When De-laney heard that Jeff demanded $30,009 as his share, he said: "Jeffries distinctly told me he would fight Squires or any other white man in Rhyolite, or anywhere else, for a purse of $30,000, split 60 and 40, and on this clear understanding I closed with B. F. Tay-lor.

lor. "Do you suppose if Jeffries had wanted $20,000 for himself and had told me so that I would not have insisted on setting it, or at least as much as I could? "These Rhyolite people made themselves perfectly clear to me, and I think to Jef-fries, that they would not exceed a purse of $30,000, to be divided between the pair."

A pair of Missouri mules brought more money at a Lexington. Ky., sale than a fina thoroughbread. The mules brought $1,800, and at the same auction there was disposed of the splendidly bred race horse Bowling Brook for the meager pittance of $250. Bowling Brook's career on the turf, which was brilliant, was punctuated by his victory in a heart-breaking sirug-gie over the mighty Hamburg. That was in the Belmont stakes at Mor-ris park, and was one of the very few vaces in which Hamburg ran and met with defeat. Bowling Brook was regarded then as a champion, and the Morrisses, who owned the speedy racer, refused of-fers of many thousands of dollars for the animal.

fers of many thousands of donars for the animal. After his memorable defeat of Ham-burg, Bowling Brock was declared by his owners to be the peer of the mighty one, and offered to race their horse against Hamburg for any distance from a quarter of a mile to four miles, but the pair nerve again hitched up a race-ordinary, stake or match.

In presenting reasons why the bill should be passed. Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana, its author, said the power given to the postmaster-general under given to the postmaster-general under the statutes to issue fraud orders was not at all an administrative discretion. It rather partook of the nature of a police power for the regulation of the morals of the people of the country. Mr. Crumpacker contended that the whole fraud order law was an unusual proceeding in that if it had been con-fined to institutions and practises that were essentially fraudulent or were in-herently bad and criminal, such as green goods concerns, lotteries and the green goods concerns, lotteries and the like, as originally contemplated by Congress, there would be no complaint against it.

Mr. Mann of Illinois read from sevseemed to show that concerns were still doing business that ought to come within the scope of fraud orders. He said the bill was defective and that there should be no letting down of the bars to permit doubtful concerns to fleece the public.
