THE "ITALA."

The Vessel Again Detained by a U. S. Marshal.

SAN DIEGO, July 8.—The penalty of $100 which the crew of the steamer "Itala" paid for the seizure of their vessel by the United States district attorney for leaving the port without clearance papers, has not been paid yet will probably be paid tomorrow.

TODAY Marshal Clegg, the attorney for the government, announced another charge against the crew. This act was necessary in connection with the trial proceedings commenced by the United States district attorney. Captain Mancuso and his crew, who had advised Captain Manzano and Tejeda to pay the fine at once, got the vessel released from the custody of the customs officers, and before returning to the port, paid the amount of $100 to the port collector, who had been sent to the port to collect the fine.

Captain Manzano, who had the vessel detained another time in consequence of the trial, was released.

On Tuesday morning Marshal Clegg and his deputy stopped about the "Itala" and seized the vessel for a violation of the neutrality laws and carrying off a United States citizen.

Manzano is said to have been greatly vexed upon the appearance of the marshals and awaited Tejeda, who hastened to the port to immediately open the affairs of the trial and hold a conference with Manzano.

No further steps were taken in regard to leaving the harbor. Had the "Itala" got away before being released, nothing would have been done, but before the "Charleston" could get away to chase her again, and by that time the "Itala" possibly could have escaped.

The Hour Ends.

FINANCIAL TROUBLES.

What Saved His Business the Paper.

BOSTON, July 8.—An unusually important and interesting article, regardless of its value, has just been published in the office of Peter's Pen, which has come to hand. It has always been understood that Peter's Pen is the best newspaper in the country, and contains nothing but good and valuable information, especially in its political administration, appearing in them place a statement concerning the Management of Papal Finances.

Peter's Pen, however, has made no statement concerning the financial condition of the papacy, and has not even mentioned the name of the papacy.

Now, however, he has been able to find out the exact truth, the real source of the affair, which has been known to him for some time past, and he has learned that Montecassino's Papal financial situation was determined upon an account of the losses sustained by Peter's Pen, and because of the fact that the papacy had been unable to pay the debts of the papacy.

This is the reason why the papacy has been unable to pay the debts of the papacy.

Montecassino's Papal financial situation was determined upon an account of the losses sustained by Peter's Pen, and because of the fact that the papacy had been unable to pay the debts of the papacy.
