The matter was then placed before the farmers' committee with the result as already stated. A meeting of the latter committee was held on Saturday afternoon at the close of which Chairman Mackey made the following statement: the following statement: "The committee spent considerable "The committee spent considerable time in considering the matter, and after looking carefully into the ques-tion, decided that the proposition could not be entertained. We reached this conclusion from two reasons, first be-cause we were informed by the at-torneys for the company that all the complainants would have to sign the agreement, and as there are 408 of them, of whom at least a hundred are opposed to granting the smelters any concessions upon any consideraare opposed to granting the smelters any concessions upon any considera-tion, this step would be impossible; also because we have had the matter settled in our favor by the highest court in the land and we propose to stand by its decision. We have noth-ing further to offer and now hope that the public agitation will cease."

The Yankee is not shipping any ore at present, the last car having been sent out Sunday. The company has a contract with the smeiter whereby shipments could be kept up, but the present price of metals heing down the company has deemed it aovisable to keep the ore in the mine, consequently, there is no work going on in the old workings, the entire at-tontion being given over to the new territory. territory.

OPTIMISTIC ON COPPER.

J. Park Channing Sees Bright Times Ahead for Metal.

(Pollock Special Wire.) Boston, Jan. 13 .- The News Bureau

today quotes J. Park Channing, mining engineer and president of Tenn. Copper Co., as saying: "Basically the copper situation is no different than it was a year ago. The legitimate de-mand is, and will continue to increase as electrical development continues to increase in the country and at the same increase in the country and at the same time the production will only about keep pace with the increased demand. As has been pointed out the supply of raw material, that is, of copper ores, is limited and is not, and cannot, as is the case of iron ore, be estimated at hundreds of millions of tons. What hundreds of millions of tons. What the average price of copper for the year 1998 will be is hard to tell, though it seems quite likely that before the end of the year, 16 or 17 cents may be ex-pected for the metal. While the law of supply and demand undoubtedly governs the immediate price of copper, ultimately the cost of production is one of the personal items. The cost of producing copper has unquestion-ably advanced two cents in the last three or four years, and therefore to make even the same returns, a price of 17 cents today would only equal that 17 cents today would only equal that of 15 cents three or four years ago. It seems quite likely that there will be no increase in the production by any of the closed mines unless copper shall have gone beyond 15 cents."

Although entering into the second week of the new year, there has been no improvement in the copper situa-tion. There have been no sales of quantity, and a price of 14 cents still maintains for electrolytic. Lake for delivery this month is 14% cents asked, while a consumer seeking some conwhile a consumer seeking some cop-per from Michigan for March shipment was named 144, cents. A prominent wire rod manufacturer says that while his plant is working on some old or-ders there is nothing now in sight at the moment. The demand for wire is the moment. The demand for wire is flat and in many instances the manu-facturers have shut down some of their plants and in others are working but a few hours a week. During the month of August, 1906, the wire manufacturers of the United States, most of whom belong to an association of wire draw-ers, used 32,000,000 pounds of copper. In August, 1907, the exact amount used in the manufacturers had fallen to 9,000,000pounds. The late months of 1906 and the first quarter of 1907 were all admit-tedly the heaviest as regards consump-tion of copper ever witnessed and at the moment it is estimated as com-for Feb. 5 at which time the matter of increasing the capital stock of the cor-poration from 190,000 to 250,000 shares, will be brought up for consideration, and at the same time the proposition of issuing $80,000 worth of convertible bonds will be decided. Owing to the fact that the company cannot ship ore at the present time cwing to the low price of metals, and the fact that the United States Smelt-ing company declines to receive it at its Bingham Junction plant, the direc-tors decided upon this means of rats-ing funds to continue development work and to meet outstanding obliga-tions.

HOUSEHOLDER CASE.

Charitable Institutions Have Been Looking After the Family,

Persons living near the family of Johnston Householder, who on Satur-day was bound over to the district court for alleged neglect of his family, take exceptions to the newspaper ac-counts of the extreme destitution of the wife and children. It is stated on good authority that much has been done for them by individuals charitably in-clined, as well as by organizations which make the alleviation of suffer-ing the main object of their existence. The Relief society of the Fourth ec-clesiastical ward has given to Mrs. Householder and children many neces-saries of life, as has also Bishop Worthen of that ward. A few days ago Bishop Worthern took Mrs. Householder to up town store for the purpose of selecting groceries, clothing and shoes for her family, but while his back was turned for a moment, she disappeared, and it took three hours' searching for her. It is said that at other times she has acted somewhat strangely. Since the arrest of the head of the house there has been no lack of food or provisions in the house, people seeming to vie with each other in the bestowal of conforts.
