FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

H. P. Kimball offers for sale 20 head of young American horses and mares; also a fine young Jack and a Jenny. See his special.

The 21st Ward Dramatic Company gave one of their best performances last evening. The principal characters were in good hands. The new costumes showed off to good advantage. To-night the entertainment will be repeated.

There was a large attendance at the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms last night, the occasion being the opening of a Tonic-soil class by Mr. A. C. Smyth. The audience were delighted with the simplicity of the method, and all the close nearly all gave their names for enrollment. Mr. Smyth informs us that he will receive new members until Dec. 3d, after which date the roll will be closed.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Home Mission.—There will be a meeting of the Home Missionaries of this State in the Social Hall at 7 o'clock to-morrow (Wednesday) evening.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR, State Clerk.

Whereabouts Wanted.—The whereabouts of Jas. Shoemaker or any of his family, supposed to be in Salt Lake City or in Utah Territory, is wanted by Joel Shoemaker, Camp E, Fort Douglas.

Brocade Satin.—A very excellent sample of brocade satin, of home manufacture, was exhibited by its maker, James Chalmers, at this office last evening. The article is acknowledged by the shops of this city as being fully equal to what is imported of the same grade.

Derr's Benefit.—The performance at the Theatre last evening merited a better audience. The Sixteenth Ward brass band having volunteered to parade the streets, rendered some fine selections outside previous to the beginning of the play. "Coralie" was well presented, and most of the olio as well. Miss Olsen sang with her usual excellence, and Mr. Newson proved quite a versatile artist in the instrumental line. All in all the entertainment was worthy of better patronage.

Home-Made Hats.—Richard Smyth, of the Twentieth Ward, a hat maker of many years' experience, is turning out some very nice styles in gentlemen's, stiff hats, which compare very favorably with imports of this kind.

He is now supplying Z. C. M. I. with hats, which he designs improving to the extent that they will more than compete in style, price, quality of work, durability and in every other way with goods from abroad. He is worthy of encouragement.

Almost a Fire.—What might have been a destructive fire was put out in the early stages at the Sixth Ward School house yesterday. It was during school hours. Some one is it, supposed, had put a carpet against the stove pipe where it passes through the room over the one in which school is held, and the fire was thus communicated to the floor.

A little boy named Irvine, in the school room, happened to see something fall from the ceiling, and having obtained permission to go out, ascended to the upper floor and discovered the fire. A space of about three feet by six, was in flames, but as the alarm was given immediately, they were extinguished before much damage was done. The little boy who gave the alarm was slightly burned while putting out the fire.

Sunday School Visitors.—Sunday morning, Brothers George Goddard and John Morgan, assistants to the General Superintendent of the Deseret Sunday School Union; Brothers John C. Cutler, Thomas E. Taylor and Richard I. Horne, of the Salt Lake State Superintendency; Brothers Levi W. Richards and Jos. Hyrum Parry, Secretaries, and Brother John Alford, Sunday School missionary, visited the Sunday School of the Sixth Ward.

After the opening exercises, the meeting was placed in the hands of the visiting officers, who made short and instructive addresses, interspersed with reading, recitations, and singing by the children. The meeting was very interesting. By invitation those of the brethren who were able to do so remained, and attended the afternoon meeting, speaking to the congregation on matters connected with Sunday Schools.

In the evening meeting all the visitors were again present, and with Bishop Hickenloper and Supt. Glaque, of the 6th Ward, addressed the meeting on the subjects of tithing, temple building, faith, punctuality, missionary labor, and other interesting topics. Several missionaries were appointed to labor in the Ward in the Sunday School interest. All of the meetings were well attended, the event being one that will be long remembered for the good feeling and enjoyment experienced.

The Sunday School of the Sixth Ward is in a flourishing condition, being well attended by the children, and provided with an efficient corps of officers and teachers, who are thoroughly in earnest in their labors, and feel greatly encouraged at the results attained and prospects for the future.

CALLED TO GO.

PARTICULARS OF THE DEATH OF ELDER DAVID P. KIMBALL.

The sudden shock caused by the death of Brother David P. Kimball, is still fresh in the public mind. Since the arrival of the telegram which stated that it occurred at half-past six o'clock on the morning of the 21st inst., nothing else had been received in relation to it until yesterday, when a private letter from Brother Charles S. Whitney, nephew of the deceased, who accompanied him from this city to his home in St. David, Arizona, a short time previous to his demise, brought further news respecting the event so much regretted. We cannot do better than give an extract from this letter, which has been placed at our disposal by Brother Whitney's family.

"Had I been able, I should have appeared upon the sudden shock of Uncle David's death, by letting you know of his sickness. But even had I written when he was first known to be dangerously ill, it would not have reached you until several hours after this morning's (Nov. 21) telegram. He took sick as soon as he reached home, and was in bed for a week, then was up again for several days and went to Tombstone, on Tuesday the 13th inst., in his buggy with Brother John Merrill. He came back late the same night, sick with the chills, and was in bed till the time of his death.

"I have not seen him on his feet since he came home, as I have been in the mountains with the boys. We got back last Friday, he was then very sick, and the next day as we were at dinner, Cousin Tom, who was with his father, exclaimed, 'Mother, come here!' We rushed in, Uncle David appeared to be struggling; Tom drove for the Doctor. Uncle David continued in great pain and out of his mind most of the time. He had Aunt Caroline good by, day before yesterday. Last night the doctor gave up all hope. He died this morning at half past six, easily, and apparently without a bit of pain.

"Shortly before he died, he looked up and called 'Father, father!' All night he had called Uncle Peter. You will remember hearing him tell of how Grand-pa (Elder C. Kimball) came to him when he was lost on the desert, and telling him he wanted him to go with him, and how Uncle David pleased for two more years, and was given that much longer to stay. Last Saturday, the day he was so bad, was just two years from the day he was lost, and this morning, at the time he died, was two years, almost to the hour, from the day he was found. The people here have all been very kind during his sickness, sitting up with him, and since he died offering themselves and teams to go on errands, etc. Cousin Pat (eldest son of the deceased) who is off freighting, has not yet heard the sad news."

The Sanpete Artist.—The young artist, Mr. G. H. Jack, whose remarkable progress in New York City was mentioned in the News of last Thursday, is the son of Brother Wm. Jack, of Mantle, Sanpete County. He is not a native of England, as we were informed, but was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He took the first prize for sketching in many years old. He exhibited from his earliest years a passion for the art, but met with no encouragement from his relatives to pursue it as a profession. He, however, has toiled and struggled on, until he now bids fair to be heard from at no distant day, as a shining light in his artistic vocation. His brother, James G. Jack, of this city, is our informant in the above further particulars regarding him.

Since the above was in type, the father of the young man in New York, furnishes a few additional items by letter. His son's full name is Gavin Hamilton Kirkham. A few years ago, Mr. Reuben Kirkham, of Logan, visited Mantle with his panorama, "Across the Continent." Gavin visited it and was very much taken up with the pictures. On the following evening, Mr. Kirkham addressed a young folks' meeting and gave a sketch of his life, the trials and difficulties he had to surmount before he attained to the degree of proficiency he then had in his profession. After this, Gavin could no longer content himself on the farm, and soon came to Salt Lake, where he apprenticed himself to Mr. Kirkham, for whom he worked a considerable time. The father thinks it is to Mr. Kirkham that much credit belongs for what proficiency his son has reached, or may in the future attain to in this direction, and is satisfied that Gavin often thinks of and profits by the lessons he received from him, and is also benefited by the good counsel and sound advice received from the same source.

"The Roman Rye."—Of all the great modern plays "The Roman Rye" is the most thrilling and life like. Six months at the Princess Theatre, London, and three months at Booth's Theatre, New York, certainly endorses this opinion. There are fifty-five people and twenty-seven gypsies in the cast of this play, and it takes three large railway cars to bring the scenery and costumes from New York. Among the famous "Life-pictures" are "The Gypsy Encampment," "The English Race Course," "Crane nest by moonlight," "London at Sunrise," "The wreck of the Saratoga," and "Little Quaker street."—New York Tribune.

Beginning to-night, this celebrated drama will be produced at the Opera House, for four nights and Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee.

The Operatic Minstrels.—The Moss Minstrels open at the Theatre on Thursday evening. Concerning them, the Salem Statesman has the following:

"Oregon boys are not behind in anything they undertake, and it remained for Walter S. Moss to bring the best minstrel to Oregon. With-out doubt, his company collected all the best talent in the Northwest, and the music was excellent, often pouring forth soul-stirring melodies."

When you feel tired, languid, wearied without exertion, the mind slow to act, and requiring great mental effort, you can rest assured that your liver is not acting properly, and that nature requires assistance to help throw out impurities. There is no remedy that will accomplish this so mildly and yet effectually as "Purifying Blood Bitters." A trial will satisfy you of its merits.
