

BRIGHAM YOUNG COLLEGE.

March 31.—The board of trustees of the college met last Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the president's residence. Standing on the steps they sang a college song of welcome. While the carriage halted President Smith expressed to the students his appreciation of their reception, assuring them of his interest in the welfare of the school.

Miss Homer and her assistants in the domestic science department, entertained the board of trustees at dinner on Saturday.

Twenty-one missionary calls were received at the college this week, all for members of the missionary class.

A number of members had received calls prior to this. Most of the class will leave this spring for the fields to which they have been assigned, which include Turkey, Japan, Europe and the Pacific Islands. The young men will leave in good spirits. The last regular missionary meeting of the course was held on Wednesday in the assembly room, the attendance being too large for any class room in the college. Those who took part were John Schenk, Jr., Miss Lillian Gardner, Miss Sadie Baker and Henry John.

Prof. W. H. Chamberlin and Instructor George C. Jensen were granted a leave of absence for one year, during which time they will pursue advanced studies in the east.

The board, by unanimous vote, decided to elevate Walter M. Wolfe to the professorship of geology and mineralogy. Madame Glardon was advanced to the assistant professorship of languages.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Hubbard Redford, instructor in the domestic arts department, presented to the board her resignation, to take effect at the end of this school year. Mrs. Redford has done efficient work in the department for two years, and retired with the good will of the faculty and the student body. Her place will be filled by Miss Johanna Moen of Salt Lake. Miss Moen has been for some time employed in a leading dressmaking institution in Salt Lake, and she returned only a year ago from Europe, where she took a course in dressmaking, and art needle work in a leading school in Charleston, South Carolina.

The trustees have authorized the purchase of a horse power to be used in the constantly expanding lawns on the college grounds.

An exhaust fan will be installed at the building of the mechanics department, for the purpose of carrying off the smoke from the forge. This will be a decided improvement, and one much needed.

President Linford has long cherished the idea of adding a thorough course in mechanical arts to the curriculum of the college. The trustees have given their unqualified approval to the plan, and if necessary funds can be secured the course will be offered in the fall. It will be the first time such instruction has been offered in the state.

There was some discussion in the board meeting on Saturday concerning the building of two stories more onto the mechanics arts building. It was decided to add a third story to the building, and to furnish more spacious quarters for the art and sewing departments. A committee was appointed to study the preliminary work of getting estimates and estimates of the cost, and to take steps to raise money for the purpose. The present one-story structure is substantial and convenient, and is well suited to be utilized as a workshop, and it is estimated that $100 to $150 will be sufficient to make the desired improvement. The faculty has taken action on the matter by the appointment of a committee to consider the financial side of the question, and there are excellent prospects of the improvement being made this year.

Bishop Woodruff of Southfield was a guest of the college on Wednesday. He went through the several departments in company with President Linford.

The state and ward officers and their wives of Cache county, were entertained at the college on Tuesday. They attended the devotional exercises and President Linford, after a few welcome remarks, turned the meeting over to President Isaac Smith, who called upon the following Bishops of Ward: Bishop Cardon, First Ward; Bishop Anderson, Second Ward; Bishop Yates, Third Ward; Bishop Hyde, Fifth Ward; Bishop Larson, Seventh Ward; Bishop Theurer, Tenth Ward. After devotional, the visitors were shown through the college by President Linford and others, and then entertained at dinner by the domestic science department. The party expressed pleasure at the visit, and was much interested in the work being done.

The class of 1906 gave a novel entertainment in honor of the graduates of the college on Wednesday evening. The gymnasium had a corner of the floor covered with a blue and gold carpet. The college colors formed the background in both corners. Part of the evening was spent in dancing, but the unique feature was the manner of serving supper. It was a four-course affair. Each course was served in a different room, and four or five guests each, followed each other from room to room. No end of merriment was manifested, and the best of fellowship was manifested.

The B. Y. College Engineering society was organized Wednesday evening with Prof. Skidmore as president; P. E. Peterson, vice president; Jesse P. L. Daines, secretary and treasurer; Lyman A. Daines, sergeant-at-arms. The society is to be a permanent one and its members will always carry the names of the members, whether they are in school or not. It will meet weekly to discuss all matters pertaining to physical science and engineering.

President Joseph F. Smith and wife were guests of President and Mrs. Linford during their stay in Logan last week. When President Smith and wife arrived in Logan Friday evening ing a college ball was in progress. The students left the hall as his carriage entered the drive leading to the president's residence. Standing on the steps they sang a college song of welcome. While the carriage halted President Smith expressed to the students his appreciation of their reception, assuring them of his interest in the welfare of the school.

Miss Homer and her assistants in the domestic science department, entertained the board of trustees at dinner on Saturday.

Twenty-one missionary calls were received at the college this week, all for members of the missionary class. A number of members had received calls prior to this. Most of the class will leave this spring for the fields to which they have been assigned, which include Turkey, Japan, Europe and the Pacific Islands. The young men will leave in good spirits. The last regular missionary meeting of the course was held on Wednesday in the assembly room, the attendance being too large for any class room in the college. Those who took part were John Schenk, Jr., Miss Lillian Gardner, Miss Sadie Baker and Henry John.

Prof. W. H. Chamberlin and Instructor George C. Jensen were granted a leave of absence for one year, during which time they will pursue advanced studies in the east.

The board, by unanimous vote, decided to elevate Walter M. Wolfe to the professorship of geology and mineralogy. Madame Glardon was advanced to the assistant professorship of languages.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Hubbard Redford, instructor in the domestic arts department, presented to the board her resignation, to take effect at the end of this school year. Mrs. Redford has done efficient work in the department for two years, and retired with the good will of the faculty and the student body. Her place will be filled by Miss Johanna Moen of Salt Lake. Miss Moen has been for some time employed in a leading dressmaking institution in Salt Lake, and she returned only a year ago from Europe, where she took a course in dressmaking, and art needle work in a leading school in Charleston, South Carolina.

The trustees have authorized the purchase of a horse power to be used in the constantly expanding lawns on the college grounds.

An exhaust fan will be installed at the building of the mechanics department, for the purpose of carrying off the smoke from the forge. This will be a decided improvement, and one much needed.

President Linford has long cherished the idea of adding a thorough course in mechanical arts to the curriculum of the college. The trustees have given their unqualified approval to the plan, and if necessary funds can be secured the course will be offered in the fall. It will be the first time such instruction has been offered in the state.

There was some discussion in the board meeting on Saturday concerning the building of two stories more onto the mechanics arts building. It was decided to add a third story to the building, and to furnish more spacious quarters for the art and sewing departments. A committee was appointed to study the preliminary work of getting estimates and estimates of the cost, and to take steps to raise money for the purpose. The present one-story structure is substantial and convenient, and is well suited to be utilized as a workshop, and it is estimated that $100 to $150 will be sufficient to make the desired improvement. The faculty has taken action on the matter by the appointment of a committee to consider the financial side of the question, and there are excellent prospects of the improvement being made this year.

Bishop Woodruff of Southfield was a guest of the college on Wednesday. He went through the several departments in company with President Linford.

The state and ward officers and their wives of Cache county, were entertained at the college on Tuesday. They attended the devotional exercises and President Linford, after a few welcome remarks, turned the meeting over to President Isaac Smith, who called upon the following Bishops of Ward: Bishop Cardon, First Ward; Bishop Anderson, Second Ward; Bishop Yates, Third Ward; Bishop Hyde, Fifth Ward; Bishop Larson, Seventh Ward; Bishop Theurer, Tenth Ward. After devotional, the visitors were shown through the college by President Linford and others, and then entertained at dinner by the domestic science department. The party expressed pleasure at the visit, and was much interested in the work being done.

The class of 1906 gave a novel entertainment in honor of the graduates of the college on Wednesday evening. The gymnasium had a corner of the floor covered with a blue and gold carpet. The college colors formed the background in both corners. Part of the evening was spent in dancing, but the unique feature was the manner of serving supper. It was a four-course affair. Each course was served in a different room, and four or five guests each, followed each other from room to room. No end of merriment was manifested, and the best of fellowship was manifested.

The B. Y. College Engineering society was organized Wednesday evening with Prof. Skidmore as president; P. E. Peterson, vice president; Jesse P. L. Daines, secretary and treasurer; Lyman A. Daines, sergeant-at-arms. The society is to be a permanent one and its members will always carry the names of the members, whether they are in school or not. It will meet weekly to discuss all matters pertaining to physical science and engineering.

President Joseph F. Smith and wife were guests of President and Mrs. Linford during their stay in Logan last week. When President Smith and wife arrived in Logan Friday evening

WHERE JOHN D. RIDES.

Most people are interested in knowing about what immensely rich people do and how they do it. This shows the interior of the palatial car in which Mr. John D. Rockefeller, the world's richest man, rides to and from his baronial estate on the banks of the Hudson. The train to which it is attached is known as the "Billion Dollar Express."

DON'T'S, FOR SPEAKERS AND WRITERS.

(Written for the Saturday News By EDWARD B. WARMAN, A. M., Author of "Practical Orthodoxy and Critique," "The Voice; How to Train It; How to Care for It," etc.)

(Copyright, 1905, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Author's Note.—It is one thing to record errors, quite another to avoid them. We wait for the faultless one to cast the first critical stone waits in vain; therefore, as one of the many working for the betterment of the English language, I shall be pleased to receive kindly criticism, if perchance, I, too, have erred.

Don't say "off of" for "off" or "off of." Example: "I'll take a slice off of this." "Cut me a yard off of that." They took seven trees off of his place. Should be "I'll take a slice off this," or "I'll take a slice of this." "Cut me a yard off that," or "Cut me a yard of that." "They took seven trees off his place."

Don't say "on purpose" for "purpose." Example: "He did that on purpose." Should be "He did that purposefully."

Don't say "only earned," for "earned only," "only ran," for "ran only," "only said," for "said only." Example: "He only earned six dollars." "He only ran a mile." "He only said a few words." Note—Place the adverb near the word or phrase it qualifies. I give herewith a few more examples, as the error is so common:

"Only cost a dollar." Should be "Cost only one dollar."

"Only studied one lesson." Should be "Studied only one lesson."

Don't say "or over" for "if ever." Example: "It is seldom, or ever, that it has occurred." Should be "It is seldom, if ever, that it has occurred."

Don't say "other two" for "two others." Example: "I'll refer it to the other two." "I'll see the other two teachers."

Don't say "past" for "last." Example: "It was during the past two weeks." Should be "It was during the last two weeks."

Don't say "pay" for "make." Example: "I shall pay you a visit." Should be "I shall make you a visit," or "I shall visit you."

Don't say "ought" for "should." Note—Both words imply obligation; but "ought" is the stronger. Should imply merely an obligation of propriety, expediency, etc.; ought, denotes an obligation of duty.

Don't say "our midst" for "the midst of." Example: "The hero fell in our midst." Should be "The hero fell in the midst of us."

Don't say "over and above." Example: "It was over and above every other of the kind." Should be "It excelled (or surpassed) every other of the kind."

Don't say "convinced" for "convinced." Note—Convinced is the stronger term. One may be persuaded without being convinced. Persuasion appeals to the feelings; conviction to the reason.

Don't say "piece" for "selection." Example: "Which piece shall I recite?" Should be "Which selection shall I recite?" "Which selection shall I sing?"

Don't say "plenty" for "plentiful." Example: "There is plenty of apples." Should be "There is plentiful apples."

Don't say "portion" for "part" or "proportion." Example: "In that portion of the city is the cathedral." Should be "In that part of the city is the cathedral." "A small part (or proportion) of the land is used for clover."

Don't say "postal" for "postal card." Example: "I sent you a postal." Should be "I sent you a postal card."

any number; other five, would imply there were ten; other seven, that there were fourteen, etc.

Don't say "ought" for "should." Note—Both words imply obligation; but "ought" is the stronger. Should imply merely an obligation of propriety, expediency, etc.; ought, denotes an obligation of duty.

Don't say "our midst" for "the midst of." Example: "The hero fell in our midst." Should be "The hero fell in the midst of us."

Don't say "over and above." Example: "It was over and above every other of the kind." Should be "It excelled (or surpassed) every other of the kind."

Don't say "convinced" for "convinced." Note—Convinced is the stronger term. One may be persuaded without being convinced. Persuasion appeals to the feelings; conviction to the reason.

Don't say "piece" for "selection." Example: "Which piece shall I recite?" Should be "Which selection shall I recite?" "Which selection shall I sing?"

Don't say "plenty" for "plentiful." Example: "There is plenty of apples." Should be "There is plentiful apples."

Don't say "portion" for "part" or "proportion." Example: "In that portion of the city is the cathedral." Should be "In that part of the city is the cathedral." "A small part (or proportion) of the land is used for clover."

Don't say "postal" for "postal card." Example: "I sent you a postal." Should be "I sent you a postal card."

Don't say "pay" for "make." Example: "I shall pay you a visit." Should be "I shall make you a visit," or "I shall visit you."

Don't say "ought" for "should." Note—Both words imply obligation; but "ought" is the stronger. Should imply merely an obligation of propriety, expediency, etc.; ought, denotes an obligation of duty.

Don't say "our midst" for "the midst of." Example: "The hero fell in our midst." Should be "The hero fell in the midst of us."

Don't say "over and above." Example: "It was over and above every other of the kind." Should be "It excelled (or surpassed) every other of the kind."

Don't say "convinced" for "convinced." Note—Convinced is the stronger term. One may be persuaded without being convinced. Persuasion appeals to the feelings; conviction to the reason.

Don't say "piece" for "selection." Example: "Which piece shall I recite?" Should be "Which selection shall I recite?" "Which selection shall I sing?"

Don't say "plenty" for "plentiful." Example: "There is plenty of apples." Should be "There is plentiful apples."

Don't say "portion" for "part" or "proportion." Example: "In that portion of the city is the cathedral." Should be "In that part of the city is the cathedral." "A small part (or proportion) of the land is used for clover."

Don't say "postal" for "postal card." Example: "I sent you a postal." Should be "I sent you a postal card."

Don't say "pay" for "make." Example: "I shall pay you a visit." Should be "I shall make you a visit," or "I shall visit you."

Don't say "ought" for "should." Note—Both words imply obligation; but "ought" is the stronger. Should imply merely an obligation of propriety, expediency, etc.; ought, denotes an obligation of duty.

Don't say "our midst" for "the midst of." Example: "The hero fell in our midst." Should be "The hero fell in the midst of us."

The geology class has decided to make a trip to City Creek canyon during the conference holidays for the purpose of gathering Paleozoic specimens.—G. A. Hoaglund

The kindergarten children during the past week have been studying the subject of wool and its uses. On Monday the subject was spinning. In order to give the children a knowledge of the work the kindergartners invited Mrs. Christina C. Larsen, a native of Sweden to demonstrate to the children the process of making the wool into yarn. While carding and spinning, Mrs. Larsen sang a Swedish song. She wore a dress and apron which had been spun, dyed and woven by her own hands. Miss Edwards and the training class were invited to witness the spinning and a very enjoyable time was spent. The following program was rendered: Songs by kindergartners and children, entitled, "Loving Mother, Kind and True," "Good morning, Dear Friends," and "Spin, Lassies, Spin." "America" was sung by the two classes and a piano selection was rendered by Miss Doreen Larsen.—Ina G. Johnson.

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH.

Salt Lake City.—On Wednesday morning, as soon as the students learned that President Love of the State senate would be the speaker at chapel they hurried to the assembly hall in the museum building where each tried to outdo the other in college yells and shouts. Amid this hearty applause, Mr. Love was escorted to the rostrum by Professor Lyman Kingsbury presided at the meeting and in introducing the speaker he told of the interest President Love has taken in higher education and the special mention of efforts of Mr. Love and others in securing the $15,000 dollars for the University Gym. After briefly referring to the work of the recent Legislature Senator Love gave the students a practical talk on the essentials of success in business. To succeed, a business man must, above all things, be true to his friends. He must be true to the business and true to every organization with which he is connected. He illustrated his remarks by relating instances that had come under his own observation in his business career.

The musical party of the program were two selections by the University orchestra.

Already the public are becoming interested in the University gymnasium. Next Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. W. Riter, the Author's club will give a musical, the proceeds of which will be given to the University gymnasium fund. The number of tickets is limited to one hundred and the price of admission is $1.00. The following artists will appear on the program: Tabernacle Organist John J. McClellan, Prof. A. C. Lund of the B. Y. University at Provo, Mr. Willard Wiehe, Mr. Hugh Douglass, Mr. Fred Granger and some others. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Invitations are out announcing the grand ball to be given for the benefit of the University gymnasium next Saturday evening, April 8, in the assembly hall of the museum building. This ball will also be given by the Author's club. The orchestra has been secured for the occasion.

The preliminary summer school committee has appointed the following permanent committee on university summer school: Prof. Stewart, chairman, and Prof. Allen, secretary. The other members of the committee are Prof. Merrill, Cummings and Benning. Summer school announcements will be issued in the near future.

On Monday evening Mr. De Lony gave the fourth year normals an illustrated lecture on voice culture, touching on the various kinds of organs.

A number of students have applied for a course in astronomy. If a sufficient number wish this course Prof. Gibson will give it next year.

A President John C. Brown of the student body has appointed the following committee to collect the money the students voted to give to the University gymnasium: Oscar Carlson, '05, Louis Seckles, '06, and Moses Nielson, N. '05.

Last night the Varsity freshmen gave a ball in the museum building.

On Tuesday the Cheefm club was shown through the normal school by Prof. Stewart.

President Gay of the general educational exhibit of the St. Louis fair has written to Supervisor Horace Cummings asking for all the product of the hands work and art done by the pupils of the training school. President Gay has become interested in the work of the Utah normal school and says he is anxious to promote its interests with President W. T. Harris of the N. E. A. and with other educators.

On Wednesday evening ex-State Engineer Doremus delivered a lecture before the Varsity engineers.

President Kingsbury and the heads of the various departments are now busy with the arrangements for next year's work.

In reporting the number of students enrolled in the University last week a mistake was made. Instead of 800 the college shows a registration of 900 college and prep. students.

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY.

Provo.—Last evening Mr. King gave his concluding lecture. His subject was "The Vile and Gracious of Shakespeare." Mr. King certainly has rare capabilities as an entertainer and we feel indebted to him for some of the most delightful hours we have ever spent.

Mr. Willis K. Brown of Chicago, the anti-cigarette worker, addressed the students in our Sunday evening services. Some scriptural readings were given by Mr. King.

The much anticipated game with Wheaton came off last Saturday evening. There has probably never been a larger or more expectant crowd in the gymnasium. Several preliminary games of the board were out. Though our boys were defeated we feel proud of their excellent work. The Wheaton team said they had never played a college game in all their work. Wheaton has now disbanded to go on the track.

We are glad to note the recovery of Charles Richards, who was laid up with appendicitis for a long time.

There will be an interclass contest next Friday.

The commercials gave their annual ball this evening.

A very interesting debate was given last Friday before the Literary society between students of the school of arts and industries, and commercial students. The subject discussed was: Resolved, that the graduate from the school of arts and industries is a greater factor in social progress than the graduate from the commercial school. The judges decided in favor of the commercial boys.

The first year students had a class party in the gym Tuesday evening.

Prof. Brown and Partridge and the Mandolin and Guitar club will visit teachers' institute at Oak City, Millard county, next Friday.

Prof. Brown addressed the Sunday school workers in American Fork last Sunday. There is a fine roller top desk, the work of the boys in wood work, now on exhibition in the lower hall of the high school building. They have finished such desks, and are making a reputation through the excellence of their work.

King Briggs, one of the leading art students, has an exhibition of some of his pictures in the reception room. He is offering most of them for sale, and is being quite successful in disposing of them.

Prof. Lund and a number of the music students went to Salt Lake to attend the opera "Tannhauser," Wednesday.

A number of our boys went up to see the basket ball game between Wheaton and the I. D. S.

Mr. Lee Greene Richards of Salt Lake, one of Utah's leading artists, was a visitor last week.

More definite arrangements are being made for the summer school courses.

We are glad to welcome our president back again. In chapel exercises this morning he gave an interesting account of his visit to the schools on the western coast.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY.

Principal D. O. McKay spent Wednesday in Salt Lake.

Prof. Terry delivered a lecture in North Ogden under the auspices of the Elders' forum, Sunday night, on the subject of "Problems connected with Bible study."

The attendance is remarkable for this time of the year. Very few withdrawals are reported.

Prof. Lind and his geology class took their first walk this season, Saturday afternoon. They went out to Twenty-eighth street and Jefferson avenue and made a map of the country from there to Thirty-second, and as far east as the mountains. They located on it the hills, the country, the stream from Waterfall canyon, all of the faults near the mountains, the university, brick yards, alluvial fans, etc. They also took notes on the composition of the soil and the plants and in general had a long pleasant walk.

Bishop Ensign on Tuesday morning spoke on the folly of trying to "Carry Water on Both Shoulders." The talk was an impressive one.

On account of lack of room we have two classes reciting during the noon hour, two at 8 o'clock, and one at 1:30. A copy of bound volume of the "Elders' Forum" was received from Elder John A. Brown, who is laboring as a missionary in the Southern States.

When the faculty entered the assembly hall, at 8:55, Monday morning, the whole body of students arose and remained standing until the teachers were in their places and all could be seated together. This is now a permanent feature and the students will not be satisfied until they have 100 per cent present at 8:55.

Elder Lester Seville occupied the time in devotional Monday morning and gave the students encouragement and some good advice.

A. E. Jensen, superintendent of schools of Boxelder county; J. J. Larsen, teacher in Montana; Miss Call, teacher in Point Lookout, and several others from Brigham City visited the school last Monday.

The high schools of Ogden, Salt Lake and Park City formed a league last week for track work. The Preps. of the University of Utah and our team were not permitted to enter, an attempt will be made to arrange a meet between the University of Utah boys and our boys.

The teacher's problem is "Where can I get room to study when not in a class." It has long been impossible to use a class room for this purpose but now our faculty room has to be occupied for class work.

Several weeks ago the students asked to be given the responsibility of maintaining order in the study hall. It remains for a few more students to fall into line when the order there will be as good if not better than when it was under the control of a teacher.

Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Ingles, the junior girls, in a most royal manner, entertained the boys of the class, also the basketball team. The hall and parlor were artistically decorated with the class colors, and each student wore a button hole bouquet of buttercups, the class flower. The evening was spent in songs, recitations, speeches, games, etc., after which a spread of dainty refreshments was served.

Prof. McKendrick's theology class is considering the archaeological evidences of the Book of Mormon. Realizing the need of more good books along this line, the students asked the privilege of contributing means to secure a few good volumes. Lester Seville visited the class on Monday, and so well pleased with the spirit of the boys was he that he made a liberal contribution.

The most pleasing feature of the school this year is the enthusiasm exhibited by the entire student body. The students not only work heart and soul on whatever is suggested, but think continually of something that they might suggest. This is exemplified in the fact that our back yard has been transformed from a mass of old dead trees and rubbish into a fine campus with everything convenient for track work. This work was done by the boys on Friday last.

Cures Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. C. Peterson, 635 Lake St., Tippecanoe, says: "Of all cough remedies I have used, Dr. King's Cough Syrup is the best. It has done and will do all that is claimed for it—to speedily cure all coughs and colds—and it is sweet and pleasant to the taste." 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottle. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

Foot her by taking her to Saltair to rest.

ONE-THIRD TO ONE-HALF OFF

All our Magnificent Lines of Harcourt's and Faber-Pang's Framed Pictures and Medallions. Selected Subjects and latest styles of gilt, old oak and other natural, hard-wood frames.

Remember two weeks only from April 1st, 1905.

DESERET NEWS BOOK STORE, 6 Main St.

MUSIC TEACHERS.

All who desire to consult the list of the representative professors and music teachers of Salt Lake should read the "Musicians' Directory" in the Saturday "News."

$17.50 SEWING MACHINES $17.50

Worth three times what we ask for them, and are offered at this price simply because we are closing out the line. Nothing the matter with them; first class in every respect; guaranteed. But we are closing the line out and want to move them.

WILL SHIP ON APPROVAL.

We carry a complete stock of music and musical instruments.

Young Bros. Company,

20 W. First South St. West of Utah National Bank.

GODBE PITTS.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGGISTS,

101 MAIN ST.

March Is Going Out Like the Lion

Leaving a Trail of Dust and Cinder, Which Cover Everything and Everybody. Guess the Shipment of Whisk Brooks we Just Received Came at About the Right Time. They are a Special Value, but While they Last we Will Sell Them at 25 Cents the Broom.

SCHRAMM'S

Where The Cars Stop,

The Great Prescription Drug Shop.