The Boston banks endorsed it but he, (Voorhees) believed the rebeliion nau gone no further. He had seen the bill, the passage of which he was assured, would be urged before the New York legislature, which virtually demonetized silver in that state, but no such unconstitutional act could stand. In spite of all adverse circumstances, he predicted the final triumph of the allver dollar. The country had just entered upon a crude experiment of forced resumption of specie payments, leaving behind the five years of bankruptcy and ruin. An appalling penalty had been paid for the bare proclamation of specie contained in the act for taking the appalling penalty had been paid for the bare proclamation of specie resumption, and in his judgment the results to follow specie resumption would be full of disasters and hardships to the people of this country. The people whom he had the honor in part to represent demanded that resumption should not rest on gold alone, but should rest on a basis as strong as the unlimited coinage of silver as well as gold could make it. This was not a mere party issue. The producing classes plead for finance reform, for justice, for relief and for honesty.
