

Mr. Critchlow said he did not ask for Mr. Olen to be held, and he was discharged.

Labor Day.

Quite a number of Salt Lake's labor unions, with very pretty and appropriate banners, formed in procession on Main Street, between First and Second South streets, at 7:20 September 1st. Held & Johnson's and the "Liberal" brass bands paraded with them. They marched down Second South Street to the D. & R. G. depot, where they took train for Ogden at 8 o'clock. The Junction City being chosen as a suitable place for the celebration, the Ogden unions arranged a splendid programme, to conclude with a grand ball in the evening.

Eighteenth Ward Seminary.

On September 1st the Eighteenth Ward Latter-day Saints Seminary opened with fluttering prospects. The children flocked to the building this morning "like doves to their windows," and every seat was taken, as follows: Primary department, 87; preparatory, 60; intermediate, 84; total, 211. Twenty-six applicants—14 for the preparatory, and 11 for the primary—had to be turned away, as the capacity of the school was not sufficient to accommodate them. This is a matter of regret.

Returned Elder.

Elder Justus P. Jordan, of Fairview, Sanpete County, has just returned from a mission. He left his home on the 4th of October, 1888, and had been laboring in the State of Virginia for twenty-two months, after which time he was released from this field of labor, to go to Canada, where he has spent the last month in visiting friends and relatives. He met with much kindness while laboring in Virginia and was fairly successful in his work. He wishes to express his gratitude to the Saints who treated him so kindly while on his mission. Elder Jordan has enjoyed good health during his absence and feels that he has gained a valuable experience in the mission field.

Earl and Lorenzo Cracroft were nominated for the office of secretary, but Mr. Cracroft withdrew and Mr. Earl was elected by acclamation. Mr. Cracroft was elected assistant secretary. For England.

On Friday evening, August 29, Brother James H. Anderson, who has occupied the position of city editor of the News for over six years, severed his connection, for the present, with this journal, in order to fill a mission to Great Britain. In his position on the News staff he has shown marked ability, which, together with his excellent social qualities, has given him a high place in the esteem of a numerous circle of acquaintances, especially his associates on the staff of this paper, and all others connected with the establishment. He goes to his new field of labor with the best wishes of a host, who will desire his success and prosperity abroad and a safe return home after fully performing the requirements of his mission. He took his departure from this city on the five o'clock train Sunday, August 31st. We wish him God-speed.

The September Revision.

The Utah Commission sent out the following circular August 29th, to the county registrars:

Sir—There seems to be a misapprehension of the circular of the Utah Commission issued August 15, 1890, by many of the deputy registrars. In consequence of the limited amount of money at the disposal of the Commission it cannot pay for a full week's time to each one at the September revision. As no house-to-house canvass is required by law in a very large proportion of the precincts, few if any names will be added to the list. The Commission is of the opinion the time fixed in the circular of the 15th sent to you will be sufficient to remain at your office during that week. You will give notice at the polling place what days you will be in your office.

Payment in addition will be made you for making out the registration lists, posting notices, etc.

By order of the Commission.

ELIJAH SELLS, Secretary.

"Liberal Labor League."

This is the cognomen of an organization created at a meeting held in the Federal court room August 25th. A speech was made by W. A. McKenzie, who held that the working men of this city ought to support the "Liberal" policy. He was followed by W. L. Brown, who said that in order to secure good laws and statehood it was necessary to have a Gentile legislature. A committee on permanent organization and another on platform were appointed, when several speeches were made. The former recommended an executive board of six, and the appointment of a captain of each ward with power to choose as many lieutenants as he might need. The board as named by the committee were: James M. Kennelly, chairman; M. H. Hennessy, M. L. Dykes, J. C. Dowling, James M. Benfield and John Lynch. The report was adopted as read.

It was decided to hold a meeting in each ward for the selection of a captain. The hearing of the report on platform was deferred till Monday, September 8.

The Struble Bill.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Congressman Struble, the chairman of the House Territories Committee, still retains a lingering hope that he may yet secure action upon his anti-Mormon bill. He is not certain but merely hopeful that Speaker Reed will give his committee a day for the consideration of some of its measures. If the Speaker shall do this, the Mormon bill, which lies nearest to Mr. Struble's heart, will be the first taken up. There is little if any probability that Mr. Struble's wish will be gratified. Speaker Reed autocratically decides what measures shall and what shall not come up. There is nothing in the territories committee that he is especially interested in and if there were he dislikes Mr. Struble so intensely
