LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRE LAST NIGHT.—The attendance at the Theatre last night was tolerably good, but if the citizens, generally, had been aware, before hand, of the excellence of the combined dramatic and musical entertainment then presented, we are satisfied very many more would have been present. The playing of "Ireland as it was" was very satisfactory, throughout. Mr. McKimble as "Dad O'Connell," Mr. Hart as "Ragged Pat" and Mrs. M. G. as "Judy O'Toole," carrying off the honors of the occasion.

The great feature of the evening, however, was the piano solo by Signor Farini. We have seen newspaper notices of this gentleman of the most flattering character, but as a general thing newspaper fame and reputation are not much to be depended on. If a man is half smart, he can generally succeed, by a little skilful maneuvering, in obtaining all the newspaper "puffs" he wishes. In Signor Farini's case we are satisfied that this course has not been pursued, but that his reputation as a great artist rests solely upon the possession of sterling ability as a musician. His performance of the "Nocturne" last night, evoked the most enthusiastic applause, and it was well deserved, for, for the facility of touch and brilliancy of execution we are satisfied it would require an artist of very extraordinary powers to surpass him. It is proposed, to announce the continuance of his engagement, and he bowed himself out again, but this would not satisfy the audience, they were too appreciative to be easily satisfied, and after prolonged and incessant applause the professor was obliged to resume his place at the instrument, this time playing the beautiful old air "The Last Rose of Summer," with variations. Such an exhibition of taste and skill on the piano-forte has never before been made in Salt Lake, and we think the public of this city will give the Signor a substantial proof of their appreciation at his concert to-morrow night.

SANTAQUIN.—Bishop David H. Holladay of Santaquin, called in to-day. He left Santaquin last Friday, at which time there was about five inches of snow on the ground. The people there are preparing for vigorous agricultural operations soon as the weather is favorable. The prospects are good for the coming season, for there are no signs of grasshoppers, no eggs having been deposited last Fall. The health of the settlement is good, a general thing, some few, however, are troubled with the sneezing and coughing epidemic. Last Monday the Bishop attended a meeting of the principal men of Utah County, held at Provo, at which an organization was completed, for a county co-operative board, for horses, burned stock, sheep, goats and swine.

SALE OF LUMBER.—The following telegram was received this morning by Deseret Telegraph Line:

"TACOMA, March 8, 1871.
Evening News.—There was a heavy sale of five hundred thousand feet of lumber made in this town to-day, for your city; the buyer was D. W. Parkhurst. Forty thousand feet of it will be shipped to-night."

A WELL-KNOWN THEATRICALIAN in Town.—Geo. B. Waldron, Esq., so well known to the public of this city as an actor of considerable merit, arrived here last evening, and, we hear, has expressed a desire to appear again before the Salt Lake public. George B. has played several engagements at the Salt Lake Theatre, each time gaining in favor, and evincing improvement which could only have been the result of study and devotion to his art. Mr. Waldron also gained the good will of the people of this city by the strict propriety characterizing his course of life while in their midst, and for these reasons continued we believe that if he should maintain the stage of the Salt Lake Theatre his friends will give him a hearty reception.

WAS HE NOT?—We see it announced in the Chicago Tribune that Rev. Edward E. Baylies, of the Presbyterian mission in Utah, is in that city, and on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week will deliver two lectures on "The Mormons—What They Believe, and What they Practice." The lectures will take place in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, on Washington avenue.

Mr. Baylies may know considerable about the "Mormons" of Utah; but if he does he has kept very quiet in obtaining his knowledge and no person has heard of him. We learn that his lectures were to be free and voluntary, their character may be, the attempt to make money out of the business is not so palpable as the begging expedition of the preacher who went from here East last winter and told so many infamous lies about the people and affairs of the Territory. It is surprising how many lies a man calling himself a "Presbyterian" can tell before he is kicked out of respectable society. There was "Frier Tuck," a Presbyterian preacher, that would have been taken for a gambler if a stranger had attempted to guess his calling, who left here and, in his lectures upon the "Mormons," told falsehoods by the hour, and yet he was tolerated for some time where a man of any other profession would have been shunned. Eventually, however, we understand, even his religious audience became tired of and disgusted with him. The other person to whom we allude is still untried, probably because it is deemed a very trivial, and even justifiable, action to labor, vilify and falsify the "Mormons;" but it is not difficult to tell what his future will be. A man who tells such base lies about strangers to further his supposed interests, will tell about his friends, when he thinks such a course will serve his interests; he can not be safely trusted.

We shall watch with some interest the report of Mr. Baylies' lectures.

MUSICIANS remember the meeting in the City Hall to-night, to take the preliminary measures for the formation of a Philharmonic Society. This ought to excite the sympathies and aid of all our musicians, for it is one in which all possessing the least skill in vocal or instrumental music have an interest. Music has been very little studied amongst us, that is, as a science, and consequently, as an art, at a low level; for with very rare exceptions the musicians here are non-professional. But to become at all competent or expert either in theory or practice a great amount of study is requisite, and this is expensive for the masses of the people. To supply this deficiency is necessary, for in music as well as in every department of human affairs, to ensure general benefit, general benevolence and co-operation are necessary.

The time has come when our citizens and people generally can give more attention to the cultivation of the fine arts, and this upon the list, appealing as it does to the awakened intellect and the noblest feelings of the soul, is an effort for the formation and organization of a philharmonic society is a development of talent of a high order, and the present moment contemplated as successful, there is nothing to hinder it being developed and the advancement of the "art" by many in the "divine art."

The meeting to-night commences at 8 o'clock.
