I have used but two bettles, and am satisfied that I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons Liver Regulator by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bettles, and am satisfied that I have tried almost everything claimed to be appeared to the champion Dyspepsia.

I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact was given an ovation.

Governor James A. Beaver of Pennsylvania responded to the first toast, "Abraham Lincoln," and was followed by Governor G. C. Luce of Michigan, who responded to the toast, "One country, one Constitution, ene flag."
Senator John Sherman, the next who responded to the toast, "One country, one Constitution, ene flag."

Senator John Sherman, the next speaker, responded to the sentiment, "The republican party." In presenting him, Toast Master Chapeller referred to his fitness for the Fresidency, and there was an uproatious scene, which lasted for five minutes.

The senator ran over the history of the party from the first state convention held by the party over which he presided in the city of Columbus, to the present. He dwelt at length on the period's of Lincoln's administration, and spoke particularly of the great martyr's confidence in General Grant, General Sheridan, General Logan and General Sheridan, General L but within the past year this has been proven false. We unded with one of the best administrations in our history, but we have had one sad chapter, a chapter of accidents not worth mentioning now, due to the national divisions which are the outgrowth of power. We were not defeated but cheated out of the election. If there had been an houest ballot and a fair count, James G. Blaine would have been President. We have touched the earth to rise again. We enter the field with an unbroken line, with our strength increased by the feebleness of the present administration. The democratic administration has broken every ante-election promise. In the general management of finance, they have made a feeble imitation of our example. The administration has not been able to formulate a single proposition on which the democratic party can stand. They are now trying to break down the financial system, built up by the republican party; but they can't in the democratic house, agree on any measure. The senator referred to the powerful organization of the republican party and sat down amid a perfect storm of long and continued applause.

Governor Foraker responded to the storm of long and continued applause.

Governor Foraker responded to the toast "The Outlook." He said: "The outlook is bright. There is no darkness. No matter whether OUR OWN GREAT LEADER as we hope will be the case, or some other man is chosen as our standard bearer, we are ready, rank and file, as one man, to follow him with vim and vigor, to triumphant victory." In closing, Governor Foraker said: "We have resolved never again to have a shotgun President. Whatever others may think, I believe that if Blaine had made his Augusta speech one week before rather than one week after the election, he would have been elected President. I say this because an able paper has recently advocated the question, 'Shall American manhood be relegated to the rear?' Never! And if they do relegate it to the rear, the party will march to its defeat, and it will be a just punishment from God for infidelity and political cowardice." Murat Haistead responded to "The Press." He said: "We may inter that if Mr. Lincoln had been an editor instead of a lawyer, if he had been of the press instead of President, and if for many years he had spent long nights in writing as he thought of all the subjects of current interest often upon imperfect information, and there had appeared each morning a printed sheet upon which was unchangeably recorded his candid expressions of opinion, there would have been many mistakes acknowledged as to men and measures, many regrets confessed and judgments reversed, misgivings as to the labors personally and publicly indulged. All of this in his own language, "With malice toward none and charity for all," and he would have safely and reverently invoked, as upon the act held to be the most important of his life, "the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God." How a Dying Child Was Saved! CICERO, HAMILTON Co., IND., Sept., 19, 1837 .-

The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 13 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grow larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but falled to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the fiesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved so that when seventeen months old she CONSTIPATION now four years old. When 12 months old a ed, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen menths of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Bos-ton, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886 We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemms we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bot-tle" of Swirr's Spacific, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hasel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hus of her checks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child.
