has been decided to increase the number of their stockholders and incorporate with a capital stock of $50,000. The new organization will be effected some time during the month of April, or not later than the 1st of May, and will include as stockholders: S. R. Marks, W. N. Williams, S. P. Neve, F. Schoenfeld, O. H. Pettit, H. J. Grant, A. H. Cannon, John Henry Smith and V. M. Lyman of this city, also Thomas H. Cutler and John Beck of Lehi, W. C. Ryland of Grasterville, Mark J. Joffe of Heber City, John Jones of Spanish Fork, Lyman G. Woods of Springville, and a number of other substantial business men, including several country dealers in furniture. A branch house of the company is also about to be established at Nephi, and others probably will be erected in other parts of the Territory. It affords us pleasure, as it must do all who are interested in the prosperity of the Territory and its inhabitants, to learn of such worthy men as compose this company uniting their interests and establishing various branches of business upon a permanent and substantial basis, and to know that they are succeeding in that which they undertake.

MARY ANDERSON.

THE CELEBRATED AMERICAN ACTRESS SCORES A BRILLIANT TRIUMPH AT THE THEATRE.

The reputation of Miss Mary Anderson as an actress and a beauty was such as to raise the expectations of Salt Lake Theatre-goers to a height little less than sublime. To say, therefore, that in her performance of last evening she equalled, and in the minds of many exceeded anticipation, is to say at her feet a very pretty tribute, all the more beautiful because strictly true. The house was filled in every accessible place, the uppermost circle only being closed, for the obvious purpose of shutting out the noisy gallery element, or forcing them down among higher prices and more orderly society. Every seat in the parquette and first circle, and many chairs had been reserved before the doors opened, and hundreds of auditors remained standing all the evening.

The comedy of "Pygmalion and Galatea" depends mainly for success upon its opportunities for staccato or classic posing, though a rich vein of Gilbertian satire and humor runs through it. The pulling aside of the curtains concealing the statue "Galatea" was the signal for a round of applause, tempered by silent admiration on the part of many, and as the statue of grace and beauty burst upon the audience, there were many of either sex ready to assert that they had never before seen anything so lovely. The awakening of the marble statue to life was a rare piece of acting, but only one of many tender and graceful touches throughout the play. Miss Anderson had not been on the boards five minutes before she had captivated all beholders and thoroughly dispelled the impression, founded on hearsay and rumor, born no doubt of jealousy, that her talent was not equal to her beauty. Her face, her form are truly classic, Grecian in every touch and movement, and her voice is a perfect gem. Her voice has a universal scope, ranging with perfect ease from solemn depth, almost masculine in its resonance, to heights where it ripples forth with all the sweetness of a flute. Her elocution is well and faultless, and in keeping with the poetry of her movements and the grace and beauty of her face and form.

But it was not as "Galatea," charming as her impersonation was, that Miss Anderson made her most favorable impression. The part of "Clarice" in the afterpiece, "Comedy and Tragedy," gave her versatility full scope and stamped her as a genius in the minds of all. This little comedy was written expressly for her by Mr. W. S. Gilbert, after seeing her as "Galatea," also one of his creations. Her acting, though not unequalled, was such as to class her among the great actresses of the day. Like all such acting, it evades the descriptive power of either pen or tongue, and must be seen and heard by those who would appreciate it. The applause was almost incessant, at times tremendous, and Miss Anderson was brought before the curtain every time it fell.

She is supported by an English company of fair merit, and carries her own orchestral leader as well. To-night, "As You Like It"—standing or sitting—will be the engagement. Another large house is already booked.

That Fire.—A gentleman from this city happened to be a guest at the Green River Hotel on the line of the D. & R. G. W., on Sunday night, at the time it took fire, and has related to us some particulars concerning it. He was sleeping in one of the upper rooms, and after the fire had got under way he was awakened from a sound sleep by Mrs. Besley, who was one of the first to discover the fire, with true heroism, remained in the building awaiting the inmates and making sure of their safety, for fear of her own danger, until it was impossible for her to get down the stairway and she had to descend by a ladder from the roof. Her anxiety for the safety of our informant, whom she imagined was still in his room, as she had not seen him emerge therefrom, led her to induce a man to ascend by means of a ladder to the window of the room, break it in and enter. He did not find him there, but he pitched the bedding out and it was saved.

There was one lady guest in the house and four servant girls, who escaped in their night clothes with cloaks or such other articles as they could hastily seize to cover themselves with. Most of the male guests lost everything except the clothes they had on when they fled from the building. Mrs. Besley fortunately secured part of her wardrobe, and her husband saved his papers, books and other valuables, but the furniture and other effects were all entirely consumed with the building. The fire started at 2:45 a.m. and by 4 o'clock the house and a quarter afterwards, the building was a mass of coals.

There are a few ranchmen and section hands located thereabouts, perhaps a dozen houses in all, and among these the sufferers by the fire were cared for, a collection of articles of wear appeared for the benefit of the ladies being immediately taken up. The westward train came along at 8:20 in the morning, and was boarded by the lady guest, our informant, and the four unknown servant girls. Two of the latter stopped at Pleasant Valley to renew their scanty wardrobe and others, whose homes were in Washup, proceeded on to Ogden.

Raid of Deputies.—Deputy marshals made a raid on Franklin, Oetida County, Idaho, early yesterday morning, and searched two houses for S. R. Parkinson, a bastard and son of John Hawkes and W. Wickham, who had been finding anyone they wanted. They arrested Thomas Parkinson, a boy, however, because they thought he was going to notify some one of their doings, and Deputy Green called P. C. Parkinson a bastard and a son of a bitch because he questioned their authority to arrest a boy who was committing no offense. The boy Thomas evidently not caring to trust himself in the clutches of such fellows after the experience of his brother, who is now undergoing a year's imprisonment on a trumped-up charge of securing a person who was wanted by the officers, made his escape from the deputies, so they had their trouble for nothing.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met in regular session at 7 o'clock last evening, Mayor Armstrong presiding.

Petitions for two retail liquor licenses were received and granted. An appeal for permission to peddle the products of his own knitting machines free of license, as he used only home-made material, referred to the committee on license. The Mayor and City Attorney presented a report in relation to the Salt Lake and Fort Douglas Railroad. They state that in accordance with instructions from the Council they had prepared a resolution reciting the terms on which the railroad was granted to the railroad company, one of which was that in case it failed to perform certain acts within a specified time, the franchise should be declared to be void and if after sixty days' notice had been given and the work still remained unperformed the city might take possession of the road bed. The resolution, which provided that the Auditor should be instructed to serve the company with this notice, and that steps should be taken to carry its provisions into effect, was adopted.

The committee on license reported favorably on the petition of W. C. Graham, asking a three months' free license, on the petition of J. A. Adair, asking for a similar grant; adopted. Also, on the petition of J. J. Newton, making a similar request; adopted. The committee on finance reported that they had examined and approved the Auditor's quarterly report; adopted and reported ordered published. The committee on streets and sidewalks to whom had been referred the petition of Agnes Schwartz, asking that the sidewalk between the Continental Hotel and the Fourteenth Ward school house be graveled, reported the work done.

The committee appointed to consider the Dry Bench petition, and the following report, which was unanimously adopted: SALT LAKE CITY, March 20th, 1890. To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council of Salt Lake City: Gentlemen—Our attention having been directed to the condition of the large brick structure known as the Empire Mill site, in City Creek Cañon, the Mayor, members of the committee on waterworks and the Superintendent of Waterworks and Watermaster, visited the locality early this morning and found that the structure, and the past winter have to some extent damaged portions of said building. After a careful and thorough investigation, it was our unanimous opinion that the building could be advantageously used in connection with the waterworks system of the city, with the comparatively small expenditure of a stand-pipe might be erected in one portion of the building, which, when completed, would furnish sufficient capacity of some 20,000 gallons, and by extending and connecting the present mains to these tanks, pressure would be increased to some thirty pounds to the inch at the Eagle Lake and 120 pounds at Fifth South Street. Such improvement would be of great utility and would not be so costly as some others which have from time to time been proposed, and in the opinion of the Council, for accomplishing similar results. That pure, wholesome water should be supplied to citizens on the bench lands, northward of the city, is a matter which the Council, unhesitatingly concede. It is also patent, that if additional pressure in the mains is not promptly secured, our present water works, as a protection in case of fire, will be of little or no value. In consideration of these problems that have been for some time past, and are to-day, urgently demanding solution, we suggest that steps be at once taken to protect the structure in City Creek Cañon above mentioned, by erecting it with a substantial roof, and that plans and estimates be obtained for the construction of a stand-pipe, necessary tanks, flumes, water mains and all pertaining thereto, looking to extending the water works system to the bench lands and increasing the pressure in the present water mains so as to render them efficient for fire service. Understanding that the cost of roofing the building referred to need not necessarily exceed $1,500, we recommend that the Mayor be authorized to procure plans and estimates, and have the roof put on as soon as practicable, letting out the work in such way and manner as shall best serve the interest of the city. We also recommend that the Mayor and Superintendent of Water Works be authorized to cause to be procured plans and specifications for a stand-pipe and all necessary flumes, tanks, pipe etc., and that the Mayor be authorized to let the contract for the purpose above mentioned, and submit same as early as practicable to the Council.

Respectfully, FRANCIS ARMSTRONG, Mayor. THOS. G. WEBBER, City Attorney. ROBERT PATRICK, City Engineer. JOHN W. TAYLOR, JOHN W. LARSON, JOHN W. LARSON, Joint Commissioners. The new poll tax ordinance was taken up, read by sections the second time and passed by a large majority. Mr. Taylor stated that he had been informed from one of the gentlemen interested in the Salt Lake and Fort Douglas Railroad, in which he proposed that two weeks further time were allowed, the company desiring to have the necessary grading should be done. As the strength of this, Mr. Taylor moved to reconsider the vote adopting the resolution, which was done. The following appropriations were made: To the contingent fund of the Mayor, $50. To the contingent fund of the Mayor, $50. To the contingent fund of the Mayor, $50.

The Council then adjourned until Tuesday next. Logan Temple.—The Logan Temple will be closed on Saturday evening, April 3d, and opened again on Monday morning, April 12th.

Conference Rates.—The Conference rates already published will take effect on and after to-morrow, as does also the new time card, and tickets may be purchased at the general office of the U. C. Railway on Main Street.

Home-Made Guitars.—Mr. C. A. Carlson, of this city, is engaged in manufacturing guitars, for which he finds a ready sale through Coakley & Seelgrove, who have introduced to H. H. Sheldon, trumpeter at Fort Douglas. After going to the various music stores in the city, Mr. Sheldon pronounced the home-made article "the best toned instrument in the city."

A Correction.—Elder Charles Anderson writes to us from Elsinore, Sevier Co., as follows: "After having arrived home and enjoyed a kindly reception by relatives and friends, I read the issue (April weekly of March 10th) a report of my missionary labors among the Moais of New Zealand. I read with a slight error, which I beg leave to correct. In speaking of the gifts of the Spirit as manifested among the Moais, you printed it 'especially the gift of tongues,' which should read, 'especially the gift of tongues.' I am not prepared to state, however, that the gift of tongues was manifested among them, as the Moais are capable of exceeding faith."

The Magazine of Art for April. The frontispiece of the Magazine of Art for April is an admirable reproduction, in brown, of a head by Franz von Stuck. The magazine is a biographical and critical sketch of this interesting painter, which is illustrated with reproductions from his best works. The opening paper of the number describes an old English mansion, and makes one of its architectural features the view that is given of its exterior and interior. A chapter of direct and successful treatment of all forms of chronic disease, a specialty to which he has devoted thirty years of study and practice. Evidence of his success can be seen in the fact that he has cured above all letters of complaint, and orders for remedies should be addressed to Dr. J. C. Foster, at Lexington Avenue, New York City, N. Y. Consultation free. See to the sources of the disease in another place, deserves attention.

IN ART.

In Art, gives us not only the history of the subject, but several reproductions from the more famous masters who have treated this subject. The most interesting of these is a reproduction of this art industry in the United States, where it has attained an importance not reached elsewhere. To prove what he says Mr. Koehler gives engraved reproductions (extremely clear and accurate) of Miss Rosina Emmett's "Zuna Girl," and Miss Dora Wheeler's "Yugod Moon," and "Hilichaba." Unfortunately these engravings were made for private houses, and though they were on exhibition in New York, it is not likely that they will be seen by the Salt Lake public. The paper on "Art in Phenicia" follows this and then we are given a readable account of Boy's Shakespearean plays, and a number of notes complete an interesting number. The full page illustrations include the "Hilichaba" of the Tyrolean Highlands, after Delinger; a reproduction of one of Morillo's most famous paintings—Cassell & Company, New York, 1890, is a number $3.00 a year in advance.
