It is really remarkable how excellent a magazine can be made up of travel topics, but as travel is one of the most important means of education the Four Track News fills an important function as a magazine of education, particularly with regard to the people and places of interest in this country and else-where and especially with regard to the best means of reaching them. The Four Track News for October is certainly cosmopolitan in the character of its contents. The frontispiece is a picture of bullock carts thatched with paim leaves and drawn by cream colored zebu cattle. Kirk Munroe writes of Ceylon, where every prospect pleases. Charles B. Wells has an article on Ancient Bruges; W. A. Laughlin writes of a vanishing race and Isabel Foster tells how Finland's fate was sealed. are only a few of many good things in the October Four Track News, including some clever bits of verse and a variety of department miscellany .- From the Oakland, Cal., Enquirer.
