ugar company, Mr. Austin speaks very highly of the conditions which he found in that valley and he regards it as one of the biggest and best farming and rigation districts in the West, as the and is of an excellent quality and the water supply is unlimited. Mr. Austin went up the Bear river, where the canal leads, and was almost appalled in wi nessing the enormous amount of water there, enough, he says, to supply from six to eight canals as large as the Bea over system, and on inquiry he learned that at no time of the season does it get below the mark which will amply supply the demands. It is a grand open-ing, says Mr. Austin, for young men ing, says Mr. Austin, for young men with small means to secure homes and good farms, as there is a good oppor-tunity for the land to pay for itself in a short time, if in the hands of enter-prising and energethe farmers.
