TO INSTRUCT OFFICERS.

War Department Plans Preliminary Encampments for National Guard.

The war department will ask the adjutant generals of the state if they favor preliminary camps of instruction for the commissioned personel of the organized militia. This is a new idea, which has been adopted in Arkansas upon the counst of the national guard supon the sequest of the national guard qualified to act as instructor has been selected to impart information in the form of lectures and demonstrations to the Arkansas national guard officers who will go into an instruction camp at Fort Logan H. Root for ten days in June. This is before the state en-ampment and precedes the field maneuvers, to which the Arkansas militia is invited in connection with the feedback of the military authori-ties in Washington who have to do with the development and encourage-ment of the militia believe that this system of instruction will be of de-cided advantage and that it may very profitably be extended to all of the national guard will obtain at first hand valuable instruction with the pri-vices of seeking information from concerning which they entertain ouble. organized militia. CHURCH NOTICES.

Elder William H. King as Speaker at Tabernacle Yesterday Answers Those Who Assail Mormons.

That Mormonism is spiritual, first and ilways, in its aims, purposes and consummation, and that criticisms offered to the countrary are without foundation. and bruises as a result of an accident in fact, was contended by Elder Wiland bruises as a result of an accident which befell him while he was trying to hoard a street car in Main street between Second and Third South streets, last evening. Hood seized the handles of the car but was unable to maintain his hold and was thrown heavily to the ground. He received a deep scalp wound and was tak-en to a near by drug store where the cuts were dressed, after which he was taken to his home. liam H. King at the tabernacle yester-day afternoon. The speaker asserted in no uncertain tone that materialism, in-cluding so-called commercialism, en-tered into the Church only that man's temporal welfare might not suffer while the soul was undergoing the develop-ment designed of heaven.

the soul was undergoing the develop-ment designed of heaven. Elder King was preceded by Elder Albert R. Lyman, of San Juan stake, who discoursed on the benefits to be derived from having a personal testi-mony of the divinity of the Savior and the oneness of the gospel that He de-livered to mankind There was a large congregation in attendance, and both speakers were listened to with rapt at-tention.

ELDER ALBERT R. LYMAN.

Eider Lyman said that obedience is one of the first requisites of salvation. The speaker had early been taught that The speaker had alray been taught out Joseph Smith was a prophet sent of God, and had also been taught not to depend upon the testimony of any one else, but to seek a knowledge from God as to the truth of the gospel. Mortality is but the second estate of man's ex-istence. Conditions are met with here that will determine the status of the as to the truth of the gosper. All marks of is but the second estate of man's ex-istence. Conditions are met with here that will determine the status of the hereafter. Eternal life is predicated up-on obedience to law. Even planets are kept in their proper place by this prin-ciple. The providences of God are somatimes difficult to understand, as for instance the death of children and others just beginning upon useful ca-reers. We shall yet learn that God does all things well and for the eternal benefit of His children. Truth is immutable, and unchange-able. A principle cannot be true at one time and false at another. The laws of eternal life must be obeyed by all who would inherit eternal life. There is no bigotry or inconsistency in the declarations of the Latter-day Saints that they have the gospel of the Son of God. Good men and women are found everywhere, but there is only one plan of salvation. ELDER WILLIAM H. KING.

ELDER WILLIAM H. KING.

ELDER WILLIAM H. KING. Elder King said in part. Despite the knowledge in the world today, scienti-fic and otherwise, it is almost startl-ing to have a man stand up and af-firm that he has a living faith and testimony of a certain religion. Un-belief and uncertainty prevail to a good thing to have a living testimony of the divinity of Jesus Christ. Lat-ter-day Saints are called egotistical because they make such a claim. A local critic of the Mormon creed inion that the Latter-day Saints are lacking in spiritualuality. The bolief is prevalent that this people are noth-ing so much as a commercial co-opera-tive system, seeking the temporal wel-fare of man to the deteriment of his spiritual well being. RELIGION COMES FIRST Mormonism is alone and above all a strictly religious system. It teaches the power and love of God and the divinity of His Son Jesus Christ, and has for its object the bringing into harmony of all the people of the earth, that the will of God may be done on earth as in Heaven. No peo-ple, not actuated by religious con-victions, can or would endure what the Latter-day Saints have. They have demonstrated in their lives that they are possessed of the supreme courage and endurance born only of true re-ligion. Mormonism is founded on all that is best in man, not deifying the man's body to the exclusion of his soul, but claiming that both are precious in the sight of God and will be eternal-ty reunited in the resurrection. but claiming that both are prevents in the sight of God and will be eternal-ty reunited in the resurrection. What is there in Mormonism that subjects it to such adverse criticism? Its objects are to bring men back into the presence of God. not merely to work for temporal blessings. Mortal man is but a transitory being, sont from another world to prepare him for an existence hereafter. There is no truth in the assertion that Mor-monism is more financial and com-mercial than spiritual. There is too little religion in the world today. In churches and in colleges efforts are be-ing made to degrade Jesus Christ to the level of a man, to prove that He was not the Son of God.
