

TENT ENDEAVOR WAS BLOWN OVER

Eight Thousand People in it at the Time.

NEARLY A SCORE INJURED.

No one Killed—Hospital Tent Soon Filled With Women Who Had Fainted.

Denver, Colo., July 13.—The big tent endeavor, where the Christian Endeavor convention has been held for the past four days, was blown over this afternoon at 4 o'clock while more than 8,000 people were attending the proceedings. The injured numbered nearly a score, but fortunately none of them was seriously hurt.

INJURED.
Mrs. Thornburg, Denver, very bad wound in forehead, very serious; nose gashed and scalp suffering several wounds.

Alleluia Murdoch, Denver, arm fractured.
J. C. Peterson, Alamosa, Colo., scalp wound and skull fractured.
Miss Mary Bell, Trenton, Neb., knee injured, body bruised.
Mrs. I. N. Johnson, Denver, badly bruised and fainted from fright.
J. C. Patterson, Alamosa, Colo., head hit by electric lamp; bad scalp wound.
Miss Edna Ward, 1515 Weha Taylor street, Chicago, large pole fell across back and badly bruised her.

Among those who are suffering from severe nervous shocks are:
Miss Blanche Fearer, Oregon, Ill.
Miss Minnie, New York City.
Miss Adams, Oregon, Ill.
Miss Nipper, Pueblo, Colo.
Miss Myrtle Moore, Illinois.
Miss Warren, Illinois.
Mrs. Small, Denver.

The presence of mind of A. M. Ramsey of Chicago, who sprang to a chair and called to the people to hold up the canvas and poles, undoubtedly prevented danger of suffocation, but as it was many women fainted and were extricated from the folds of the canvas with much difficulty.

Mrs. Winifred Sleep of Denver, who was in charge of the St. Mark's hospital tent, seeing the catastrophe of the big tent, telephoned the electric company to shut off the current. This prevented any damage being done by live wires, for, of course, they fell with the poles.

A feature which showed the religious nature of the participants was seen when the majority were extricated from the canvas's folds. Led by an eastern delegate, all gathered around in the open air and an impromptu praise service being held.

The convention was in full progress at 4 o'clock, and although there were signs of rain and some wind was blowing, no trouble was anticipated. The management, the aides of the tent were up to admit air, and this enabled the equal to lift up the big canvas as if it were a balloon.

The gust of wind which carried over the tent came so suddenly that no preparation could be made to forestall the consequences. The wind swept under the tent, the roof of which immediately belled out like an immense sail, and it was seen that the poles were being drawn from the ground. The small poles were blown away, and the danger to the throng, being pulled from the ground.

Immediately the 8,000 people were in a panic, which the screaming of the women accentuated. It was then that Mr. Ramsey sprang to a chair and loudly called on the men to hold up the canvas and catch the falling supporting poles as they fell, and avert that danger. Hundreds of men sprang to their feet and successfully carried out the Chicago man's suggestion, and consequently no one was injured in this way.

As the poles fell more than 1,000 people who were seated near the walls of the tent escaped the folds, and those people immediately formed themselves into a reserve corps. The hospital tent was speedily filled with women who had fainted and those who were suffering from slight injuries.

A Salt Lake City citizen tells here a certain cure.

Mrs. Sarah Beatty, of 1361 west 4th South, says: "I have had attacks of backache for two years. For a week at a time I have been almost wild with pain just across the loins. When a person cannot bend, lift or turn, they are helpless and naturally ardently long for some means to give even the slightest relief. A friend of mine who had obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at the F. J. Hill Drug Co.'s drug store told me they had brought her undoubted benefit and insisted upon my trying them. Following her advice I got a box and took a few doses. They helped. A continuation of the treatment for some time, much to my surprise, and considerably more to my gratification, stopped the last attack. Should others recur I now know what to use to get relief."

Indian Territory Leases Invalidated.

Muskogee, I. T., July 14.—A decision was handed down by Judge C. W. Raymond, United States judge for the Western district of Indian territory, which will invalidate leases on 2,500,000 acres of Creek Indian lands and will bring dismay to speculators and land leasing companies. It is difficult to appreciate the sweeping effect of the court's holding. Judge Raymond has held that the parent of the Indian has no right to lease the land of his minor children unless he has by due course of legal proceedings been made the legal guardian. Cases where the parent has been made the legal guardian of his children are rare in the extreme, hence the thousands of acres allotted to minors that have been leased by their parents have been held irregularly and the leases will not stand.

In the Creek nation there are 3,072,813 acres of land. Of this 2,500,000 acres have been leased to outsiders. It is roughly estimated that only about 500,000 acres have been leased legally and that the remainder is now held by persons who can be removed by minors going before the Indian agent and demanding possession of their allotments.

The specific case that came up before Judge Raymond was an injunction suit entitled W. W. Witten and Morris Black against Shoenfelt, Indian agent. The agent had instructed an Indian policeman to put a man off land allotted to three minors, and leased by their father, who was the natural guardian of the land and was to be restored to the three minors.

The argument of the attorney for the government dwelt at length upon the figures given by witnesses at New York and Chicago. The government contended, according to General Appraiser Sharrett's advances, aggregating $50,000, on the importation, which amounted to about $15,000. He further claimed they might even guarantee an additional increase. After a hearing of over two hours, the hearing was closed. A decision is expected in a day or two.

HEALTHY OLD AGE

Peruna Invaluable for the Catarrhal Diseases Peculiar to Old Age.

In old age no matter how healthy the person may be there is a tendency to coldness, sluggishness of the circulation, inadequate digestion of food. Such a condition is not exactly a disease but is one of the inevitable consequences of old age. Peruna is peculiarly adapted to these conditions which result from old age. It spreads a grateful warmth throughout the whole system. It invigorates the circulation. It increases the digestive powers. In short, it mitigates all of the symptoms which are directly caused by old age.

Peruna never fails to be of inestimable worth to old people. It prevents premature wrinkles. It gives health and elasticity to the skin, and under its use the sallowness and wizened expression disappears. It has been stated over and over again in letters from old people that "Peruna has made me look twenty years younger."

A New Man at 79.

Major Frank O'Mahoney, West Side, Hannibal, Mo., writes: "Up to a few years ago I felt no need to test its medicinal potency, but lately when my system needed it, your Peruna relieved me of many catarrhal troubles. Some two years ago I weighed 210 pounds, but fell away down to 109 pounds, and besides loss of flesh I was subject to stomach troubles, indigestion, loss of appetite, insomnia, night sweats, and a foreboding of getting my entire system out of order. During some months I gave Peruna a fair trial, and it rejuvenated my whole system. I feel thankful therefore, for although 79 years old I feel like a young man."—Major Frank O'Mahoney.

In old age the mucous membrane becomes thickened and partly lose their function. This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances. Peruna corrects all this by its specific operation on all the mucous membranes of the body.

One bottle will convince anyone. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long stand-by with old and young.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
