

OGDEN GETS THE NEXT CONVENTION

State Teachers Close Their Annual Meeting by Choosing The Junction City.

PROF. EATON IS PRESIDENT.

Juvenile Court and Business Sections Added—Resolution of Thanks Is Adopted.

The Twelfth annual convention of the Utah Teachers' association came to a close in the Assembly hall last night, and today the teachers are leaving for their home towns to prepare for the opening of the schools for Monday next.

In the choice of officers, George A. Eaton of the Salt Lake High school, as was expected, was elected president, and Ogden secured the next convention without serious conflict.

The business session was held in the afternoon, and was opened by a chorus of 20 girls from Salt Lake schools. Mrs. Alice W. Cooley then delivered her closing address, on "English in the Grammar Grades," in which she offered a great deal of advice to teachers, and explained the need for the choice of good literature, even for exercises in classes.

TWO NEW SECTIONS.

In the business session the first matter attended to was to raise the dues from 50 cents to $1, after which two new sections were added to the list. They are a juvenile court section, of which the officers are Judge W. H. Brown of Salt Lake, and Ariel Cardon of Logan, and a business section of which the officers are O. J. Stillwell of Ogden and R. Leo Bird of Salt Lake.

OGDEN GETS MEETING.

The choice of Ogden for the next convention followed a speech by Supt. William Allison of the Ogden schools, backed up by telegrams from the mayor, Weber club, and the board of education. Before the vote was taken W. S. Rawlings of Provo extended an invitation, and in the end Ogden was placed in the lead, followed by Provo, after which the selection of the place was made unanimous, on the motion of Mr. Rawlings.

EATON FOR PRESIDENT.

For president, the name of Geo. A. Eaton was placed before the convention by L. A. Ostlin of Logan, and without waiting for a ballot the election was made unanimous by acclamation. For the remaining officers, O. M. Mower of Springville was elected first vice president, W. N. Peterson, Ogden, second vice president, A. S. Martin, director for three years, and D. A. Adams, director to succeed Miss Babcock, resigned.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The following resolutions were adopted, expressing the thanks of the convention for courtesies extended them while in session:

Resolved, That the Utah Teachers' association extend thanks to the presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the president of the state university, the president of the L. D. S. university and Salt Lake City school board for providing gratis buildings and rooms for meeting purposes, and

That the association thanks the administration of the Salt Lake City schools for the provision made by which a systematic inspection of the regular school work could be made by visiting teachers, and be it further,

Resolved, That Professor Wetzel and his little singers, the Imperial quartette, the Orpheus club and Professor McClellan and Professor Stephens, the Tabernacle choir, who have assisted, commended, and thanked for their entertaining and inspiring music.

That our thanks be extended to the teachers of Salt Lake City and county for the reception so kindly extended to visiting teachers.

That the association appreciates the fair and impartial treatment accorded it by the press of Salt Lake City, and be it further,

Resolved, That Dr. G. Stanley Hall and Mrs. Alice W. Cooley be tendered the sincere thanks of the association for the splendid work they have done in pointing the way to higher and better things in the profession of teaching.

DR. HALL'S LECTURE.

Last night the Assembly hall was crowded to hear Dr. G. Stanley Hall's final lecture before returning to Baker university in Massachusetts, of which he is president. Dr. Hall departed from the strict discussion of the subject announced to pay a tribute to the University of Utah, which he characterized as one of the best of the younger universities, and as Utah's climate, which he said was an inspiration to great deeds. Dr. Hall discussed the "Education of the Heart and the Imagination," and in part he said:

Despite the fact that the intellect is part of the training which is commonly called education, the feelings have more to do with the acts than the intellect. The intellect is only one room in the mind of man, and there are many rooms in the temple of man's consciousness. We do not judge people by the intellect so much as by the heart. We want good-hearted people. They are the people who make life worth while.

LIFE'S PROPER POISE.

The proper poise in life is a balance between pleasure and pain, which are the two extremes of man's nature. Pleasure nourishes the nerves, but pain sets them to work. The human being must have both, but the same human being preserves a balance between taking a little pleasure as compensation for a great deal of pain. The first requisite for the education of the heart is that we take delight in the things in which we should take delight.

THE POWER OF LOVE.

But the great emotion, the one which has power over all the others, is love. Love is only another name for interest. That man loves his work who is interested in it. Much of the weariness of life is the result of a lack of interest.

eat or love for the work of life. Love whether religious or sexual, is the basis of all devotion and the reason for all success in a chosen line. No teacher should be in the school room who does not love his work. Love is the fulfilling of the law. It is the strong passion which rules the whole of life, and whether religious or sexual it sometimes grovels around the meanest and unworthiest of objects rather than have no object. It is stronger than the human soul itself. Love thinketh no evil; love suffereth long and is kind.

The education of the imagination goes with the education of the heart. The imagination expresses the heart. There should be a great deal in the life of the growing child of the light that never was on sea or land. A little romance, a little of the story telling element, should be in all teaching. If there is any one test of the true teacher it is the test of telling stories. It is the beginning of all education, and if there is one thing on which the modern world agrees today it is on the idea of education. It is the universal creed.

PRaises UNIVERSITY.

In closing, Dr. Hall spoke a few words of commendation for the university, which he pronounced one of the best of the younger institutions in its faculty and resources. He spoke highly of the normal school, the only one, he said, connected with a state university of which he knew; he paid a high tribute to the High school faculty and expressed himself as greatly impressed with the teachers whom he had met here.

I want to congratulate you on the ages of your teachers, he said. "I should say that the average is fifty to sixty years below our average in the east. And I also think that they are younger than ours are at the same age. The people here are younger than the eastern people. I don't know whether it is something in your wonderful air, or what it is—I wish I might take a bottle of it home with me—but I am a younger man. And above all I wish to speak of the noble work that is being done to save the poor, unfortunate children who are without proper parents to care for them as you are doing in the juvenile court. I have never had an opportunity to study such a work and I feel that I have learned much. I find your law most beneficent and the man who is at the head of your system the most wonderful man for the position that could be obtained.

MANY NEW BABIES.

Thirty-Three Births Reported to Board of Health During Week.

The report of the city board of health for the week ending Jan. 6, shows 33 births, 21 males and 12 females. There were 18 deaths reported, 10 males and 8 females. Thirteen cases of contagious diseases were reported, consisting of one case of diphtheria, one of scarlet fever, nine of smallpox and two of pneumonia.

DEATH OF MRS. KATZ.

Estimate Resident of This City Passes Away Rather Suddenly.

After an illness of less than a week, Mrs. Alma Katz died at 8:30 o'clock last night at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Heber M. Wells, at 61 First street. Mrs. Katz was apparently in good health Saturday last, when she attended the Theater, but she became ill Sunday, and Thursday took a sudden turn for the worse. Since then apprehension has been felt by her immediate friends, although to most of them the news of her death last night came suddenly and without warning.

Mrs. Katz, who was at Tacoma, and Alma D. Katz, an only son, who was at Portland, were hastily summoned Thursday evening, and arrived here today.

Mrs. Annetta Player Katz came to Salt Lake from England when a child six years old, accompanying her parents in the westward immigration. For a few years she resided at Tacoma, but the rest of her life has been passed in Utah, where she has been prominent in social circles.

For the past two years she has lived at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Wells. Mrs. Katz is survived by three daughters and one son, the daughters being Mrs. Heber M. Wells, Mrs. E. A. Trippe, and Mrs. Lear Ritter. Alma D. Katz, her only son, is a resident of Portland, Or., where he recently moved from Boise, Ida. Until a few years ago he lived in Salt Lake and is well remembered in business and social circles.

The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence of former Gov. Heber M. Wells, at 61 First street.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Sad Fate of Young Maxwell Baily at Bingham Junction.

Maxwell Baily, a 14-year-old boy, was struck and killed at Bingham Junction yesterday, by a Rio Grande Western engine, which was passing at a high rate of speed through the yards. He lived less than an hour, passing away en route to Salt Lake on a Sanpete valley train. At the time of the accident, young Baily was walking on a side track, and stepped on to the main track to avoid a switch engine which was approaching. He did not see the oncoming train and was struck before he was aware that it was approaching. His skull was fractured and several other bones were broken.

The boy is the son of Mrs. Hall Miller of Bingham Junction. His father is dead.

MRS. HILTON DEFEATED.

Falls in Her Effort to Secure Money From Park Estate.

Mrs. Annie F. A. Hilton has again been defeated in her efforts to secure her one-third interest in the proceeds of the sale of certain real estate sold by Dr. John R. Park in his life time. Judge Armstrong today sustained the demurrer of the attorneys for the Park estate to the petition of Mrs. Hilton which she asked for $10,000 as her dower interest in the real property sold by Dr. Park. The supreme court in Tippon rendered some time ago held that Mrs. Hilton was Dr. Park's legal widow and as such entitled to her dower interest in the estate.

She has filed two petitions asking for the above amount, as her interest in the property alienated, but both petitions have been defeated by the court sustaining demurrers to the same. The demurrers to the latest petition was argued by the attorneys on Thursday and taken under advisement by Judge Armstrong until this morning, when he sustained it.

MEETING MONDAY NIGHT.

The adjourned meeting of the city board of education will be held on Monday night at which the board will reorganize by electing a president and clerk. It is also more likely that a successor to H. C. Edwards of the Fourth ward will be chosen as he has resigned on account of having moved from the ward.

As NEW YEAR TRADE OPENS BRISKLY.

Volume of Business Shows a Marked Increase Over Same Week in 1905.

BANK CLEARINGS STILL SOAR.

Bamberger's Purchase of the Jennings Farm for $30,000, the Biggest Real Estate Deal of the Week.

Local trade conditions this week are in general an improvement on the same week of the previous year, and there is a general feeling of security and satisfaction with immediate prospects that is encouraging. Colonel Wenber, general superintendent of Z. C. M. Co., says the week's trade is in excess with the institution of the business last year during the first week in the month, in all departments, and the grocery department particularly has been rushed, even more than usual at this particular time.

BIG BANK CLEARINGS.

The week in banking has been especially eventful in the clearing house transactions which on the 4th inst. ran over one and a half millions, and on the following day, over half a million in excess of the clearings of the corresponding days of 1905. This was due to the determination of the city banks to square up the balances due them from other banks.

Another feature of the financial center home. Plans are also in prospect to the National Bank of the Republic of $200,000 from the Walker Bros. bank, and $200,000 from the Utah National bank, these sums being city funds and the transfer due to the change in the city administration. Money has been easy, with rates of interest to correspond. The borrowing class at this time of year is the owners of livestock who seek it in bets with which to carry their stock through the winter.

REAL ESTATE DEALS.

The real estate men are taking a rest for the immediate present in preparation for work later on, but quite a large deal was consummated yesterday, when the William Jennings farm of 300 acres near Laegon was sold to Simon Hamberg for $10,000, it being the intention of Mr. Bamberger to put the property into such an improved condition that it can be used as a family estate and summer home. Plans are also in prospect for valuable improvements at the Laegon resort.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

The dry goods trade is comparatively quiet, as might be expected at this brief distance from the Christmas holidays. But at the same time it is steady enough to please the dry goods men, who say it is better than they expected. The millinery trade is of course quiet and will remain so until just before Easter, when the usual splurge of millinery will begin in millinery stores. The glove trade is good, and general wear gratifying.

BOOT AND SHOE BUSINESS.

The shoe men report good sales notwithstanding the high price of leather and rubber. Sales at some of the stores are reported as phenomenal, though the margins are not very wide. The addition of snow and sleet is a good thing for the shoe houses, as people cannot then travel on "their uppers" as in fine, dry weather. Trade never begins in earnest until the weather is cold, and it is always in winter weather comes, and the same may be said of the hat and furnishing goods trade.

HARDWARE LINES.

The hardware and harness trade are in satisfactory condition, a feature of the later in the not distant past having been the sale of 200 sets of chain harnesses to the contractors on the Western Pacific. A special feature of the hardware trade has been the large sale of skates. A very good pair of club skates can now be had for $2, but at the time of the first appearance of the club skates, the price for some time was $2.25 and even more. Skis also have come in for notice, though the sale is not so large of course as two or three weeks ago when the market was fairly cleaned out.

ON THE MARKETS.

The flour and grain market is uneventful, but there is a marked scarcity of lucern, with accompanying high prices, and the demand is such in the various construction camps that prices are likely to remain high for some time, perhaps until new grass appears in the spring. Turkeys have largely disappeared, and the demand is such in the various construction camps that prices are likely to remain high for some time, perhaps until new grass appears in the spring. ## MEDAL ROSTER OF THE SHORT LINE.

General Superintendent Buckingham Announces the Result of Inspection Trip.

NAMPA IS THE BEST DEPOT.

Otherwise Utah Captures Balance of The Gold Trophies—Jap Made A Good Run.

General Superintendent E. Buckingham of the Oregon Short Line today announced the result of the inspection of the entire system last November by the party of some 20 officials of the company, who went over every mile prior to awarding three gold medals and eleven silver medals to the bosses responsible for the good condition of roadbed, buildings and bridges.

An order has been placed with the local firm of Boyd Park for the medals and when they are turned out, suitably engraved, they will be duly presented. In addition it will be the privilege of the prize winners to put up a shingle informing the traveling public that it is now gazing upon the best on the system.

The recent contest has brought out considerable good-natured rivalry and undoubtedly next year there will be a concerted effort to lower the colors of the lucky ones. In the meantime the winners will proudly wear their medals and look down upon the less fortunate.

There is some satisfaction that Utah has captured two gold medals, the remaining one going to Idaho. The Japanese also will take some consolation from the fact that the Jap section boss on the Wyoming & Western came with an ace of walking away with a silver medal, as his percentage was decidedly high.

As it is, the list of winners is as follows:

GOLD MEDALS.

Best roadmaster's district on system of Oregon Short Line, Utah division: First District—John McEntee. Best section on system: Utah Division, Section 4—Walter Reed, foreman. Best station on system: Nampa, Idaho—E. P. Shaw, agent.

SILVER MEDALS.

Best section on each district: Idaho Division—First district, section 11: A. Larsen, foreman. Second district, section 18: Geo. Munns, foreman. Third district, section 50: Fred Sutter, foreman. Fourth district, section 60: J. Williams, foreman.

Montana Division—Seventh district, section 130: F. Plastino, foreman. Eighth district, section 152: J. McIntosh, foreman.
