About on hundred Salt Lakers, including th members of the company, participated in the excursion and the run to Logan was very pleasant. The recepitor extreme. Every seat, in fact every foot of space in the handsome little the ater was occupied. The piece went with a brilliancy and humor that was neartily enjoyed, as attested by the warm applause that punctuated the performance at frequent intervals. The train left for the return trip at 1 o'clock, rolling leisurely over the rails as it had the rest of the night to make Salt Lake. It arrived here at about (.39 this morning. The company was exceedingly pleased with the reception received for it was the largest h ever played to in Logan. MUTINOUS SCENE TO AT UNIVERSITY

Students Hold a Vociferous Session This Afternoon.

THE EXCITEMENT RAN HIGL

rouble Caused by Effort to Expunge Objectionable Editorial from the University Chronicle.

The assembly room of the physical building at the university was today the scene of a most remarkable event It was virtually the students pitted against the faculty and what the outcome will be is a matter of speculation Put it is safe to say that never below in all the history of the institution we he faculty opposed so determinedly loggedly as today. For a long the he students of the university have fel that they have had a grievance as they have charged certain members e faculty with nusterity, severity an any other qualities that were eniculated to soften the bonds tween them and the students. celing on the part of the latter found expression in two editorials that appeared in the last issue of the Chronicle, the students' paper. The editor-ta-chief of the Chronicle, is George Snow Gibbs, He is the au-thor of the articles, which referred in-directly to various members of thefaculty, whose methods and attitudes in the class room were dealt with rather gingerly. The appearance of the paper produced some consternation among the more conservative students, and it is understood that the faculty took considerable umbrage at the editorials, although it did not say anything.

Will Ray, president of the entire student body, called the latter together today, and after dilating for some folly of the editorials, he moved that they be repudiated by the students. The motion was met with a storm of "Noes." and Editor Gibbs sprang to his feet and for about thirty minutes kept the students in a state of enthusi-asm. He said he was there to plead the side of the students, and to lift his voice in their cause. Nearly every student voted to sus-tain the editor, and the articles he had written, the dissenting votes being when it learns of this mutinous meeting, cannot be guessed, but those who attended that tumultuous session this afternoon do not doubt the earn-estness of the students. The meeting lasted about two hours. OFFENDING EDITORIAL.

The offending editorial appeared under several subheadings, the most objectionable being the following ex-paper ought to be. Being the official organ of the student body, the Chronshall be fearless in champ their rights, their privileges, and their interests, and as such we shall be expected to be at least listened to. At the same time we hope to show a keener appreciation of the faculty's efforts and ten ions than has often been displayed heretofore. We could wish, did it not perhaps involve an impossibility, that the Chronicle might do something to stimulate the faculty to show a greater nterest in the students personally and collectively.

He told the operator that he was going to work in a new hotel at Mammoth and had plenty of money.

The police at once notified the autherities of that place to arrest and hold the lad.
