VIGILANCE COMMITTEES.

For some time past the newspaper press, in different parts of the country, has occupied a portion of its space with accounts of the acts of Vigilance Committees. These committees have not been confined to the great West, nor to newly settled localities; but they have been operating east as well as west, in places where the rough elements which . are often found associated with pioneer and frontier life cannot be said to predominate.

Now, if case; but those who wrested them from our people, or our foreign converts who emigrate to this Territory, were such a degraded set as our friends delight in representing them, we should have innumerable proofs of it on their arrival and the many trying circumstances into which they are thrown upon settling in a new country like this are certainly not calculated to develop the brightest and best phases of human nature. But our citizens-many of them from among the poorest of the nationalities of Europe -come here and live in the utmost harmony, and almost without an exception are industrious and orderly. This is as complete a refutation as can well be given to that part of the statement our cotemporary has made in reference to acts mark a transition in society, where The last sentence in the above para- ed about it and fear that for the want of women, and was obliged to fly into the graph is really true. It was no doubt never intended; but is nevertheless a fact. We will analyze and comment thereon. That the "Mormon" establishment, as he terms it, should exist and grow strong in the heart of the American Continent, is indeed a matter worthy the serious reflection and attention of all true Christians and patriots. Here may be observed the absolutely unique spectacle of a whole Territory, containing probably 150,000 people, most of them belong to the poorer and laboring classes of society, and yet among them all not a beggar, and scarcely a drunkard to be found; while crime and rowdyism are almost unknown. Now, in a day when the press of the whole country, more or less, teems with accounts of crimes of the vilest hue; and articles from the ablest pens are written, lamenting over,

If men can assemble, and, with impunity, acting under the influence of passion, justly excited or not, become the executioners of alleged or real criminals, without trial or defence, setting aside and ignoring the law and its agents and executors, there is no safety in legislative enactments, and society becomes the slave of a hydra-headed mob, irresponsible, unwise and easily goaded to commit the most terrible crimes under the plea of duty, claiming for them the semblance and color of virtues. Such | the degradation of our people. they occur, leading to a radical and fearful change. Where the law has not power, and respect to its majesty cannot be enforced, it has been deemed wise and necessary, at times, for men to combine together to purify society; but where the machinery of the law is in full and free operation, it shows a growing power of mobocracy, defiant of healthy restraint, which augurs ill for the country in which it exists. While the neighboring States and Territories have been compelled to witness the organization and movements of Vigilance Committees; and now, while they are manifesting themselves in what to us is the Eastern States; we have never had occasion to resort to such extreme measures that law and order might be maintained in Utah. The officers of justice, few as they have been, with the strong sense of right exhibited by the people, have ever been found sufficient to sustain the supremacy of the courts, even when we were cursed with the largest number of lawless individuals that has ever been in the Territory.
