

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

MRS. LUCINDA CLAWSON DODGE.

Mrs. Lucinda C. Dodge, the subject of this sketch, enjoys the distinction of having preceded the pioneers of Utah into Salt Lake Valley, by one year. As a child of seven, she was a member of the ill-fated Donner party, whose terrible experience in crossing the desert to California has become a matter of history. Her father, Thomas Rhodes, was the original leader of the party, but George Donner was later elected captain. The expedition afterward divided, one taking a northern and the other the southern route, and the division in which the Rhodes family traveled succeeded in reaching California in safety. Mrs. Dodge's father and five brothers being amongst those who went back to rescue the few who remained alive of the other company. Mrs. Dodge, though but a child at the time, remembers distinctly many incidents of her journey across the "plains" with the Donner party—amongst them an attack by Indians in which two of her elder sisters each took a gun and helped in defending the train from their assailants.

Mrs. Dodge remained in California for two years, after which, with other members of her family, she came to Utah, where she endured all the hardships and vicissitudes undergone by the other pioneers of the region. Several years later she married John R. Clawson, a brother of Bishop H. B. Clawson, and who has since died. At the time of the move south, Mr. Clawson was called to stay as guard for the homes left in Salt Lake, and Mrs. Clawson went to Battle Creek, where, with a boy of twelve years as sole aid, she was left in charge of all her husband's stock, being obliged many times to hide them in the brush to save them from the Indians, who were making constant depredations, killing herders and stealing the stock. She was amongst the first to answer the call to return home, and went with her husband and her two-year-old child to live at what was known as the Old Church Farm on the Jordan river. While alone one day at the house, Mrs. Dodge was attacked by Indians, who cruelly beat and stamped her into insensibility leaving her for dead. Her babe, which she had just hushed to sleep, fortunately escaped the notice of the red fiends, or it would undoubtedly have been killed. Mrs. Dodge still suffers from injuries inflicted at their hands at that time. Mrs. Dodge says she can well remember the days when women were obliged to work in the fields and herd stock with their babies strapped on their backs, fearing any moment an attack by the ever dreaded and almost ever present foe. Some time after the death of John R. Clawson, Mrs. Dodge was married to her present husband, and has continued to reside in Salt Lake, her home at present being a handsome residence on East Brigham street, comfort and plenty having succeeded the days of deprivation and toil.

The opening of September witnesses the return of a majority of the hosts of summer absentees, and from now on doubtless social functions will be multiplied with increasing ratio to the advance of the season.

The mountain resorts are to a great extent deserted, and from the seashore and other localities where many Salt Lake residents have spent the summer, numbers are returning each day swelling the list of returning recreation seekers who have sought change and rest away from home. There will be on the other hand a considerable outflow from the city to colleges and schools on the part of those who have been spending vacations in Salt Lake, and those who will visit the Paris Exposition and other places abroad during the coming months.

A pretty event of the week was the wedding of Miss May Ella Blood of Berkeley, Cal., and Dr. Victor Lenher of New York. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bransford, the latter being the sister of the bride. The parlor was tastefully decorated in green and white, carnations and asters being used, and the north window in which the bridal couple stood was embowered in palms and trailing vines. In the hall, flowers and palms were used, and in the dining room green prevailed, the table having a centerpiece of ferns, with lovers knots in wide green ribbon at the corners and green candelabra aiding in the artistic effect.

As the bridal party entered the parlor Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the Deseret Mandolin Guitars club which was stationed in the upper hall, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the Loehngren march was played, Rev. Ellis Bishop officiated. An elaborate supper was afterwards served, about 20 guests being present. In the evening the newly married couple left for Madison, Wis., where Dr. Lenher has accepted a position in the State University.

The invited guests were Col. and Mrs. E. F. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Evans, Rev. Ellis Bishop, Mrs. S. E. Bransford, Miss Bransford, Mr. and Mrs. M. Vicker, Miss Grace Emery, Jay Harris, R. C. Chambers, Mrs. Helen Blood, Mrs. J. R. Murray and son of California, J. H. Murray and George D. Blood of Park City, Miss Cora Sheop of Virginia, Harold Lamb.

A charming entertainment was given on Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Emmanuel Kahn, on South Temple street. The event was in the nature of a lawn party, and was under the direction of the junior section of the Council of Jewish women, numbering a score of little ladies who undertook the pretty affair of last night for the purpose of aiding in the liquidation of the debt on the Jewish Temple.

The grounds were brilliantly lit with colored electric lights and Chinese lanterns and bright bunting and pretty booths made the scene strikingly picturesque in effect. A much larger number of visitors were present than at the affair of Thursday night, and the little hostesses reaped a considerable harvest from their efforts, though the details of the affair were charming enough to have attracted a much larger number of visitors. The entertainment is the first of a series of similar ones which will be given during the coming season and they are anticipating that a more generous appreciation will be accorded their future efforts. Those who had charge of Thursday night's affair were Helen Hamberger, Rita Kahn, Misses Harriet, Stella, and Helen Cohn, Misses Janie and Hattie Barnett, Elsie Ganz, Irma Simmons, Lizzie Weitz, and Paul Rothschild.

Mrs. George P. Holman entertained at dinner at the Alta club on Thursday in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Lucinda Dodge. The decorations, which were done by Florist L. E. Evans, were most artistic, the table bearing a large centerpiece of asters in tins of pink and lavender, arranged in three embankments, a large oval centerpiece, two smaller circular pieces. From the center vines ran to the place of each guest, and bouquets of asters and carnations, tied with pink ribbons, also lay at each place. Ferns and sprigged were strewn lavishly about the table, with graceful effect. A delicious menu was served, the event being altogether one of the most elaborate of the season. Present were Mrs. Holman, Mrs. London, Madam Poutz, Miss Keogh, Mrs. Keith, Mrs. E. F. Holman, Mrs. C. C. Bailey, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Fawcett, Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Post, Mrs. Clement, Mrs. Pearsall, Mrs. Park, Mrs. T. Bailey, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. McKaskill, Mrs. Gaylord.

On Monday evening Miss Emily May McMillan and Allison C. Husbands were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Solomon. Last night a reception was given in honor of the young couple at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McMillan, about forty of the relatives and intimate friends being present. The bride is the daughter of William McMillan of the Salt Lake & Los Angeles railway, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Husbands, both being well and popularly known in the community. The guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMillan, Miss Clara E. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Husbands, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Alma Chalkier, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Newton, Mrs. Agnes Newton, Miss Laura Newton, Miss Amy Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Maughan, Mrs. A. P. Juddes, Miss Jennie Ridges, Mr. and Mrs. Abel M. Preese, Miss Ida Preese, Mr. John W. Whipple, Miss Amy Hagman, Mr. John Merritt, Miss Lily Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardner, Mr. E. George Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Uhl entertained at an elaborate dinner on Monday in honor of Mrs. Henderson Green of Elko, Nev. The dining room was strikingly done in red, the ceiling being canopied with fringe paper, in ruby tint, the moulding carrying a heavy flounce of the same material. The walls were festooned with sprays of plumosa and red carnations, and the lights were all shaded in red, while from the chandeliers ten heavy streamers of smilax led to each cover, where they were fastened with bows of white ribbon. In the center of the table stood an urn of alabaster, decorated in relief work and filled with red carnations, and the table spread was interlarded with red ribbon. The library, in which light refreshments were served during the afternoon, was done in yellow, the large punch bowl standing in a recess formed of field snailflowers and palms and draperies of yellow silk.

The hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Catherine Nielsen and Miss Christensen. The guests were: Mrs. Henderson Green, Mrs. E. J. Hull, Mrs. M. Walker, Miss S. Walker, Mrs. L. Knowlton, Mrs. J. W. Gray, Miss Amy Taylor, Miss Florence Taylor, Mr. J. W. Gray, Mr. A. Knowlton.

Miss Hilla Lloyd Newberry and Mr. Bert West were married on Thursday, the event occurring at the home of the bride. The rooms were prettily decorated with asters, roses and carnations, and a dainty wedding supper followed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride wore a becoming gown of white organdy with lace trimmings and carried bride's roses. Mr. and Mrs. West will make their home in Salt Lake.

Rev. David Uter of Denver was the guest of honor at a reception given at the home of Mrs. Charles Watson on Monday night. The event was under direction of the Unity circle and was attended by a large number of friends of Mr. Uter. The rooms were profusely decorated with cut flowers and several musical selections were rendered by Miss Ada Pratt and Miss Irma Watson. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Cherry. The Misses Watson and Murphy assisted in serving refreshments.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Clarence Bradley entertained in honor of Dr. Uter, a large number of the reading classes formed by Dr. Uter during his former residence here being present. An informal program was rendered by Dr. Uter and members of his classes, and at its close the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Tolhurst were christened by Dr. Uter.

One of the most delightful events of the week was a superb party given by Miss Daisy Raybould. The grounds were brilliantly lit with colored lanterns and the evening was enjoyed by about seventy-five of the young lady's friends who spent a most delightful time.

Miss Mamie Parker and Miss Edna Wiscomb entertained at a pleasant lawn fete on Monday evening. Fortune telling and written telegraphy were features of the evening which was enjoyed by about forty guests.

OLD ARM CHAIR.

While a large number of campers and visitors at this picturesque resort left after the false alarm of last week's shower, a good many remained to enjoy during the past week the charms of the idyllic mountain retreat, and others are planning to take a peep at its beauties during September when autumn shall have touched the already turning leaves with her potent wand, and transformed the mountain's greens to scarlet and gold. What the superb canyon will be under that transfiguration only those who have taken a glimpse at its present beauties will be able to guess.

Quite a number of those who visited here during the summer have leased ground for cottages next season and work on them will be commenced once. Besides these individual affairs, extensive work will be carried on to prepare for next season's visitors. Proprietor Pratt has arranged to have twenty-five cabins built to be ready at the season's opening on June 1st of next year, and besides this, other extensive preparations will be made for the added convenience of visitors to the resort, the popularity of the place during the past season, in his estimation, fully warranting the improvements which are being planned.

Amongst the improvements will be the changing of the road from the present line to the creek bed below, the work which will be done promising to give almost a level grade from the mill to the camp.

This will make the resort within a two hour ride of the city—an advantage that many will appreciate. Besides this, several trails which lead to the various peaks in the vicinity which offer superb points of view will be cleared, giving visitors an opportunity to enjoy a ride through the forests of mingled birch and pine and aspen trees, by a gradual and picturesque ascent, culled by panoramic views that alone make the trip alluring.

One of these trails called the Dragon's Head trail, winds to the top of the divide between the camp and Mill Creek canyon through forests whose thick foliage makes perpetual shade from beginning to end of the way. Edging it are beds of fern and thimbleberry leaves, whose broad, wavy forms rival the most graceful palms in effect. Many of those who have gone over the trail believe it destined to become famous for its scenic beauties.

"Ferndale" is the title of a pretty grove above the camp whose thick carpet of ferns gives it its title. Through it a big brook literally lined with mosses flows, with a convenient path winding along its edge, and with a fringe of ferns and berry leaves bordering it on both sides.

"Bridal Veil" is the name given to a section of the stream, which forms double cascades over embankments of moss, and ripples away into pretty moss-edged pools lower down. The place was sketched by Mrs. Pratt during the week and the picture will be on exhibition at the coming State fair.

"The Old Arm Chair" is a title taken from a semi circle of sandstone cliffs which overlook the canyon and whose form suggests the idea of a great lounge arm chair. Almost directly opposite on the other side of the mountain is a formation almost similar in shape, at that those who climb to the top of the divide between Mill Creek canyon are startled into the belief of a mirage at confronting it, a feature which Manager Pratt turns to account as one of his stock of wonders. Together with his "Whispering Galleries," "Spook Lanes" and "Bear Wallow Groves" which are some of the Old Arm Chair attractions.

Amongst the Old Arm Chair campers who have recently left are Capt. and Mrs. F. M. Bishop, Mr. F. C. Graham, Mrs. Walter Van Cott and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Waterfall and family, Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smetzer, Royal B. Young and family, J. P. Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sheets, Mrs. P. J. Moran and children, Mrs. J. B. Carrell and family, Miss Vilate Pater, Mrs. Dudley of the Knutsford, Mrs. F. W. Blacklock, Miss Etta Boucher. The visitors were Dr. and Mrs. Douglas, Miss Florence Home, Mr. Victor Christopherson, Parley P. Pratt, Jr., Prof. Daynes and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Richards, Mrs. Shoebright, Misses Carol and Louise Shoebright, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Felt, Mr. Ted Frost, Mr. Julius Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Van Cott, Mr. Joe Young, Mr. Steve Love, Miss Emma Sutherland, Mrs. Garnett, Mr. Robert Wallace, Mr. L. B. Coates, Mr. Tom Ashworth, Mr. and Mrs. George Freese, Mr. Levi Young, Mrs. Orren Howard, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parker, Col. and Mrs. Underwood, Mr. Ashel Woodruff, Mr. Van Hoose.

BRIGHTON NOTES.

The glens and groves and vales of Silver Lake are fast taking the silence of desolation nearly all the summer visitors having left for their homes. The last quota are Mr. Grant H. Smith and family, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Lamson, who leave on Monday for Salt

LATEST IN ROOM GOWNS.

Japanese kimonos and Chinese robes of rich satin embroidered with gold and brilliant silks are millady's latest fancy for room gowns. This beautiful Chinese robe is slashed at the right side, crosses over and closes at the left, thus differing from the Japanese models. No slash is used by the Chinese, as the magnificence of the material requires unbroken folds.
