EVENING NEWS.

Thursday . Dec. 9, 1886

THE CONDITION OF THE WORLD.

THE DESTINY OF THE SAINTS.

Editor Deseret News:

That the religious, social and civil elements of the world are in serious conflict one with another is everywhere apparent, and that party feeling growing out of class distinctions and otherwise is hourly increasing cannot be denied; presenting as they do inharmonious and bitter feelings that must ere long result in terrible eruptions that will be disastrous in the extreme unless some remedy can be provided, which seems highly improbable. The bad as well as the good intuitively recognize the strength there is in organization, hence the vast amount of new organizations that are springing up everywhere throughout the land, the special object of all being seemingly to checkmate one or more of the others, each claiming that their plan of operations is the very best, though most of them are not yet tested; in fact existing only in theory.

THE TENDENCY TO INFIDELITY; to altogether to ignore God and to eliminate from our entire civil and social system everything that is sacred, can be truly said to be the primary cause of the present condition of society and without the aid of the Almighty, man is now seeking to remedy those evils that are the natural result of his departure from God and His ways. Had the words of the Lord been observed the poor man would not now be planning methods of vengeance against the rich man, for the simple reason that the rich would not oppress the poor, neither would the subject of the realm be seeking to retaliate upon his sovereign because of his tyranny, for his administration of equal justice to all would secure to him the love and confidence of his subjects. That spirit of uneasiness which is always to be found in some degree among all classes of society would be suppressed and kept in check by the great majority being satisfied with their condition, thus preserving the social equilibrium.

BUT WHO CAN STOP THOSE EVILS?

The whole world are aroused and have placed themselves in antagonism one to the other. The ruled against their rulers; the poor against the rich, the employed against the employer; and it is still further permeating society, for wife is turning against husband and child against parent. Political debates and strifes are producing their direful results in neighborhoods and communities, and the love of God is so great that the aspirant for office is compelled in numerous instances to buy his place with money, which is only too eagerly accepted by those who stand ready to sell to the highest bidder. Under such circumstances need we wonder at the corruption, fraud, chicanery, maladministration and the universal prostitution of the powers of office that are continually coming to light but which are generally passed over so lightly as to almost give license to a repetition of wrong-doing? True, we make spasmodic efforts at reform sometimes, as in the case of the late aldermen of New York, but these efforts and showings only serve to make the purchaser of office more wary and crafty than his predecessor; for when he purchased his office he calculated to have paid back to him the purchase money, with a heavy interest, which must be done before his term of office expires.

TRADE CONFLICTS.

The Anarchists and kindred spirits see only in the destruction of property and, if need be, the sacrifice of human life, any possibility of reaching the goal of their ambition; while the mechanic and laborer are goaded to desperation at their futile attempts to bring to terms the moneyed kings of the land, and are constantly planning other methods to accomplish their purpose. On the other hand, the autocrats of trade and commerce are combining together to protect themselves against what they term the presumptious demands of the "common herd."

AFFAIRS OF NATIONS.

Nations are jealously watching each other and preparing themselves for mortal combat, the most flimsy causes requiring the very best and most diplomatic engineering to prevent war; which all are preparing for, although they dread it. Dependencies and attached commonwealths together with the subjects of nations ruled by autocrats, are chafing under restraint and bondage; the former clamoring for the right of home rule, while the latter see their emancipation only in the death of their tyrant rulers, which they are constantly planning to encompass. And, strange to say, here, in free America, the boasted land of freedom, despite the examples that are constantly before their eyes, the tendency is to a centralization of power; to curtail the rights and privileges of the people of the Territories, to give the minority the power to rule over the majority, and, because of religion, with which they are constitutionally prohibited from interfering, they would despoil, rob and plunder a whole community under the pretext that they are doing it in the interest of morality and good government. "Heaven save the mark and also save us from our friends," or rather from those political cormorants who feed and fatten upon what honest men have produced.

THE LOCAL REMEDY.

While it is hopeless to suggest any remedy for the world at large, because they will not receive it, and consequently must go to their destruction, there is no reason why we should be engulfed in the common whirlpool, but every reason why we should escape the calamities that are threatening humanity in general. All that is required of us is a strict observance of the counsels of the Almighty. To detail all of these would occupy more space than we can command at present but we can name a few. The voice that John heard while upon the Isle of Patmos, saying "Come out of her my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins and that ye receive not of her plagues," we have heard also; and in response thereto we have left the lands of our birth, the graves of our ancestors and all that we held dear, and come to this land, the place of God's appointment, Zion. If we are honoring the law of God, then are we the people of Zion, and "Zion shall not be moved out of her place;" for, wherever Zion is, God is, by His power, by His blessing and by His outstretched arm to protect and deliver His people. When all the world is in confusion we will be at peace; when war shall be universal we will be cultivating the earth, and our weapons will be the plow-share and the pruning hook; when son shall be arrayed against father and father against son in deadly conflict, we will be binding the hearts of the fathers to the children and the children to the fathers by sacred ordinances in God's holy Temples; when the earth is being depopulated by war, famine and pestilence, when governments and thrones are tottering and empires are being crushed into atoms, we will be engaged in establishing the Kingdom of God and in redeeming Zion, by upbuilding her at the appointed place, and a holy Temple therein also in strengthening the Stakes of Zion already established as well as lengthening her borders. This is our destiny; but in order to do this our hands must be free from blood, even the blood of our enemies, our souls must be free from vengeance; our hearts must be pure and our bodies clean from pollution and sin. Babylon, with all her uncleanness, her follies and her fashions, as well as her products, must be cast away, for God has proclaimed a woe against her, and it is folly for Latter-day Saints to imagine that they can retain any portion of Babylon and be acceptable to Him.

The first Zion, presided over by Enoch, was caught up to heaven, translated because of their purity and let me ask: Inasmuch as the Zion above will again be united with the Zion beneath, will that union ever take place until a corresponding purity exists in the Zion below? I answer, Never. Adam, Seth, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, in fact all the holy men of former dispensations are anxiously looking to us who live in the last dispensation to consummate the work to which their lives were devoted, for they left their work incomplete, unfinished, "They without us cannot be made perfect."

The magnitude of this work demands that we sanctify ourselves before God, that we lay aside our selfishness, that we cease our contentions, our bickerings and strifes, that we unite our temporal interests. In the language of the late revelation, "That we be one in all things." Let us also "put our houses in order and purge out iniquity from our households." Then, says the same revelation, "I will be with you and bless you, saith the Lord, and ye shall assemble together in your holy places wherein ye assemble to call upon me and ye shall ask for such things as are right and I will hear your prayers and my Spirit and power shall be with you and my blessing shall rest upon you, upon your families, your dwellings and your households; upon your flocks and herds and fields, your orchards and vineyards and upon all that pertains to you, and you shall be my people and I will be your God; and your enemies shall not have dominion over you, for I will preserve you and confound them, saith the Lord, for they shall not have power nor dominion over you; for my word shall go forth, and my work shall be accomplished, and my Zion shall be established, and my rule and my power and my dominion shall prevail among my people, and all nations shall yet acknowledge me. Even so. Amen."

TRUTH.

THAT UTAH "LOYAL" LEAGUE.

A PARTIAL LIST OF ITS OFFICERS.

Somebody has lost something; we are quite sure of that; for we are in possession of something which we have every reason to believe is lost. The owner will be altogether dissatisfied with himself, and also with us, when he learns we are in possession of that which he has sworn never to part with or divulge; we are very sure of that, for the parcel contains secrets concerning himself and others which he agrees under oath not to communicate to others than his mystic brethren. Now, we have not agreed not to divulge, and whatever regret we may feel that fate should indulge in her fantastic tricks to the grief of mankind, it is a thing over which we exercise no control. We have never, to our knowledge, made the slightest effort to deceive her ladyship concerning our propensity for advertising lost property. Hence, whatever grief may follow our disclosures in this case, we bend to our duty with a manly heart and a clear conscience.

We have been quite sure that something was lost ever since a certain notable league was established in Salt Lake City, indeed, we had good reason to believe that the league itself was lost (lost to a decent respect and consideration for the rights of its countrymen). We, therefore, went immediately about to discover its whereabouts. We have made the find, and now have the pleasure of making the first exhibit.

To-day we furnish our readers merely with the official status of the League's central or Territorial organization, reserving for our next matter of even a more interesting character to the public. The publication of the names below may alarm the owners and the fraternity generally, but that is a mere bagatelle to what may follow. Should any of the members of the Provo branch of this delectable and "loyal" cistern, feeling alarmed at the consequences of any further notoriety that might be given them, will communicate with us either personally or by letter, their names may be withheld. They must hurry up, however, and advise us in time; otherwise the complete status of our local band of conspirators, secretly operating under the high-sounding title of "The Provo Branch of the Loyal League of Utah," may shortly appear. To be candid, we are in possession of facts that may create confusion in the ranks of the League; but the facts will be told nevertheless. Below is the list of officers connected with the concern, which will constitute our to-day's exhibit:

The officers for the first (or present) year are as follows:

THE AUSTRALASIAN MISSION.

WAIAPU, Nov. 1st, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

The first semi-annual Conference of the Waiapu district was held at Terahui, New Zealand, October 30th and 31st, 1886, President E. F. Richards, presiding. Present on the stand, besides the President of Mission, Elders Ezra F. Richards, J. W. Kauleinamoku, J. E. Magleby, J. W. Platt, and J. W. Ash, of the Poverty Bay district.

After opening exercises, President Richards offered a few introductory remarks, explaining the nature of the meeting, it being something new to the natives. He hoped they had all come together for the sake of being spiritually fed and built up. The four branches were represented in a very satisfactory manner, showing that many had laid aside the pipe as well as other bad habits and were striving to live up to the light they had received.

The President of the mission then addressed the assembly through Ezra F. Richards, on the plan of life and salvation, making comments upon the good branch reports and exhorting the Saints to diligence.

2 p. m.

The statistical report for the seven months ending September 3d, was read, showing a grand total of 317 souls.

The remaining time was occupied by Elder J. W. Kauleinamoku and two of the Maori brethren.

7 p. m.

The Priesthood convened. It was decided to advance some in, and ordain others to, the Priesthood; also to establish a school for the benefit of the children of the Saints who are quite numerous. J. W. Platt being appointed teacher. It was resolved to observe the first Sunday of each month as fast day.

SECOND DAY.

After the opening exercises and administering the sacrament, the President of the mission delivered, through J. W. Ash, a plain and forcible discourse upon the first principles of the Gospel, and bore a powerful testimony to the truth of the work in which we are engaged, and the divinity of the mission of Joseph Smith. He was followed by E. F. Richards, who bore testimony to what had been said.

2 p.m.

The general and local authorities of the church were presented and sustained by the Conference. Many good structions and exhortations were given by Elders Ash, Platt and Magleby.

A testimony meeting in the evening closed the Conference, at which thirteen souls were added to the Church and nineteen ordinations were performed. Joy and general good feeling prevailed.

The mission is in a prosperous condition. The Elders are in good spirits and making fair progress in the language.

J. E. MAGLEBY, Clerk.

The combined outflow from 26 artesian wells sunk in Sierra Valley, Cal., is 767,520 gallons every 24 hours. The most expeditious work done was the sinking of three 600-foot wells in one week. The wells range in temperature from 40 degrees to 130 degrees. In all cases the water has proven to be good and palatable, both for drinking and culinary purposes, and much superior to any surface water for washing. Cattle and horses drink of it with great avidity.

The only remedy that takes away all pain is St. Jacobs Oil. It never fails.
