

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

THE BEST MILK CATTLE.—Mr. G. Ross of Marion county, Louisville, asks us to "give the name of the best milk cattle and the address of their owners."

There is no single breed or mace of cattle which is entitled to the distinction of being the best.

For quantity of milk and without reference to the character of the product, the Ayrshires are generally regarded as the best.

My cattle of Western Europe are probably better than any other of those breeds regarded.

For quantity and in proportion to amount of food consumed and regardless of the quality of the product, the Ayrshires are generally regarded as the best.

For quantity and purposes in which the quantity and quality of the milk as well as the quantity and cost of food are taken into the account we find the Jersey cattle, furnished with a variety of characteristics, furnished by the Shorthorn cross upon "common stock" so-called, which often includes a spriggle of blood from the usual domestic cattle.

If the inquirer has some cows of fair quality though of common stock, a good Shorthorn bull will be likely to give him more milk and with reasonably good attention and skillful handling may be developed into first rate milk cows. And this will serve as a practical lesson to all the country.

He who desires a pure breed from which to propagate for sale breeding animals, if the latter is aimed at, we know of no race more likely to give satisfaction than the Jersey.

It is not improbable that the polled Scotch Galloways, and perhaps the Dutch, will prove to be valuable acquisitions. Should they become favorites as milkers, in comparison with the Ayrshires and Jerseys, their better size and their superior breeding qualities will be a decided factor in their favor.
