EXTENDED GOING ABROAD.

It appears that the deceased and his wife, Bishop John Burt, of Salt Lake City intended going to Europe.

On Saturday evening an inquest was held over the body of the Marshal by Coroner Taylor and a jury composed of the following citizens: William Naylor, Robert Patrick and Jesse W. Fox, Jr., who returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

On the same evening a special session of the City Council was held at which Mayor Jennings and members of that body made remarks suited to the occasion and the following resolution was passed:

PEOULARITIES.

No person who ever made the acquaintance of Marshal Burt ever doubted, or could possibly doubt his sagacity, penetrating mind and sound judgment.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Andrew Hill Burt was born in Dunfermline, Fifeshire, Scotland, October 21st, 1828. On the 19th of May, 1848, he was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Clackmannan, by John Sharp.

He served on various expeditions for the protection of the people, among which was the San Pete Indian war of 1865.

He was ordained Bishop of the 21st ward on July 5th, 1877, and in that capacity, as in all others in which he served, was a devoted and indefatigable servant of the people.

In special session of the City Council of Salt Lake City, called by the Mayor, by reason of the sad event that has cut down while in the active discharge of his official duty, Marshal Andrew Burt, and for the purpose of expressing our sympathy and condolence with the family of the deceased and with the community in the loss of so valiant and able an officer,

Be it Resolved, that the Mayor be authorized to appoint a committee of seven to ascertain the wishes of the family of the deceased, and with their approbation, to provide for the funeral ceremonies, and to prepare such expression of the deep feelings of this Council, on the lamentable occasion as may be proper; and that said committee be authorized to employ the necessary means to afford all citizens an opportunity to express the high estimation in which our fellow officer was universally regarded.

The committee are: Aldermen Patrick and Raleigh, Councilor D. H. Wells, Messrs. Geo. M. Ottinger, John R. Winder, B. Y. Hampton and W. G. Phillips.

The feeling in the community toward the bereaved family of the deceased is, it is almost needless to state, one of the keenest sympathy.

A MERICAN THE PRESIDENT'S PICNIC.

A Pleasant Picture of the Trip.

CAMP LOGAN, Yellowstone Park, 23rd, via Livingston, Mont., 25.—The white frost was still thick on the blades of grass, on the leaves, on the shrubs and plants, glistening in the morning sunlight like diamond dust, and the mists and vapors rested close to the surface of river as the presidential party mounted at 6.45 a. m. and started out for the day's march.

of the water of the beach mingle pleasantly with its twin sister the sounds of the sighing of winds in the trees near by.

Yesterday we remained at Camp Strong, and its surroundings are worthy of more than passing notice. The grassy bottom is surrounded by mountains clad with evergreen trees of all sizes, from the young seedling up to mature age, scattered singly, grouped in clusters, or massed into dark forests.

Pictures of Camp Lincoln, with its banks of snow lying placidly and slowly melting near the trail and near snow-flowers and grasses which had all the freshness of early spring, tender forget-me-nots, wild asters, butter cups, and columbines; the latter with a delicate and scarcely perceptible shade of blue in its rich white, and for which many deem it the most beautiful of all the wild flowers found in the Rocky Mountains, a carpeting of scarlet and blue and gold, added to this the white mountain flax, nestling close to mother earth and in such profusion as to suggest the idea that the hand of nature had grasped some of her myriads of stars and scattered them in wanton profusion on the grassy slopes.

of the water of the beach mingle pleasantly with its twin sister the sounds of the sighing of winds in the trees near by. Along our line of march we saw large quantities of Indian tea, a diminutive species of evergreen whortleberries, five to ten inches high, found only in the timber and at an altitude of from 8,000 to 10,000 feet.

zling whiteness in the sunlight. Yes, the scenery along our route will furnish many pleasant memories in the years to come.

Enough game has been killed to satisfy the wants of the party, but to-day we entered the sacred precincts of the Park, and the buffalo and elk can look at us with perfect safety, for General Sheridan has given strict orders that nothing be killed. The members of the party are enjoying their usual good health and realize something in the way of robust strength for the investment made in taking a trip of this kind.

Upper Geyser, Basin of Yellowstone National Park, 24, via Livingston, Mont., 25.—At 1 o'clock to-day, after a dusty march of 28 miles over a rough trail, the President and party arrived in the Upper Geyser Basin of the National Park, and went into camp near "Old Faithful Geyser," who greeted us a few moments after dismounting with one of his hourly eruptions.

PARK CITY, U. T., 26.—At a late hour last night a number of masked men stopped Engineer Thomas, Roadmaster Hughes and a fireman in the employ of the Utah Eastern Railway Company, compelled them to return to the shops and taking an engine and caboose ran about 30 miles distant. Leaving a number of men in charge of the train the vigilantes proceeded to the county jail, bringing their guns to bear on the officers, they obtained control of the jail, and taking Jack Murphy from his cell, returned to the train and ordered an immediate return to Park City.

BEAR LAKE STAKE CONFERENCE.

The Quarterly Conference of the Bear Lake Stake of Zion was held in the Bowery at Paris, Aug. 18th and 19th, 1883.

On the stand were John Taylor, George Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith of the First Presidency; Wilford Woodruff, Pres. Wm. Budges, Geo. Osmond, Bishop Sheets, Elder, L. J. Nuttall and John Irvine, Bishops of Wards and local Priesthood.

President Taylor made a few opening remarks as a greeting to the Stake.

The condition of the Wards was then reported by their respective Bishops.

The time remaining was occupied by Presidents Joe. F. Smith and Geo. Q. Cannon. They spoke of the growth of Zion in spite of the war that the world is waging against us; said the Saints of God would at last prevail if they would serve the Lord; spoke also of some of the evils existing among the Latter-day Saints, such as drunkenness, swearing, etc., and that it was the duty of those holding the Priesthood to put down these vices.

The afternoon was taken up by remarks from Pres. Wilford Woodruff, Elders L. J. Nuttall and Bishop Sheets; they dwelt upon the work of Temple building, and the great work of redeeming the dead; the missionary labor abroad, and the Sunday school work at home. The Saints were advised to store up wheat in this time of plenty, and to save means and keep out of debt. The wind bothered a great deal during the day, but the people felt as though they had enjoyed a great feast.

[Sunday, Aug. 19.]

After the usual opening exercises Elders Geo. Q. Cannon and Jos. F. Smith, respectively, occupied the time, portraying in a very striking manner the efforts this nation has made by the several proscriptive bills that have been introduced, to stamp out the principle of plural marriage and to persecute the Saints of God.

President Taylor occupied the afternoon in giving many general instructions, showing that the Lord has blessed this people, and comforted them by the assurance that He would protect them in the future. Showed that it was necessary to suffer tribulation that we may be prepared for the glory of God.
