

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

ing the ceremony. The bride wore a becoming gown of gray silk with trimmings of lace and pearl passanterie, and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Miller, was dressed in pink organdie over silk of the same shade. Mr. McAllister acted as best man. The bride is a well known and popular young lady of Salt Lake, and the groom an employee of the Pacific Express company at Ogden. The newly married couple left on the evening train for their home in the latter city.

Among the recent pleasant events was the entertainment tendered President W. H. Pollard of the Garfield Lyceum. The affair took place in the parlors of the First Congregational church and was in the nature of a surprise planned by the members of the Lyceum as a testimonial previous to the president's departure for England. The table was prettily decorated and a delicious repast was served by Franklin. Robert Young acted as toastmaster and repart of the evening, after which tea will be served in the parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Porter returned this week.

Miss Lottie Judd of this city and Mr. Michael W. Cavanaugh of Bingham were married on Tuesday at St. Paul's church. Rev. Daunt Scott performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hempstead, who have been visiting in San Francisco, returned this week.

Miss Edith Ellerbeck will return from Stanford University on Monday.

Mrs. William T. Dinwoodey leaves next week for California.

Mrs. Curtis Leelle Knight has issued invitations for a reception next Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. E. Kling left for a two

AN EXQUISITE HANDKERCHIEF WAIST.

Waist made of surah handkerchief, having a white ground with violet spots and a wide border of solid violet inside which is another border in Persian colorings.

Sponges were made by Messrs. Neall, Spicer, Schoppe, Smith, Herbert, Eberhardt, Coleman and Pollard.

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. George Good entertained in honor of her sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Lindsay of Butte City. A profusion of roses, ferns, smilax and palms adorned the rooms, and the evening was delightfully spent with music and other social pastimes. A dainty supper was served during the evening. The guests were: The Misses Jensen, Jorgensen, Murray, Thornberg, Woodford, Earle, Reese, Anderson, N. and H. Durnford, Wagner, Bone, Gardner, Foster, Post, Rawlings, Rounds, Duquet, Stewart, Hensel and Cravacul.

Another pleasant event of Saturday night was the evening party given by Miss Maude Hoyt. The entertainment was "sixty-three," and the novel element of the contest was trying to play to lose rather than win. A musical program followed the contest, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pollock will shortly take possession of the Stoult residence on South Main street.

Wallace Lyman of Omaha is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Wallace.

Since the presentation of the handsome silver cup by S. W. Newhouse for the golf championship, the hearts of the lady members of the Country club have been fluttering for conquest in the coming series of games. With so elegant a trophy at stake as a prize, the interest in the games is in no danger of lagging.

A Carnival and Bazaar for the benefit of the Third ward meeting house, is to take place at the ward hall on May 16th.

The object is to build a hall for dancing, concerts and other entertainments, so that the meeting house need not be used for that purpose. Nearly all the prominent merchants in town have contributed articles to be put on sale for the event, and the affair promises to be a great success.

The people of the Third ward will give an entertainment on Monday night for the benefit of the Scofield sufferers. Some of the best known musical artists of the city will take part and the event promises to be largely patronized.

Frank W. Jennings and John D. Spencer left yesterday for a brief trip to Wyoming.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Murray and W. H. Irvine took place on Wednesday in Bowling Green, Kentucky, the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Irvine will reside in Salt Lake.

Mrs. Fred Palmer has for her guest Mrs. O. M. Schwartz of Mercur.

Mrs. Nora Stewart left on Wednesday to join Mr. Stewart, who is studying at Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Felt are taking a trip through Idaho.

Mrs. J. W. Wilson has returned from her eastern trip.

Mrs. Elgin Travis and her sister Miss Reid leave next week for California, where they will spend the summer.

Next Friday evening the young people of the Central Christian church will give a colonial entertainment. A representation of the first Continental Congress will be the feature of the first scription was given of the gifts, etc., in kindergarten work, by Mrs. Georgia F. Young. This was illustrated by showing to those present the little woven mats and other specimens of work, also many of the articles used in teaching this method. The time of meeting for the Reapers' club has been changed again to 2 p. m.

The first announcement of the program of the General Federation of Women's clubs, to be held in Milwaukee in June, is made this week. The announcement of the speakers is also made, though the special subjects are not yet made known. The program as presented shows the general topics which have been occupying attention and leading to definite results among women's clubs all over the country for the last two years. Several items will be of special interest, as for instance the report of the reorganization committee Tuesday afternoon, which sounds harmless and yet really means either that the federation as it now stands shall go to pieces and come up on another basis or that it will continue as it is. And upon this matter hangs the result of the election of officers, which will be as interesting this year as it was at Denver two years ago.

Altogether with the 5,000 women who are expected to be present and the list of speakers, nearly all of whom are known as clever women, the gathering promises to be the most notable one ever held in the United States.

The program as it now stands is as follows:

Monday morning, June 4, 1900, club-room, Plankinton. Meetings of board of directors at 9 o'clock. Meeting of the Association, meeting of council at 11 o'clock. Topics for discussion: "Co-operation Between Club Women and Wage Earning Women." "Reorganization of the General Federation."

Jaunty little Eton of black cloth laid in stitched plaits. The collar and reverses are faced with white moure and Russian lace. The sleeves are extremely long, flaring out over the hand.

or for educational purposes in the public schools.

Not least interesting in this exhibit will be photographs of unique phases of library work; cases, for instance, of traveling libraries, which the District of Columbia club women maintain on the Potomac river canal boats, and the ones which Kentucky club women establish among the mountaineer moonshiners of their State. There will also be copies of library laws in various States, with information as to the best means of fostering the library spirit.

This library exhibit is a substitute—and a most practical one—for a library literary association which it was proposed to hold at the biennial.

FEMININE FLOTSAM.

Princess Salm-Salm.

The most vivacious woman of her age to be found on two continents is the Princess Salm-Salm. She was talking to a roomful of people all at once in her apartments at the Cambridge, pouring tea for six, and listening to a hurdy-gurdy in the street outside, lured there by a coin which she tossed from the window at intervals in order to insure permanent trouble and all with the ease gotten by everyone. Such a public, capable woman she was; but she was determined to be a queen—nay, more, an empress. During all these years she has been confined in a castle just out of Brussels. No person outside its walls has seen her in all this time. There she is surrounded by a retinue of servants and court ladies and courtiers, and she holds mimic court—for she is still an empress in her poor, de-moralized fancy. Once every month she holds court, and entertains her household with mimic formality. On each
