For, Charles Raue, first tenor; H. Schwarz, S. Helmecke, L. Dausen, second tenor; Ernst Raue, H. I. Rothschild, first bass; F. W. Brokneyer, Hugo Hofer, and Philipp Keller, second bass.

A reception was given in honor of Mrs. T. C. Hill on Thursday afternoon by the Ladies Aid society of the Hill church. The event took place at the music and social converse being the features of the entertainment. Those present were: Misses Edna Davis, Hallie Ferron, Edith Herman, Beatrice Briggs, Mabel Thorne, Clara Cummings, Messrs. Dickerman, Hatch, Dresser, Davis, Grover and Ward.

On Thursday night the members of Salt Lake council No. 167 of the Royal Arcanum gave an enjoyable social at cythia. In the evening Mrs. Bransford, Miss Bransford and their guests made a theater party at the Kildee-James-Hanford performance.

On Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Root entertained at a delightful dinner party, covers being laid for ten. The rooms were decorated with cut flowers and smilax, carnations being used in the parlor, and daffodils and smilax for the dining room. The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Whitney, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Miller.

On Thursday evening the home of Mrs. Annie Lewis Johnson was the scene of a most enjoyable event, it being the occasion of a reception to her

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

MRS. ELIZA KIRTLLEY ROYLE.

MRS. ROYLE is truly a daughter of the West; she was born in the classic little town of Columbia, Missouri, and educated as the custom was in the early days, at a "Young Ladies' Select School," in St. Louis. Mrs. Royle imbibed her love of literature in the cultured circle of her home, for her father's house was one of boundless hospitality—and it was there, when a young girl, that she came to know the distinguished and cultivated people of her native State.

Her father, Captain Sinclair Kirtley, was a man of more than ordinary attainments—an accomplished scholar and a prominent lawyer in the early history of the State of Missouri. Among his intimate friends were such men as Edward Bates, Judge Abial Leonard, Judge Todd, Col. William F. Switzer, now the oldest living newspaper editor in Missouri, Dr. Nash McDowell, the founder of the first school of medicine in the State, and one of the most noted surgeons of his day, Samuel Glover, one of the most brilliant men of the St. Louis bar. The beloved John C. Richardson was Captain Kirtley's law partner, and afterwards was the youngest judge then on the supreme bench.

Such men as are mentioned here, were the intimate friends and frequent guests of the family. They were men of learning and rather prided themselves on keeping in touch with the classic lore acquired in college. They also knew their Shakespeare, were fond of "Bobby Burns," quoted easily from Byron, Keats and Shelley; surely it is not strange that one brought up in such an atmosphere should early acquire a taste for what is best in literature. As was natural, Mrs. Royle was eager and enthusiastic in doing what she could to promote the first literary club of this city. She was in fact one of the founders of the Ladies' Literary club, which is the oldest Woman's club west of the Missouri river, and which is today one of the most influential clubs of the West.

In recognition of the work done by Mrs. Royle as a club woman, the General Federation of Women's clubs, while in session at Denver in 1898, bestowed upon her the position of "Honorary Vice President of the West."

Mrs. Royle feels that in this honorary office she is placed with most distinguished company. The other honorary vice presidents of the federation are: Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Jennie June Crowley, and the venerable Mrs. Stone of Michigan.

Mrs. Royle has been three president and is still a devoted member of the Ladies' Literary club; is also president of "The Reviewers" and is an honorary member of the Woman's club of this city. She, with her husband, Judge Jonathan C. Royle, has been a resident of Salt Lake City for the past twenty-eight years. Her son, Edwin Milton Royle, has achieved an enviable reputation as a successful dramatist and actor.

residence of Mrs. C. M. Wood, 726 east Third South street, nearly 100 guests being present. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms, smilax and carnations, and the afternoon was enjoyable spent, a happy feature of the occasion being the presentation to Mrs. Hill by the ladies of the society of a silver tray and two sets of silver spoons. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Joel A. Smith, the wife of the pastor of the church. Miss Lambourn rendered some enjoyable musical selections (and refreshments were served).

The employees of the Troy laundry gave their annual ball on Thursday night at Christensen's, about 200 participating in the pleasant social reunion. The music was the best, and dancing was enjoyed till a late hour. The committee consisted of Mrs. Lizzy Dole, Misses Maud Dole, Rose Bird, Belle Imley, Mary Williams, Libbie Chase, Fannie Olson, Ada Walters, Mary Gray, Mary Hewitt, and Ed Primley. The floor was ably managed by John Robertshaw, Robert Watson, Will Lennell, Will Lake, Will Hughes.

On Monday evening Prof. B. N. McCoy of the University was surprised by a number of the members of his chemistry class, who appeared unexpectedly at his home, prepared to make the evening memorable in a pleasant way to their impromptu hosts. The plan was most successful, a delightful evening being passed by all present, guests the lodge hall, cards, vocal and instrumental music, speeches and refreshments making up the pleasant entertainment. Those who participated in the program were F. P. Smith, Fred Graham, Joseph Plaisant, John Cruikshanks, D. A. Doty, K. Evans and others.

On Wednesday evening the residence of Mr. George H. Wallace, at the corner of 1st and Third streets, was the scene of a pleasant social affair given by the officers and teachers in honor of the retiring superintendent and his assistants, of the Twenty-first ward Sunday school. Over 50 guests were present, and a pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of elegant testimonial gifts, Josiah Burrows, the superintendent, being presented with a handsomely gold framed set of resolutions, commending his efficient services in the duties of his office and the assistant superintendents, Thomas McIntyre and W. S. Owen, each a richly bound volume of Talmage's Articles of Faith. The presentation speech was made by Benjamin Goddard, and appropriate response was made by each of the recipients. A pleasant program of music, recitations and games was carried out, refreshments were served and the event in all details was most successful.

Mrs. S. Bransford entertained at dinner last evening, the guests being Mrs. Frank Harris, Mrs. Pione and Mrs. Harris. The table was decorated with pink and white carnations and hyafriends and pupils and the dedication of her new home.

During the evening a delightful program was rendered, Miss Bessie Edmonds being heard in some choice vocal selections and Miss Mattie Read favoring the assembly with a number of piano solos. Mr. Thomas Butler, the genial chorister of the Fourteenth ward, contributed a number of songs, and a pleasing dialogue was given by Miss Mattie Openshaw and Mr. D. P. Felt, showing the best methods of self-culture. Mrs. Mattie Hughes Cannon made an excellent address, and President Angus M. Cannon, after a few complimentary remarks on the nature of the gathering, offered the dedicatory prayer.

Delicious refreshments were served during the evening, and the affair all was most delightful and long to be remembered. Among the guests were: President and Mrs. Angus M. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butler, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Felt, Messrs. Emmeline B. Wells, Dr. Mary P. Silver, A. C. Wittice, Elizabeth Rose, Walter P. Read, Frederick Langston, Sarah Alt, Misses Mattie Read, Bessie Edmonds, Mattie Openshaw, Messrs. Theo. Newman, Charles E. Rose and William N. Williams.

Mr. D. P. Felt acted as master of ceremonies and did the affair credit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gooms were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by the unexpected advent of a number of their friends who gathered at their home to celebrate the ninth wedding anniversary of their impromptu hosts. The evening was enjoyably passed with games and music—a mock marriage ceremony performed by Chiffon Chaffin, being amongst the features of the event.

At the Central Christian church last night Miss E. M. Dukes of the High school gave an interesting description of her recent visit to the Burns district in Scotland. A social hour followed the talk.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCaslin, who have been absent on a pleasure trip for some time, returned on Thursday. They went first to California and returned by way of Louisiana and Tennessee, the latter being Mr. McCaslin's native State.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Madsen entertained at a pleasant informal affair on Wednesday evening in celebration of the birthday of the host. The rooms were decorated with pink and white carnations and the evening devoted to music and high five.

Col. Clayton, who has been absent in New York for some time past, returned home this week.

Mrs. Fred Hallett of this city, who has been visiting with Mrs. Harry McWilliams during the past month, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. E. W. Freyschlag of that city last week.

Frank Roberts has returned from Washington, D. C.

The marriage of Miss Ginnell Peterson and Mr. Basil Cornish will take place on the 25th of this month.

Mrs. W. R. Wallace entertained at an informal card-party on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Bell was the hostess at a pleasant card-party yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Murray was the hostess at a luncheon on Thursday.

A delightful evening party was given by Mrs. Keyser on Thursday.

Mrs. G. W. Phillips entertains the Saturday Night club at her residence this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alder will spend the next two or three weeks in San Francisco.

Miss Ella Clark entertained the sewing club on Monday.

Mr. Max Hanauer, who has been in the east for some time past, returned yesterday.

An entertainment is being planned by the ladies of St. Mark's Guild, to take place in the Salt Lake Theater in the near future. Tableaux, fancy dances and a minstrel performance by prominent young people in society will be amongst the features.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Moulton left this week for California.

On Wednesday Mr. Walter Druehl of this city and Miss Lena E. Stevens of Denver were married, the event occurring in the latter city.

Mrs. Wantland leaves next Monday for Denver, where she expects to reside.

Mrs. Coulter of Ogden is the guest of Mrs. Moyer.

Miss Lucile Jennings entertained the Card club, of which she is a member, on Thursday.

CLUB CHAT.

The Reapers' club commenced their program for 1900, with the study of American history, introducing biographies of eminent American poets, writers, statesmen, etc. Educational subjects have also been given.

On January 22nd, as it was the day following the anniversary of Eliza R. Snow's 90th birthday, the program consisted of selections from poems, of the talented writer, reminiscences of her life, etc.

Papers were given during February, on early American history, by Mrs. C. J. Treseott and Mrs. Amelia W. Ward; also two other subjects, in the same month, namely, The American Mound Builders, by Miss J. A. Druce, and the Life and Works of Pestalozzi, by Mrs. Minnie H. James.

On March 6th, Mrs. J. Druce gave a paper on the Life and Works of William Cullen Bryant; and Mrs. M. C. Hannibal read a sketch prepared on the Life of Martha Washington.

The Reviewers' club will be obliged to postpone its open day from March 12th to March 16th, on account of the indisposition of Mrs. Noiden, who was to have given the topic of the day. The Reviewers will meet Monday, March 12th, with Mrs. Brnnet, 833 east Second South. The topic will be "Man in American Literature," by the hostess.

At the meeting of the Cleofan last Tuesday Mrs. Wells gave a very interesting lecture on Buddhist architecture. Mrs. Wells gave a short sketch of the life of Buddha and afterwards explained the distinguishing features of the architecture of the Buddhists. Next week it is to be devoted to the consideration of the British authors, Tobias Smollett, Henry Fielding, Lawrence Sterne.

The Author's club took up the biography of Edgar Allan Poe at last Wednesday's meeting. Next week the poems of the same author will be studied.

Mrs. C. D. Moore has been appointed a member of the committee on resolution of the General Federation.

The executive board of the Federation met this afternoon at the Ladies' Literary club house.

The Athenian Lyceum met today. Mrs. Dart having charge of the program.

A brand new patriotic society after the order of the D. A. R. and the D. R., was organized in New York recently. More than that, it went to work at once to establish a club house so that its name, King Manor association, might be fully verified. The older Revolutionary societies join hands with this younger sister in a way that points to a possible all-around affiliation. The old King Manor house in Jamaica, L. I., is to be the new club home. It proves its blue blood among houses by a record of 200 years in which its owners were a United States ambassador to England and a governor of New York. Different clubs have agreed to take clubs in the Manor house. The Brooklyn Public Library association will have charge of the library. The Daughters of the American Revolution will supervise the kitchen. The great drawing room is to be fitted up by the Daughters of the Revolution, and the Jamaica Woman's club furnishes the historic east room. All kinds of colonial fittings are to be arranged to serve modern purposes. The club will go round the city in its number of men's clubs one better in its number of committees. This extra one is the suggestion committee. It is to sit in judgment on all suggestions and complaints entered by the members. The new society is also rich in its number of one selected for general application is:

How poor are all hereditary honors, Those poor possessions from another's deeds, Unless our own just virtues form our title.

And give a sanction to our fond assumption. The finance committee has adopted this saying of John Randolph:

I have the philosopher's stone which turns everything into gold—it is, "pay as you go."

The suggestion committee finds its motto and cardinal principle in Shakespeare:

Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice, Take every man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.

How nearly allied the revolutionary patriotic orders are may be guessed from the fact that the promoters of the King Manor association, Mrs. Henry Sanger Snow and Mrs. Mary E. Craigie, are on the official list of the D. R., while such prominent women as Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, Mrs. Charles Terry and Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake of the D. A. R. are enrolled in the membership.

That reorganization committee of fifteen upon which the general federation depended largely for new plans, spent three days recently in an effort to find out the best good for the greatest number. The details will be presented at the Milwaukee biennial. Among those who took part in the deliberations were:

Mrs. Rebecca D. Lowe, national president of the federation; Mrs. Eldredge of Denver, Mrs. Lindsay Johnson of Georgia, Mrs. Frederick Hanger of Arkansas, Mrs. Selwyn Douglas of Oklahoma, Mrs. Belmont of Washington, Mrs. Sherman of Illinois, Mrs. Dennison, president of New York Sorosis; Mrs. Van Vechten of Iowa, Mrs. William of New Jersey, Mrs. Brock of Pennsylvania.

The second triennial convention of the Council of Jewish Women have been in session the past week in Cleveland from March 4 to 11. The council has a large and cultured representation in twenty-three States which include fifty-five sections. Fraternal delegates were present from the Council of Women of the United States, the general federation and other women's national orders. After a business session, the program was literary and philanthropic. Miss Cornelia Ney of Kansas City read a paper on congregational and Sabbath school boards. A memorial meeting was held on the afternoon of March 7th for Mrs. Dora K. Wiley of Denver and Mrs. Ida Block of Kansas City. Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon of Chicago is president of the national council.

He Fooled The Surgeons. All doctors told Benick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the World. Surest Pill cure on Earth. 25c a box, at Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.
