SUICIDED TO END HIS TROUBLES

C. W. Wiley is Driven to Desperation by Thoughts of Wife's Unfaithfulness.

HOT TIME IN CITY COUNCIL

Over Unauthorized Bill—Franchise Ordinance Unpassed by Mayor—Weddings—News Briefs.

Ogden, Sept. 5.—Driven to desperation by the thought that his wife had been unfaithful to him and had brought disgrace upon him, C. W. Wiley, former night yardmaster for the Southern Pacific at Sparks, Nev., took a large dose of morphine some time Monday morning at the Arcade rooming-house on Twenty-fifth street, with suicidal intent. He with his two sons, Frank and Tommie, aged 11 and 14 years, came to Ogden Sunday from Sparks, and took a room at the Arcade house. Monday morning he told the two boys to go and take a walk, which they did, returning about noon, when they found their father lying on the bed in a stupor. The landlady, Flora Robinson, was summoned, and seeing the condition of Wiley, called Drs. Egan and Condon, who administered antidotes, and succeeded in reviving him from his stupor. He was then left in the care of the landlady, with instructions to keep him awake, which was done until early in the morning Tuesday when he again fell into a sleep. This time Drs. Gordon and Forbes were called, and spent hours working on him. The taking of the poison was kept a secret until yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock when the sheriff's office and police were notified. Officers went to the room and worked with him, but all to no avail, and he died at 3 o'clock last evening. He was a member of the Eagles lodge of Emeryville, Kan.

From the following letters, which were found in his apartment by the officers it is clearly shown that he was determined to commit suicide:

"Ogden, Sept. 3, 1906. To the Coroner—This is a deliberate suicide and you will please hold no post-mortem over my body, and this note will exonerate me from all blame. Just notify the officers and they will see that I am properly taken care of."

"This trouble I had at Sparks I just simply can't stand. Notify all Odd Fellows that Wiley died for one of them; although no member, but have been done an awful wrong by one of their members, Fred Schneider."

"Respectfully,"

"Ogden, Sept. 3, 1906.—My dear babies, Frank C. Wiley and Tommie C. Wiley, papa bids you goodbye. Do not under any circumstances, return to the woman you have been calling

Special Correspondence

Provo, Sept. 5.—The following bids for laying wooden-stave pipe for the Provo city waterworks extension in Provo canyon were reported by the committee on waterworks extension at the meeting of the city council last evening:

Thomas P. Pierpont, Provo, $2.75 per linear foot.

The Danielson Manufacturing company, Logan, $2.14 per linear foot.

The Merrill Lumber company, Brigham City, $1.65 per linear foot.

The contract was awarded to the Merrill company with the modification of the specifications, however, that the city shall pay the expenses of keeping the pipe filled with water during the construction, as President Merrill and Secy. Merrill of the company explained, that through a misunderstanding, their company had not taken this matter into consideration in making the bid.

City Engineer Pack, in behalf of the Rock Canyon Irrigation company, presented the matter of the company furnishing the city with water for electric purposes. Referred to the committee on electric light.

On motion of Councilman Bott the committee on judiciary was asked to report in the matter of the drug store ordinance prohibiting the sale of druggists' sundries on Sundays. The drug stores have been permitted, through an understanding with the committee, to sell druggists' sundries temporarily, with a view to determining if the ordinance should not be amended so as to grant them this right.

maamma for the past six years, as she has caused you all this trouble; also this fall that I am going to take. She will get her pay, so goodbye. Your loving father,

"C. W. WILEY."

A scathing letter to the alleged despoiler of his home, Fred Schneider of Sparks, Nevada, was found dated at Ogden, Sept. 3, in which he roundly cursed the accused.

The Nevada state journal stated the troubles of Wiley somewhat in its issue of Sept. 1, from which it would appear that Wiley gave a bill of sale of his wife to the man whom he claims caused his disgrace. The bill is as follows:

"BILL OF SALE."

"Sparks, August 3, 1906.

"To Fred Schneider: For and in consideration of your money, I hereby deliver unto you one wife, known as Mrs. May E. Wiley, to take and dispose of as you wish. Signed, W. C. Wiley (husband)."

Previous to leaving Sparks for Ogden Wiley sent another note to Schneider, which read: "Sir—Thanking you for past courtesies and hoping for a continuance of the same I beg you to accept this token of my wife's hair as a final token of my regard."

The paper also contains the following statement from Schneider of the affair:

"C. W. Wiley and his wife came to Ogden a few weeks ago, about August 19 to take charge of the cafe. He was worthless and his wife had to support him. Finally the husband became a charge to his wife and she was compelled to do all the work for livelihood. I met Mrs. Wiley through her membership in the Rebekah lodge here, for I am an Odd Fellow. He objected to my association with his frau and I saw that he was jealous without cause. She told me she was not treated equitably by her husband, and of course I sympathized with her. Mrs. Wiley is the second wife of the man who accuses me. He has two children by his first wife. This is also her second matrimonial venture. Matters went along for several weeks in this way until Wiley became abusive to his wife, and then I went with a member of the police department of this city and we broke in the door of their room, which is next door to this hotel, and we told Wiley to be good."

"This seemed to anger him and he told the people on the street that I had been familiar with his wife. I swear that this is not true; that I only talked to her when we were fixing the books of the cafe. On this occasion we locked the door to the dining room and kept Wiley out, because his wife feared his interference."

"Then Wiley went around town making threats against my life, that caused me so much worry. He came into the bar here and asked me to take money out of the till for him, so I threw him out of the house. I told him then to get

STIR IN CITY COUNCIL

Over Unauthorized Bill—Water Franchise Voted by Mayor.

Ogden, Sept. 5.—There was a stir in the city council last night when Councilman Moves presented a bill in favor of F. M. Parrell for $40.70 for making street crossing plates. The bill was presented with a lot of small bills which Councilman Thomas characterized as a sneaking way of doing business. There were hot words exchanged between the two men and finally a motion was adopted to appoint a committee of three to take up the bill and stop the manufacture of these plates. This is the second time that a row has resulted over the same proposition. Later Mr. Thomas was successful in getting a resolution through whereby a member of the council will be allowed to make an expenditure of more than $20 unless the action is first approved by the council.

John Sowerfoot & Sons were granted a franchise to build a viaduct across Wall avenue, near Twenty-fourth street. The matter of granting a 10-year lease to the Ogden general household company was laid over for one week. W. L. Maginnis was allowed $250 for assisting in the settlement of the waterworks litigation. The law committee was instructed to act with the county commissioners in establishing the eastern city boundary line.

Councilman Browning, the new member, was appointed to all the committees to which Mr. Emmett, his predecessor, had been named. Mayor Connor returned the water franchise passed Aug. 27 without his approval, and suggested the passing of a resolution which would change the changes that he originally suggested. The veto was sustained.

VISITOR LOSES VALUABLES.

G. A. Jenkins, a resident of Bingham Junction, came to Ogden yesterday for the purpose of visiting the State Industrial school. While on the way to the school from the Union depot his pockets were either picked or he lost a purse containing $25 in money, and a lady's gold watch, set with pearls and rubies. He cannot account for the loss in any way. The police were asked to see if they cannot locate the cash.

WEDDING LICENSES.

Licenses to wed were granted to the following couples by Clerk Mattison: Charles S. Beech, 35, and Miss Alice Helitz, 20, both of Kanab, Wyo. Frank D. Smith, 34, and Rosetta P. Huntman, 18, both of Ogden.

BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

In honor of Elder David F. Steele, prior to his departure on a mission to Australia, a complimentary concert and social will be given at the First ward meetinghouse Wednesday evening.

George Graves has returned from a month's eastern business trip.

County Treasurer Chambers has a large force of assistants at work in his office this week, getting out the second tax notices, which he expects to mail the last of this week.

UTAH COUNTY HIGH SCHOOLS

Excellent Results Follow Their Introduction—Large Attendance Insures Their Success.

HIGHER EDUCATION POPULAR

When Placed Within the Reach of Masses—Excellent Paper by Supt. Eggertson.

Provo, Utah Co., Sept. 4.—In Lehi, American Fork, Pleasant Grove, Springville, Spanish Fork and Payson will be given a two years' high school course the coming year. A three years' course will be given in Springville, and the prospects are that the others will add three years' course in the future.

The county has cause to rejoice at this. Last year there were enrolled 279 pupils, which meant a saving to the home towns of at least $150 to each pupil (had they left home to go to school), or to the county $41,850.

Statistics show the following from the towns where the high schools are started: 12 per cent of the eighth grade graduates, before the high schools were started, left home to go to school elsewhere. Eighty-eight per cent did not go to school at all. Since the high school was started $9 per cent of the eighth grade graduates attended the local high schools, and of those who completed the two years' course 50 per cent left home to finish their course in some university.

The reason for this is plain, namely: Few homes are financially able to send a son or daughter away to school more than one year or two years, and that does not prepare them sufficiently for the higher work. But with two or three years at home and one away they are able to graduate in some line and take hold of the work—being prepared for it.

The high school movement is strongly supported by the University of Utah and the B. Y. University. At either institution the credits are accepted. The essential courses offered are the same. The University of Utah has issued a high school circular, endorsed by State Supt. A. C. Nelson, in which the subjects are outlined and the hours credit given for each subject completed. This was adopted at the county high school meeting July 28.

A few subjects are here given for the local high school:

First—It makes it possible for pupils to go later to a university and complete some course.

Second—Eighth grade graduates are too young to leave the parental home.

Third—It encourages 80 per cent to go higher in educational pursuits.

Fourth—It creates an educational spirit at home; so much so that many go to school, for they feel the influence of a companion that is going, where he knows he can, and may go.

Fifth—The high school pupils may give educational evenings at home which will develop their talents, and the same may be witnessed by father, mother, and friends.

Sixth—It will greatly increase the moral tone of the town.

Seventh—It will throw down the barriers between those financially able to educate their children and those who are not. The widow's boy is therefore not debarred from getting higher education while he is yet young.

Eighth—It is to embrace in the course of study elementary agriculture, so that our chief industry may be studied theoretically and practically.

Ninth—It is not to educate boys and girls for office work, but rather for them to love work of an honorable kind, to be prepared for opportunities, and to be a better and more useful citizen.

Tenth—As we have had but a limited number of local high schools, only the favored few have been able to obtain the necessary higher education.

Eleventh—It adds strength to the lower grades and enthralls the children there to become high school pupils.

The question of the support for our high schools is an important one, and which each high school district has levied a special tax for its support. It is my belief that state aid may be secured if the members of our legislature will properly consider this question.

There is at least $75,000 spent for high school work in our state institutions, which is distributed to our local high schools could be a material aid, and then our university and Agricultural college would be able to devote their energies to the college work.

The University of Utah has eliminated the first year of the high school, and will teach the second year the second year. The Agricultural college can do the same, and the appropriation going to these institutions for high school purposes can then be used among the people where the high school pupils will number this year 1906, 1,000, as compared with 225 or 400 who attend the state institutions.

The local high school belongs to every country boy and girl. It should be near him so that he may attend it. Some children will still desire to attend school away from home—parents may desire it also—and question in many ways the staying home proposition, but it stands to reason and experience that greater good will be accomplished to the greater number by the establishment of high schools, not only to the universities, but to every practical purpose.

The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That the Utah county principals, Aug. 23, "Resolved that we favor state aid for local high schools, and that every effort be put forth to secure same." L. E. EGGERTSON, Superintendent Utah County Schools.

The dark film sometimes found on the rocks of rivers has been studied by a Cairo chemist at the Nile's first cataract. It is concluded that the film, like that of desert rocks, arises from material in the rocks themselves, and that the depth of color depends upon the amount of black oxide of manganese contained, although silica tends to add to the darkening. The film is formed and preserved only in hot climates having a small rainfall.

Ordinary window glass passes nearly all of the heat coming from the sun, although it intercepts dark heat, but the new glass of Richard Stigmondy, an Australian, is claimed to prevent the passage of nine-tenths of the heat of the sun's rays. This glass would change a hot house into a cold house. The advantages seem to be numerous, but not least should be the delightful coolness of summer cottages having windows of the new material.

A TEAM OF BUFFALO CALVES SIX MONTHS OLD.

The interesting picture herewith given is from a photograph taken at the Corbin buffalo farm in New Hampshire. It is only recently that an attempt to transform the buffalo into a domestic beast of burden has been made, but the experiment has been quite encouraging. The animals subjected to the taming process are raised by hand and kept from the herd. In time their wild natures yield to kind treatment, and they become as docile as domestic oxen.
