

SCENES IN PORTO RICO,

TYPICAL DRAWING ROOM IN A PORTO RICO HOUSE.

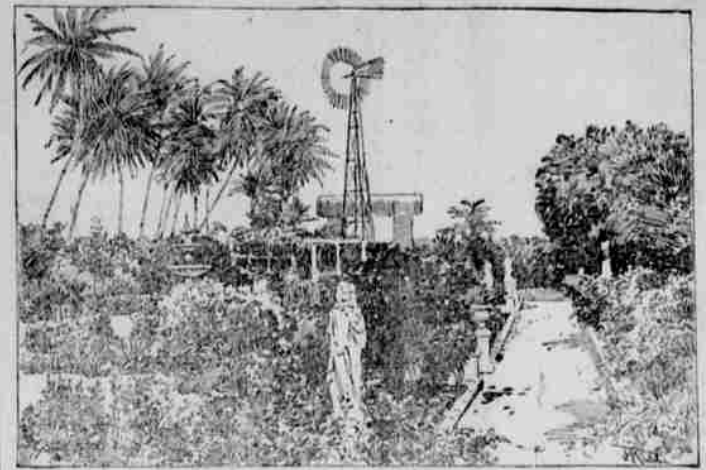

In none of Uncle Sam's new possessions are there to be found so many beautiful homes and gardens as in Porto Rico. This little island seems to be covered with them, and it is safe to say if Ponce de Leon should return he would not go out of the place in search of the fountain of everlasting youth. These homes are not confined to the cities. In fact, most of them are to be found in the hills and high ground which surround them. In appearance they are veritable palaces of the East. The interior is a study of waiting on the wide piazzas or living rooms and rooms from the roof of the tropic sun in the shade of red great palm and other trees which grow in abundance. The owners of these places seem to live with one another in make their place the most beautiful, and as a consequence it is difficult to select the finest. One, however, which surpasses many of the others is the garden of the De Leon estate, near Ponce. It is probably the largest and most beautiful in the island, and its grounds are almost impossible to describe. It is situated on a hill overlooking the city with its many beautiful homes, and it is the only one of its kind in the island. From its vantage point of the city, one can see the bay and the hills, and the view is truly magnificent. The garden is a masterpiece of landscape architecture, with its many paths, fountains, and statues. It is a place where one can truly enjoy the beauty of nature and the art of man.

At different intervals along the road, there are beautiful scenes of nature. The hills are covered with tropical vegetation, and the air is fresh and pure. The view from the garden is truly magnificent, and it is a place where one can truly enjoy the beauty of nature and the art of man.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW ISLE.

GARDENS OF THE DE LEON ESTATE, NEAR PONCE.

While the children of the night creep in, making a ghastly music along the walls and upon the trees. The night is dark and still, and the only light comes from the moon and the stars. The garden is a masterpiece of landscape architecture, with its many paths, fountains, and statues. It is a place where one can truly enjoy the beauty of nature and the art of man.

The houses are furnished with great taste. At first sight they seem a little bare. This is due to the custom of having painted walls and are very seldom decorated. The garden is a masterpiece of landscape architecture, with its many paths, fountains, and statues. It is a place where one can truly enjoy the beauty of nature and the art of man.
