

TELEGRAPHIC. A RAILROAD RUMOR.

Extension of the Northwestern from Casper to Ogden.

WASHINGTON PARAGRAPHS.

World's Fair Laborers Expected to Strike.—Arrival of Hekla.—
Opium Smuggling.

Ogden, April 9.—The rumor that the Northwestern railway will extend its line from the present terminus at Casper, Wyo., through to Ogden, Utah, and some an outlet to the Pacific coast, received some verification yesterday when five cars of railroad and grading outfit passed through here for Casper. No definite knowledge of the company's intention can yet be secured.

THE APPROACHING TRANSFER OF THE CONGRESS.

Unusual interest is being taken in the approaching transfer of the Congress. Letters and telegrams have been received from prominent men all over the Transcontinental country which insure a large attendance.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Report on the Transference Between the Factions of the Chinese Nation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—Secretary Hoke Smith has received a dispatch from Agent Bennett on the present condition of the factions of the Chinese nation. The agent is convinced that the militia are being organized in view of the fact, he strongly urges that the nation be placed under martial law.

There is no change in the state of the Chinese war. The militia at Guangdong is apparently making no move. They keep pickets out, as if they expected an attack.

THE REINTEGRATION OF CHINA.

By direction of Secretary Carlisle the regulation of the treasury department in relation to the registration of Chinese laborers was today modified, requiring the attaching of photos to applications of Chinese laborers for a certificate of residence under the act of May 19, 1902, and requiring the affidavit of only one creditable witness to the fact of residence and the lawful status of the applicant in the United States.

PERMIT TO CUT TIMBER REVERSED.

Secretary Hoke Smith today reversed a decision regarding the permit recently granted to the Big Blackfoot Milling company and Little Root Development company to cut in part of the timber from government land in Montana. The tract selected by the first-named company was a strip of land extending fifty or sixty miles up both sides of the Big Blackfoot river. The tract secretary granted the permit January 10th, and upon a second petition the permit was extended February 13, 1903, to about twenty-two sections. Secretary Smith today reversed the last permit was originally granted, inasmuch as the requirement as to the advertising was not complied with.

NAVAL OFFICERS, NO NEWS CORRESPONDENTS.

In explanation of the paragraph in the navy regulations recently issued prohibiting naval officers from acting as correspondents of newspapers, it is said to have had its origin in the Chilean war. During the struggle, the story goes, two naval officers stationed at Valparaiso were in the pay of certain New York newspapers, to which they wired frequent bulletins news in cipher of the movements of each of the forces engaged. Balmaceda on one side and the provisional troops on the other were made aware of the movements of the other. The provisional forces subsequently complained of this to our government and alleged that they had been seriously embarrassed thereby. Whereupon the United States expressed its regret at what had passed, but rendered a repetition of the complaint impossible by causing the insertion of the now talked-of paragraph in the new regulations.

CONFIRMED BY THE SENATE.

James B. Egan of Louisiana, an ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary in France, Bartlett Tripp of South Dakota, as minister to Austria-Hungary, Thomas Crittenden of Missouri, as consul general at the city of Mexico, Asa D. Dickinson of New York, as consul at Nottingham; Charles B. Hamlin of Massachusetts, as assistant secretary of the treasury; William Edmund Curtis of New York, as assistant secretary of the treasury; John R. Hawley, as auditor of the treasury for the postoffice department; John M. Reynolds of Bedford, Penn., as assistant secretary of the interior; Lawrence Maxwell, Jr. of Ohio, as solicitor-general; John R. Hall of Georgia, as assistant attorney general.

Need For Relief.

New York, April 9.—It has long been the opinion in some quarters that it is impossible to feed a Chinaman. The question, however, will soon be passed upon in the courts. Lou Egan claims that Fu Chin, a Chinaman, has written letters teaching his business relations in this city and has been statements to custom house officials touching his importation of Chinese and Japanese fabrics which are wholly false. He wants the courts to put quietus on the pen of Fu Chin and compel him to pay $25,000 damages.

Getting Ready to Adjourn.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—The Senate has practically concluded its session and is now waiting for an instruction from the President to bring the extraordinary session to a close. All idea of passing upon questions involved in the appointment of three senators from the north-west has been abandoned and that matter will be left for disposition at the next session.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Governor Stone Withdraws the "West-ern Police Act."

New York, April 9.—The annual dinner of the board of trade and transportation was held this evening. The speakers were a distinguished one, all of the great fields of life being fully

THE IRON CHANCELLOR.

Bismarck Celebrates His Birthday and Makes Speeches.

Halt Measures Fight the Kaiser.—
German Socialists.—Bismarck
Chinese Cabinet Crisis.

Berlin, April 9.—The date of the second reading of the army bill depends upon the appearance of the report of the committee, which is now being prepared by Herr Gieseler, Bismarck's confidential secretary. The government organs declare that the report of a conflict between Chancellor von Caprivi and Dr. Gieseler, Bismarck's confidential secretary, is entirely unfounded. It is known, however, that Dr. Gieseler is embarrassed in arranging to meet on Saturday the demands, which amount to $5,000,000, and to meet the demand for $10,000,000 additional for the extension of the railway in Prussia. He is also granting government concessions to the opposition in both the mining and land law, and aims at getting further control of the ministry. Chancellor von Caprivi goes out of office. The chancellor's commercial department has been strengthened by official statistics issued at Vienna, giving the results of the first year's trade after the Austro-German commercial treaty.

JUDGE RICKS' DECISION.

Senator Morgan Insists that it is Not Valid.

New York, April 9.—A Paris cable in the World says that Senator Morgan has insisted on the validity of the decision of Judge Ricka of Toledo, that no employee of a railway company has a right to strike because it interferes with public business. "It is a singular fact," said he, "that I happened to have paid special attention to this very question. When the interstate commerce bill was up in the Senate I tried to get it amended so that it should not be made a law for the purpose of interfering with public business. This was overruled, and now Judge Ricka attempts to make the law his own. I do not believe the decision will stand. A special act of Congress is required to make an exception a decision valid."

The Hekla Arrives.

New York, April 9.—The overboard steamer Hekla arrived at night. It was 11:30 p.m. when the steamer dropped anchor off Quarantine.

Opium Smuggling.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 9.—Special Inspector Negey, who was sent here to examine into the alleged trade in opium and Chinese certificates, stated that he found what he came after and indicated that a number of customs officials on Puget Sound and in this district would soon have in their resignations.

The Santa Fe Strike.

TORONTO, Kan., April 9.—There were no developments in the strike of the locomotive men today. It was a Federal holiday, and the seriousness of it cannot be appreciated before tomorrow. The strikers are in a state of active and passive resistance and those of them who know the exact terms of the proposition submitted by the railway company admit that there is little, if any difference so far as wages are concerned. The real point at issue is whether the company shall enter into a written contract with the three unions controlling the shops or continue to deal with each as individuals as it has been doing.

Big Train Sympathize.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 9.—It has just been discovered here that a powerful syndicate is being formed which will rival the combined interests of the Carnegie organizations. The financial backing will come from various parts of this country and Europe and the capital stock will be $100,000,000.

WORLD'S FAIR STRIKE.

Every Union Man Expected to Quit Work.

CHICAGO, April 9.—A strike is now being called for by the union men working for the World's Columbian Exposition company. It is expected to quit work. It is estimated that in the two days and five thousand men will quit work.

The Building Trades council, which passed a resolution calling for a strike, addressed a long communication to the council of administration declaring that laboring men have been friendly to the fair and saying: "We in no way mean to charge anyone with bad faith, but we do mean to say that the agreement that night hours should constitute a day's work and all differences submitted to arbitration, was never fully adhered to by you, and at this time, as we look at the conduct of administration is about to really decline to arbitrate a difference between organized labor and the Exposition." The address then asks the council to submit the matter to three arbitrators, the decision to be rendered Wednesday next, both parties agreeing to accept the same.

The Rhode Island Legislature.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 9.—At the second attempt to elect members of the general assembly, made at Pawtucket, Cranston, East Providence and North Kingstown, the Democrats were successful except in East Providence and North Kingstown, where there was no choice. The result makes the legislature a tie, twenty-six seats remaining to be filled, and the bye elections will be held the coming week.

Hippy Pleads Not Guilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—W. C. Hippy, who shot Judge Mackay, was arraigned for trial before Judge Sewell today. As he had no lawyer, the court appointed Attorney Lammie to act for him. Hippy pleaded not guilty.

End of Miss Day's Journey.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 9.—Miss Edith Day returned to Portland this morning after the Northern Pacific, having completed her ten thousand mile round journey through the United States and Mexico.

Notes a Shocking Death.

WILMINGTON, Pa., April 9.—District Superintendent William H. Smith of the Lehigh Valley Coal company was the victim of a shocking death. He was shot while on duty at the coal mine. He was shot in the chest and the bullet entered his lungs. He died at once. He was a well-known man and his death was a great loss to the company. The cause of the shooting was a dispute over a piece of coal. The miner who shot him was caught and is now in jail. The company is now investigating the case.

Z. C. M. I.

Tenders a Hearty Welcome to All

CONFERENCE VISITORS

OUR MAGNIFICENT SALESROOMS

Are now Filled with the Latest Importations!

Including

Dress Goods, Fancy Notions, Kid Gloves, Flowers, Ribbons,

Hosiery, Underwear, Parasols, Millinery, All the Latest Styles.

Carpets, Curtains, Rugs and Mats, Wall Papers, Linoleum,

Queensware, Dinner Sets, Lamps in Variety, Fancy Goods, Clocks and Mirrors.

MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING, ETC.

BOOTS, SLIPPERS AND RUBBERS.

T. G. WEBBER, Supt.

The prices did not increase on quality.

The Hull strikers.

LONDON, April 9.—Two steamships put out into the river from Hull docks last night so as to be in a position to take on board their crews at a safe distance from the strikers. Two companies of dragoons, armed, formed on both sides of the docks two hours later and waited for the strikers. The police tried to keep the men back, but the strikers broke through the line repeatedly and began shouting the hoarse and vulgar taunts to the soldiers. The police tried to keep the strikers back, but the strikers broke through the line repeatedly and began shouting the hoarse and vulgar taunts to the soldiers. The police tried to keep the strikers back, but the strikers broke through the line repeatedly and began shouting the hoarse and vulgar taunts to the soldiers.

For Universal Holdings.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—In the absence of Judge Leeper, the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Missouri statehood, the governor, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live universal suffrage." At the end of the exercises, General Berman, commander of the troops of this district, presided over the exercises. As he passed down the line he was a staff of soldiers, led by a man with a large red flag, sang, shouting, "Long live